FAILURE OF MECHANICS TO HEED NATION'S CALL DISAPPOINTS OFFICERS

Arsenal Pays the Same Wages as Private Concerns of Country, Says Colonel Montgomery

RECRUITING STOPS HERE

Recruiting of Guardsmen in Philadelphia, halted by orders that the 1st Brigade enter today for the border, was far from satisfactory to officers of local commands, as the last batch of "rookies," 500 in number, leaves the city for the border below war strength. The failure of Philadelphia mechanics to respond to the country's needs is equally disappointing to Colonel Montgomery, of the Frankford Arsenal.

"The mechanics of this city and country are not responding to their country's needs," said the Colonel, "and the amazing thing about it is that the men working at the Arsenal receive the same wages as those working for private concerns. Working for the Government they get an hour's day while working for private employers many of them have to put in 10 hours a day. We are handicapped by the lack of interest shown by mechanics who are badly needed."

"Despite the lack of men, we are turning out great quantities of supplies, but our limited amount of floor space interferes with quick action. We need the $25,000 in the Senate appropriation, which will be used in increasing the capacity of the Government plant."

No Philadelphia soldier can boast of greater personal sacrifice and hardship in answering the call to arms than Sergeant Russell C. Snyder, of Company L, 1st Regiment, who traveled from the heart of Alaska to join his command in time to leave today for the border. The sergeant is connected with the United States Coast Geodetic Survey and is a member of a party of International Boundary Surveyors engaged in marking the boundary line between Canada and Alaska when he received the call and took up his long trip across the Continent.

Giddy Arcadia

Among other things contributing to the giddy whirl in Arcadia last Sunday was a ball game and a baptizing at the same time, the afternoon train came through—Kansas City Star.

AD WOMAN SAYS BEST WORK IS DONE IN NIGHT

New York Girl Says She Produces Best Ideas at 3 in Morning

There is an ad woman attending the convention who does most of her important work before daylight. She is Miss Jean Dean Barnes, advertising agent. Miss Barnes, whose home is in New York, says that she turns out better work at 3 o'clock in the morning than at any other time. "I find that I can think of more ideas from a constructive viewpoint at 3 o'clock in the morning than I can at night," said Miss Barnes.

"This is because of the stillness. Other ad women will tell you the same thing. There are unlimited prospects in the advertising field. Once a woman enters the advertising business she must lack confidence. Some of our big ad men are always ready to encourage a woman who is about to begin an advertising career."

Miss Barnes, Miss J. J. Martin and Miss Ida Clarke, also ad women, are the only three women from New York that wear the crash suit, which is the official convention suit worn by the New York delegation.

F. A. Ringler, of F. A. Ringler & Co., of New York, who is a member of the Graphic Arts Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, is stopping at the Hotel Adelphi. Mr. Ringler is the man that introduced the zinc lining engraving methods in the New York newspapers. He is a great admirer of the late Joseph Pulitzer and Horace Greeley. When not listening to convention papers Mr. Ringler spends his time reading the history of Philadelphia.

Another booster from New York is H. H. Cooke, chairman of the Graphic Arts Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

"I haven't met an impolite person in Philadelphia," said Mr. Cooke; "every time I appear on Chestnut street with my badge on my coat some person appears who wants to know if I feel at home."

The 13th floor of the Hotel Adelphi is where the Milwaukee delegation is stopping. They arrived here headed by W. F. Dunlap. While here the men from Milwaukee will inaugurate a campaign to impress upon Philadelphia that Milwaukee wasn't made famous by a certain kind of beer.

"Milwaukee is prominent because of its residential sections and the opportunities that can be found there," said Mr. Dunlap.

GUGGENHEIM TRIAL HALTED

Report of Settlement When Application for Delay Is Granted

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 27.—The trial of the suit brought by William Guggenheim against his brothers, in which he charges that his brothers have refused to pay him $10,000,000, which he claims as his share of alleged profits made in developing the Chuquibambilla copper mine in Chile, was suddenly halted here when Stephen C. Baldwin, attorney for William Guggenheim, asked Justice Callaghan to adjourn the trial until the October term. The application was granted.

Despite the attorney's declaration that no settlement had been reached, a lawyer who is close to the plaintiff stated it as his opinion that a settlement is under way.

SHE'S BELLE OF AD MEETING

Only Woman From Louisiana Has Hundreds of Admirers

Mrs. John A. Brefflehl has the distinction of being the only ad woman here from Louisiana.

Her husband is in business in Shreveport, and there are never less than a half dozen men escorting her around.

Mrs. Brefflehl is pretty. She dresses in rich, solid colors and makes as much of her good looks as an artist could. She is having a "I like Philadelphia because everybody is so good to me," she said naively. It need hardly be said that Mrs. Brefflehl is young.

The Shreveport crowd is a hasty aggregation. The men's chapeaus reach almost to the skies, and they flaunt the name of the home city so that you can see it a mile off.

