THE WEATHER

Official Forecast

WASHINGTON, June 15.

WASHINGTON, June 15.

For Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey: Probably showers tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature; moderate east to south winds.

Showers over irregular areas have covered about three-fourths of the country east of the Rocky Mountains during the last 24 hours. The chief exceptions are New England, New York, and a strip along the middle Atlantic coast, the central Mississippi valley, and a portion of the central plains States. The temperatures have fallen at most places, the greatest decrease being about 10 degrees in eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware and northeastern Maryland. There is a deficiency of from 4 degrees to 16 degrees this morning from the Rockies eastward.

GIRLS AT WILLIAM PENN SHOW WAY TO ECONOMY IN GRADUATION REFORM

Silks and Satin Give Way to Plain Cap and Gown as 252 Receive Diplomas at High School

ESSAYS AND SONGS HEARD

Two hundred and fifty-two girls, clad in gray caps and gowns, received diplomas from the William Penn High School at the commencement exercises held this morning in the auditorium of the school at 15th and Wallace streets.

The gray caps and gowns were indicative of sconomy, an effort made on the part of officials of the school and the officers of the class to prevent extravagance and to avoid putting the girls to unnecessary expense. In every way the cost incident upon graduation has been minimized, and even the expense of printing the commencement program, a cost borne by the city, has been lessened by having the work done at the Philadelphia Trades School.

Philadelphia Trades School.

There were no outside speakers at the commencement, with the exception of the Rev. Dr. Hugh Morris, who offered the invocation. All of the commencement orations were by graduates. An essay on "Festival Days," written by Henrietta Smith, was read by Marjorie Gloninger; an essay on "Festival Instinct," written by Augusta Cohen, was read by Mildred E. Williard; a poem, "Fuifilled Creation," written by Martha Taylor, was recited by Lillian Curley, and the valedictory address, "The Commencement Festival," written by Florence Lindemann, was delivered by Laura Weber, Lindemann, was delivered by Laura Weber, president of the graduating class.

OYSTER "CROP" THREATENED

Drumfish Cleaning Out Beds in Egg Harbor Bay

EGG HARBOR, N. J., June 15.—Drumfish in large echools, which about ten years ago cleaned out most of the oyster beds in the Great Hay, have again appeared in achools this year and are grinding up the profits of the baymen.

Edward Weber, manager of the Scoy
Oyster Company, one of the largest cyster growers here, reports that about 29,000 bushelp of shells planted for seed have been reduced to splinters by the drumfah. Planting of all beds owned by the company has ben stopped on account of the menace.

The last these drumfah appeared in the beds dynamits was used to fall them, but tills means of destroying them is now psehibited by law.
