CAMP 50, P. O. S. OF A., BLACKLISTS ERSTWHILE FIRST REGIMENT BAND

Will Not Be Permitted to Fill Engagement for August 2. May Face Court-Martial

POLICEMEN OFFER AID

Kendle's 1st Regiment Band, which asked to be excused from accompaning the Na-tional Guard to Camp Brumbaugh, is reaping retribution for its act. The band was blacklisted today by Camp 59, of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, which notified E. J. Kendle that the engagement of the band for August 24 by the camp

"We must have patriotic bands," was the reason given by H. S. Heims, chairman

The band, of which F. Mellen Kendle is leader, had a contract to furnish music during the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in this city.

Kendle explained that his men intended therefore not to do duty for the National Guard. They were then dismissed "for the good of the service." Three musicians were made exceptions to the rule, because it was shown that they intended to join the soldiers after they settled their business affairs.

they settled their business affairs.

A new band for the 1st Regiment is being recruited by William E. Chapin, chief musician. The work of assembling the new organisation to furnish music at Mt. Gretna began this morning. Four of the necessary 28 men have already qualified.

A number of professional musicians, several members of the old band and members of the Police Band have signified their will.

The trouble regarding Kendle's Band arose over a misunderstanding of condi-tions, said Mr. Chapin. The members be-lieved that they had the privilege of resigning. Mr. Chapin said that he did not believe that the shirking musicians would be court-martialed. The Police Band will accompany the regiment in its parade today. Of course, we cannot act until we know what decision the Carranzista Government will reach to-ward the position of the United States as explained in the note sent forward last "But we will do everything that lies in our power to avert an armed clash be tween the two nations."

PERSHING'S REPORT COMING. Meanwhile, the Administration's attitude remained unchanged. President Wilson still is awaiting a compelte report of the battle of Carrisal from General Pershing. A message received by Secretary of War Baker just before he entered the Cabinet Baker just before he entered the Cabinet meeting today from General Funston said that General Pershing had advised him that the complete report of the fight was on its way to him (Pershing) by special courier and that as soon as it is received it will be forwarded to Washington.

stant notice to any point the War Depart ment may designate.

Coupled with the issuance of orders to Major General Wood directions were given out at Washington for the Illineis National Guard to depart at once, regardless of equipment, for the border. As the Penn-sylvania and New York National Guards are regarded as equally prepared with the Illinois troops for active service, a similar order moving the local commands to the front are momentarily expected at the

In the meantime, General Price and his subordinate officers went ahead with their plans for the brigade parade on Broad street this afternoon. The route of this procession is so laid out that, even should orders for instant departure find the men on the street, they can dismiss without de-lay at any point and march direct to their designated place of entertainment and go aboard the waiting coaches.

Recruited beyond the requirements of peace formation, the three regiments comrising General Price's command will pa rade on Broad street from Diamond to Morris street, as a last public appearance efore their entrainment tomorrow to Camp Brumbaugh, Mt. Gretna.

SIXTH REGIMENT IN LINE.

In addition to the three regiments of General Price's brigade, the four companies of the 6th Regiment located in this city also will be in line. Major Louis E. Tafel, commanding the local battallon of the 6th, obtained permission from General Price to participate in the turn-out. Through Ad-jutant Whittaker the necessary assent was obtained and the battalion from the 6th, ilthough attached officially to the 4th Brigade, will follow the 2d, 3d and 1st giments in the display of Philadelphia's nfantry commands. General Price will lead the parade. With him will be the members of the brigade staff. These are Major Benjamin H. Whit-taker, adjutant; Major C. C. Norris, Jr., judge advocate; Major W. Preston Tyler, inspector of small arms; Major Frank L. Mueller, commissary. Major George Huey Smith, quartermaster, left this city at 1 clock this afternoon for Mount Gretna. He lat Brigade to depart for the camp site and he will have charge of laying out the quarters for the Philadelphia troops.

They hope to have all tents ready before the first regiment arrives tomorrow morning. regiment arrives tomorrow morning.

MODE THAN 2000 IN DARADE The turn-out of more than 2000 your men in khaki, marching for four miles along the flag-framed wide highway, is expected to stimulate some of the "absent-minded beggers" of this city to enlist in the National Guard. The martial appearance of "the gentlemen in khaki going South," the stirgentlemen in khaki going South, the stir-ring atrains of the regimental oands, the cheering bystand rs and the waving colors of the nation and the inherent patriotism of all young Philadelphians are likely to result in an appeal to hundreds of young men of this city that will give the recruiting officers of the National Guard and regular army alike a record-breaking weekend.

MAY CALL VOLUNTEERS.

By the census figures of 1910, the latest inputation available, there were 216,000 men in Philadelphia at that time between the ages of 20 and 24 years. Natural in-crease of population, according to the usual ratio, would raise this total to about 240,-000 men, while the extension of the mini-mum age limit from 20 to 18 years would probably add several thousand, so that Philadelphia's present available young men available for military duty may reach a quarter of a million. This maximum would be reduced by the rejection on account of physical and other disability. Men of other ages would not be called upon unless a more serious contingency arose

HOPE TO FILL RANKS.

The influx of recruits at all the armories onlineed today, and the recruiting officers and examining surgeons had a likely lot of prospective young soldiers to examine. All the regimental commanders today expressed themselves as pleased with the outlook of marching out tomorrow morning with full ranks and with enough available "rookles" to take places of any guardsmen who may fall to pass the more severe requirements of the army test, which will be undergone as soon as the troops reach the mobilization

RUSH OF VISITORS NOT WANTED. General Price has declared that he would discourage, so far as possible, an influx of visitors to the mobilization centre. "We are up there for business," he said, "and we want to keep that in our minds. A large crowd thronging the camp often leads to a laxity of discipline, and hampers our plan to put the troops in order for a speedy dash to the border." This feeling of "business" was reflected