U. S. CONSULATE DESTROYED, SAY PERSISTENT REPORTS

Torreon Refugees Again Declare Mayor Led Mexican Mob

EAGLE PASS, Tex., June 27.—The United States consulate at Torreon, Mexico, was demolished on June 18 by a mob of 3000 civilians led by the Mayor of the city and a Carranza army band, according to American refugees arriving here yesterday.

The populace was attending a bull fight, according to the refugees, when the de facto government troops forced them to join in an anti-American demonstration.

The mob rushed through the streets shouting "Death to all the Gringos!" and, upon reaching the consulate, destroyed the furniture and then wrecked the building. The consulate had been unoccupied for some time.

Afterward the mob congregated in the central plaza, where a mass-meeting was held. The Mayor and other prominent Mexicans, it is said, addressed this meeting, inciting the populace against Americans, advising that all citizens of the United States be run out of the country.

Among the Americans arriving here with this story are H. C. Boren, J. J. Martin, J. A. Rogers, F. M. Howard, L. S. Sprackelmyer, E. A. Porter and his son; Willis Lee, W. H. Sturgeon and family, Mrs. Mary Love and her two sons.

FIFTH IN LINE OF SOLDIERS

The Great-Great-Grandfather of CATASAUQUA, Pa., June 27.—A long chain of service in behalf of this country had another patriotic link added, when Russell E. Smith, son of William H. Smith, of this place, enlisted in the 9th Regiment, Massachusetts National Guard.

His great-great-grandfather fought in the Revolution, his great-grandfather in the war with Mexico in 1847, his grandfather in the Civil War and his father in the Spanish-American war. When Russell informed his parents that he was with the 9th Massachusetts, they wired their blessing, saying they were proud of his action, and besought him to keep up the family traditions as a good soldier.

NO DU PONT POWDER TO KILL AMERICANS

Officials of Plant Will Not Sell Explosive to Mexico to Be Used Against U. S.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—No du Pont powder will be used to kill the soldiers of the United States in the war with Mexico. Neither have any of the murders of the American citizens perpetrated in the last year been done with ammunition from the du Pont factories. These two statements are made with authority.

Not one ounce of any kind of explosive from the du Pont plant at Wilmington or elsewhere has been sold to Mexico or to any purchaser who was at all likely to transship to Mexico for a period of more than a year.

Such powder as the Mexican Government and the bandits who are overrunning that country have been able to obtain was of inferior quality and none of it manufactured by any concern of good business standing north of the border. The manufacture of powder of a high quality is a science and an art, but almost any one is able to mix up some kind of an explosive compound which will pass for gunpowder. The Mexicans themselves do it.

Ammunition suitable for use in high powered military rifles can be made only in well equipped plants, and of such ammunition the Mexicans must necessarily have a small supply. The reputable powder concerns of the United States have not only refused to sell to Mexico military ammunition, but have laid an embargo also on dynamite, blasting powder, and even hunting powder.

It can be said, also, with authority, that the du Pont Powder Company is prepared to supply ammunition to the United States Government for the purpose of the Mexican campaign in virtually unlimited quantities, and that in doing so the company will not be hampered in the least in filling its foreign orders.

PANCHO VILLA SHOT, SAYS BANDIT TRAITOR

Deserter Tells How Mexican Impressed Into Service Attacked Leader

FIELD HEADQUARTERS, June 20, by courier to Columbus, N. M., June 27.—

Francisco Villa was shot from the rear by a Mexican he had impressed into his band during the battle with Carranza troops at Guerrero, but his fate still is unknown. This information was contained in a semi-official account obtained by Major Robert L. Howze, who was close on Villa's trail last April.

Major Howze learned the details of the wounding of the bandit chieftain from an informant of the Mexicans. Villa drafted and who afterward deserted.

The details of the story agreed with facts American officers obtained in their pursuit of Villa and by their independent secret service work, but the account does not say whether the bandit died or recovered.

Villa, the Mexican deserter said, exhibited every evidence of terror during the early stages of his flight, after the Americans had defeated his men at Guerrero. The informant said he believed Villa was dead, but if he still were alive he was in the State of Durango, without General Pershing's men.

EL PASO, Tex., June 27.—Information reached here today from apparently reliable sources that Francisco Villa, until recently at Santa Rosalia, had reached an agreement with the de facto government and that this was being used to induce his followers to join the Carranza forces.

FORESTRY MEN TO MEET

State Association Will Have an Interesting Program at Reading

READING, Pa., June 27.—The midsummer meeting of the Pennsylvania Forestry Association opens here today, to continue three days. President Jonathan Mould, of the Reading Association, and J. T. Rothrock, of West Chester, president of the State body, will make the opening speeches.

Conservation of wild life, stream pollution, replanting of forests, forest fire problems and inspections of model forests are over the county will be features of the program. The city nurseries, with 135,000 trees planted, will be inspected and training of boys in forestry as a part of school instruction will be considered.

Gets Contract for Twelve Vessels

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—It was announced here that the Fawcett & Jones Company, which has recently passed into new hands, has contracts, in addition to the eight boats now under construction, for 12 additional boats. Six are 225 feet long and six 300 feet long.
