Those concerns in which this decision will go into effect includes Gimbel Brothers, the Wanamaker store, the U. G. I. and the following companies of which George H. Then, too, the managers of Cramps', Baldwins, the Brill Car Works and the Midvale Com-pany said they would co-operate freely in allowing their employes leave, despite the fact that any great exodus was bound to disorganize their working forces and ham-per the filling of orders.

Approximately 100 employes of Gimbel stothers' store, who are members of Comof the Pennsylvania Regiment of the National Guard, will be given an indefinite leave with full pay and future reinstatement. This announcement was made last night by Ellis A. Gimbel, who declared that his men were ready, enthusiastic and patriotic. REGIMENT FROM GIMBELS.

P. R. R. MEN IN GUARD.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, which has premised an indefinite leave without pay, has 475 out of its 146,000 employes on the lines east of Pittsburgh enrolled in the National Guard. At the expiration of military duty, according to an Announcement made yesterday by the railroad company, the men will be reinstated in their former positions. They also will be permitted to continue membership in the voluntary relief tund during their period of service. Full credit will be given for the time on military duty n computing their pension allowance Mayor Smith, in regard to city employes in the National Guard, said:

"Any employe of the city government who goes out to defend the American flag will find his place waiting for him when he comes back. I cannot promise that the city will pay his salary to him while he is gone, but I intend to discuss the question with the Law Department and Councils' Finance

Postmaster Thornton is compiling a list of his men who are connected with the militia. He estimates that 50 in the postal department are members of the National Guard. As the Postmaster understood it, these men are entitled to a leave of absence and their positions held open until they return. Every man is entitled to 30 days' leave with full pay every year and also 10 days for sick leave with full pay. It was Mr. Thornton's view that these two menths will count in the time the employes are doing duty in the National Guard.

When it became likely that the National Cuard might be called on to patrol the Mexican border, the Western Union Tele-graph Company issued instructions that graph Company issued instructions that any of its employes who were included among those called and have been in the company's service a year or more, would be entitled to half pay while doing military duty. This decision, however, was reached with the proviso that their half pay, added to the Government pay, did not exceed their full salary in the company. In such cases they will be entitled to an amount added to the Government pay that will equal their to the Government pay that will equal their total compensation.

Full pay will be given employes of the fu Pont Powder Company for the time they are in the service of the nation. An order to that effect was issued yesterday at the Wilmington office of the corporation.

WILL FLOAT SUNKEN SHIP

Washingtonian, at Bottom Off Fenwick Island, Now Valuable Because of Scarcity in Tonnage

After lying at the bottom of the sea for more than a year off Fenwick Island, the American-Hawalian steamphip Washingto-han may be floated. Captain Lester H. Biake, well known in Philadelphia as the master of the American-Hawalian steamships Callfornia. ships Californian and Ohioan, has resigned his position to head a syndicate which will attempt to raise the vessel.

Members of this syndicate, with divers and appliances to make a preliminary survey of the wreck, left Cape May yeaterday morning on the pilot boat J. Henry Edmanda There were eight men in the party, three of whom were divers. Their trip will last three days.

Scarcity of tonnage has made it profitable to raise this vessel. Even in her damaged condition, it is estimated that she is worth about twice as much as she was when she was built. It is said that when the vessel is raised, without repairs, she will probably be worth between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000. According to reports, she cost only $750,000 when she was built in 1814.

The Washingtonian was sunk early on the morning of January 26, 1915, in a collision with the schooner Elizabeth Palmer, off Fenwick Island, in a fog. One member of the Washingtonian's crew was lost. Efforts were made to raise the schooner, but she capaized. Then she was blown up by the United States Coast Guar I.

Work Pushed at Camp on Nec- Group of Main Line Society Men essary Arrangements and Improvements

Work was pushed this morning at Mount Gretna, the rallying ground of the Pennsylvania Guardsmen, in the preparations to receive the vanguard of fighters, which may leave the city this afternoon.

