NANCY WYNNE IS INTERESTED IN ANOTHER DEBUTANTE PARTY

Mr. Haseltine Smith Will Give a Dinner Dance Tonight for His Niece, Miss Elizabeth Trotter, at Huntingdon Valley Country Club

THE second debutante affair of the street, and will spend the summer at 519 Leenson 1916-17 will be held this eveping at the Huntingdon Valley Country Gab, Whitemarsh, when Mr. Haseltine south will give a dinner dance in honor of his niece, Miss Elizabeth Trotter.

Miss Trotter is the daughter of Mr. and William H. Trotter, of Chestnut Her mother was Miss Elizabeth The guests will be almost enurely of the debutante set of the past and coming season and, of course, a number of the younger dancing men. Elizabeth is extremely good looking and very popular, and has a number of friends during the season.

I'm glad the managers of the "Fete des Fleurs" decided to hold it open a third day, for it would certainly be a great bity if every one were not given a chance see so unique an affair. And it is unique, you know, because, in the first place, the various booths were different from any others I have ever seen. They were all decorated to represent the articles which were purchasable at each one. If you wanted a toy you entered a small coll house door, and, would you believe it, the hats were sold from a large hat box with uplifted lid. Some of the girls' camp "veterans" showed their prowess in hitting the mark by shooting clay pipes with a rifle during the afternoon.

A very courtly gentleman of color dis pensed lemonade at so much per glass. It had all kinds of fruit in it, and one girl remarked in horror, "Oh, it had a stick in it," which brought the man who was with her and who preferred a smoke to lemonade quickly back to the table, but his hopes were dashed as the stately dispenser of lemon juice remarked, "No, it ain't no kick in dat, miss; dat's only jes'

It was an extremely good idea to place the booths so far apart. The effect was very artistic; and as for the aides, they looked most attractive. Dainty little Miss Wurts was a picture in a pink cashmere dress, with odd puff sleeves and broad velvet ribbon trimming. She had s duck of a white lace Dutch cap, with long overlap ends of the lace. With the frock were worn black slippers and white stockings. Her peddler's wagon was most attractive. So often there are not many useful things to be found at fairs, but this bazaar certainly has useful things, and many artistic ones as well.

The supper was served in the house, and in the evening most of the younger folk who had stayed danced on the boards which have been erected for that purpose, made slippery by much cornmeal. It was a scream to hear the shuffling of the feet on the wooden boards.

The supper and dancing will be featured again this evening. The whole affair is really well worth going to, and the Southern Home and Lincoln Institute, for which worthy charities it is given, should greatly benefit.

Social affairs will vie with the sporting Interest taken in the Delaware State open rnament, to be held at the Wilming-Country Club this week. Singles betoday and doubles on Wednesday, and the out-of-town players will be distributed among Country Club members furing their stay here. Mrs. A. Felix du Pont will entertain Miss Suzanne White, of Baltimore, and Miss Sarah S. Myers and Miss Margaretta D. Myers, of this city. Miss Louise Nowland will have three Philadelphia guests, Miss Gertrude Hollis, Miss Alice Patterson and Miss Elizabeth Maguire; Miss Bessie du Pont will entertain Mrs. Gardner Bell and Miss Margaret Moes, of Washington, and Mrs. Isaac Schlicter and Miss Phyllis Walsh, of this city, will be guests of Mrs. Leonard A. Yerkes. Miss Marion Steever, of Chicago, Ill., will stay with Mrs. J. Saunders Taylor.

The Country Club will give a supper in honor of the tournament players tonight and tomorrow. Mrs. A. Felix du Pont will give a buffet luncheon for them. NANCY WYNNE.

It is "Andy," a St. Adreasburg roller cannry, that has charmed thousands with its clear, tuneful songs, and has attracted the attention of musicians by the excellent quality of its voice. It even caused Max Rabinoff, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, to taken notice, and back of this is the story of how "Andy" get his reputation of being priceless.

Mr. Rabinoff and Manager J. Miller Fraarr. thornor and manager J. affice Fra-zier were in the roof garden of the hotel when the canary sang a song with full sil-very notes. "Andy" didn't think anything of it, because he knows he is one of the best bird sololists in the country, but Mr. Rabi-noff did. He asked Mr. Frazier to sell the bird to him, saying that he wanted it to lead his orchestra in practicing certain notes. Mr. Frazier refused, and then the Boston man countered with an offer of $50. This also was refused, although an ordinary camary sells for $3 or $4.
