MINISTERS WILL TEACH CHURCHES HOW TO FILL PEWS BY ADVERTISING

More Than 100 Clergymen to Take Active Part at Convention of Ad Men Here

NO BREACH OF ETHICS

More than 100 Philadelphia ministers have become interested in a movement to scatter broadcast the principles of Christianity through the medium of posters and newspaper advertising columns. These clergymen will participate in a conference on "Church Advertising," which will be one of the features of the convention of Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Widely known ministers who have filled empty pews by employing modern advertising methods will urge that it is no violation of Christian ethics to spread the message of Christianity through the advertising columns of magazines and newspapers. They will point out to the pastors of America that it pays to advertise the truths of the Bible.

"This is to be one of the most important sessions of the entire convention," said the Rev. Dr. Daniel E. Weigle, chairman of the Philadelphia Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. "It is the first time in the history of the association that the preachers have ever taken an active part in the doings of an 'ad' convention. This is a big movement. It shows that the ministers of the United States are thinking along new and broader lines. Already 100 Philadelphia ministers have signified their intention of participating actively in the new movement."

"The work of organizing the preachers and getting them here is under the direction of Dr. Christian F. Reisner, pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, New York, chairman of the World's Church Publicity Committee," added the Rev. Mr. Weigle, who himself is to deliver an address on the subject, "It Pays to Advertise," on June 27.

Preachers from all parts of the nation will gather at the Convention Hall during the big week for a round table luncheon. Philadelphia ministers will also furnish an exhibit of modern methods of advertising churches, both city and rural, which have proved effective.

The ministers on the Philadelphia Committee, who have held meetings recently at the Poor Richard Club to plan the events of the first church advertising convention ever held in connection with the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, include the Revs. Daniel E. Weigle, Messiah Lutheran, chairman; Floyd W. Tomkins, Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal; J. A. McCallum, Walnut Street Presbyterian; Matthew J. Hyndman, Olivet-Covenant Presbyterian; A. Pohlman, Temple Lutheran; C. H. Woolston, East Baptist; John Wiley Francis, Oxford Presbyterian; George H. Bickley, Methodist; Rufus W. Miller, of the Reformed Publication Board; Walter B. Greenway, Gaston Presbyterian; I. F. Chenoweth, Christian Church; Linn Bowman, Spring Garden Street Methodist Episcopal; Charles B. Daugherty, synodical superintendent of missions, Lutheran; P. C. Wright, Gethsemane Baptist, and William J. Miller, Tabernacle Lutheran.

Doctor Reisner, the world chairman of the committee, has met with the men to plan entertainment for the ministers who come from afar to attend the sessions of the new committee. They will be held June 27 and 28.

R. H. Durbin, president of the Poor Richard Club, today issued an appeal to Philadelphians to have the city as clean as the proverbial Dutch kitchen during the "ad" convention. He said:

"The men who are coming here do much to mold the opinions of people in all parts of the country, for many of them are publishers and editors. If their automobiles stop outside of their hotels in a whirl of dust they will be displeased. If they walk or ride through the city's thoroughfares and find the streets littered with old papers, cigarette boxes and other rubbish they will put Philadelphia down as a dirty city.

"It seems plain that every citizen should do his utmost to meet the wishes of the Mayor and the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce in the matter of the 'clean-streets movement.'"

Women Sunday School Workers' Rally

The first rally ever held by the Women's Classes of Pennsylvania, an organization of the Drexel Biddle Bible classes, will be held tonight at the Drexel Biddle Bible class home, Lansdowne, at 8 o'clock. Many Philadelphia classes plan to send large delegations to enjoy the interesting program which has been arranged. Mrs. Albert J. Hawksley, senior supervisor of the woman's movement, will introduce the speakers. Addresses will be made by A. J. Drexel Biddle and Mrs. L. M. Hummerichouse, of Stafford, and Mrs. La Doumas, of Philadelphia.

SETS ASIDE $2500 VERDICT

New Trial Result of Charges of Attempted Bribery

Judge Lloyd in the Camden Circuit Court today set aside a verdict of $2500 and granted a motion for a new trial in the case of William Costello against the Atlantic City Railroad Company. The action follows the discharge of the entire panel of 70 jurors on May 25 and charges by Prosecutor Kraft that resulted in the arrest of Joseph White, a juryman, and Costello, both of whom live in Gloucester, on charges of embracery and bribery. Both men were held under $2000 bail.

A verdict in Costello's favor had been returned on the preceding day, the case growing out of an accident at Gloucester City. One of the jurymen informed Prosecutor Kraft that White had approached him prior to the disposition of the case and tried to influence him favorably to Costello's claim.