But two improvements are yet to be made at the camp, although, to all intents and purposes, it was in readiness for the guards-men this morning. They are a new quarter-master's storehouse and two miles of water pipe, to be built so that the guardsmen may be assured of clean drinking water. Colonel L. V. Rausch, Deputy Quatermaster General, began this morning to round up a supply of carpenters at nearby points to rush to completion the store house. At the same time, last-minute preparations were being made to lay the water-pipe.

With these two projects under way, the rest of the camp, sanitary and healthy, will safeguard the men.

The altitude of the camp was declared not too great to render the men unfit for border duty today by veteran army officers. This question had been raised following the protest of Governor Hatfield, of West Virginia, against the placing of the West Virginia. ginia camp high in the moutains. He said it would place the men at a disadvantage when they faced the climate of the border region. The first supplies for the mobilization camp will reach there Thursday morning-the first of a virtually endless stream of commissary trains and trains with soldiers that will pour into the camp which already promises to be the biggest in the history of the National Guard. Tents for the use of the command are being packed in Harrisburg today and will leave for the camp early tomorrow morn-Frivolity will be cast aside in view of Frivoity will be cast saide in view of the seriousness of relations with Carranza. "This will be a camp of no favors," said Colonel Rausch today, "and the men will be put through the stiffest course of train-ing ever meted out to a National Guard unit in Pennsylvania."

ROTAN BARES RECORD OF CHILDREN IN CRIME

District Attorney Reports Rescue Work Done by Municipal Court

Sensational revelations of the operations of junk dealers and disorderly house keep-ers, who led children into crime in order that they might profit by their acts, and the methods pursued to bring these offendpublic yesterday.

As the District Attorney points out, the document is no mere tabulation of the number of indictments found during the year.
It is an intensely human document, for it tells of the work of co-operation performed by the department with the social welfare organizations throughout the city.

Pershing Curt in Reply to Threat Which Mexicans Fail

Mr. Rotan sets forth that since the establishment of the Municipal Court the powers of his office have been greatly extended. Accordingly, he has been able to take an active part in the desertion and nonsupport branches of this court, and, in accordance with a decision of the Supreme Court, in the Domestic Relations division also.

Under the new condition of affairs, Mr. Rotan says he has assumed it to be his duty to place before the Juvenile Court the de-tails of juvenile crime and so far as possible to care for the interests of the effender. His office also is in active co-operation with the probation department of the court and has assisted in the formation of a "big brother" assisted in the formation of a "big brother movement, which seeks to supply a corps of volunteers as auxiliary to the official representatives of the tribunal. By having an Assistant District Attorney at all hearings of the Juvenile Court the District Attorney thereby is enabled to supervise prosecution of adults who have contributed to the delignment of children.

As an example of this, Mr. Rotan points As an example of this, Mr. Rotan points out a large number of successful prosecutions which have been conducted against the junk dealers who induced gangs of small boys in various sections of the city to break into houses and steal fittings, which they afterward purchased. This business, he says, was carried on with impunity.

says, was carried on with impunity.

As an even more important example of the efficacy of the new system, he says a great number of cases were brought against keepers of disorderly houses, where young girls were permitted and encouraged to lead immoral lives. The Assistant District Attorney who attended hearings of such girls was enabled to obtain first hand testimony that led to the arrest and conviction of the proprietors.

In the work of his department with the Domestic Relations Court. Mr. Rotan says many absconding husbands and fathers have been brought back to their families. He cites one example where a man was arrested as he was boarding a steamship, bound for Europe, and another who was about to buy a ticket for the Pacific coast. He also has notified large munition manufacturers outside of this State to retain from the pay envelopes of deserting husbands a sun sufficient to support their families in this city.

Reports persist that the natives are being armed, but there is no reliable information concerning concentration of any considerable force of Carranza troops within striking distance of the American line. This may be due to the fact that General Fershing has sent word to Carranza leaders in no uncertain terms that any such movement would be taken on their own responsibility.

The Carranza garrizon at Casas Grandes, from which place General Fershing's headfrom which place General Pershing's head-quarters was today but three miles distant, has not been reinforced.
