TEMPT OF RED SOX PITCHERS TO INTIMIDATE BANDON -

JEF OF SENATORS THAT SOSTON HURLERS ARE USING BEAN BALL CAUSES NEAR RIOT

Major Leagues Should Investigate Charges Made Against Certain Teams or Baseball Will Be Dealt Severe Blow

the middle of the 1915 season the charge has been made by American gue players that the pitchers of the Red Sox were intentionally "beaning" which means hitthe them, or coming close to it, in order to drive them from the plate. The American League took no action on the charges, though a subject which came up for much discussion in the lobby of the Hotel stt, in New York, at the February meeting of the league

It size has been contended that the pitchers of two National League clubs the same factics, but Presidents Johnson and Tener have laughed at the iris, contending that no ball player would deliberately endanger the lives of hers or use such unfair methods to win.

Whether there is anything to the charges remains to be proved, but the az was reached yesterday when the players of the Boston and Washington is indulged in a free-for-all fight because the Washington players believed that Carl Mays was intentionally trying to hit them on the head with pitched balls.

After Mays had just grazed McBride's temple with a pitched ball, the Washton captain threw his but at the Red Sox hurler, and a disgraceful scene folewed. It finally resulted in three players being banished from the game, another arrested and Manager Griffith, of Washington, being sent to a hospital for repairs. Baseball in Washington was dealt a body blow, and it is time that a rigid investigation be held by the National and American Leagues.

Stallings Says Philly Pitchers Use Bean Ball

DURING the recent Philly-Boston series several of the champions contended that Jess Barnes and Tom Hughes, of the Braves, were using the "bean ball," but the umpires refused to listen to the claim. While discussing the subject, Manager Stalings declared that there is not a good pitcher in the game who does not by to drive the batemen away from the plate. He said that the pitchers seldom ed to hit a batter, but merely sought to drive him back so that they had the batter backing away when he came back with a pitch outside.

We reminded him that Jess Barnes had quite a reputation as a "bean ball" artist in the Central Association, according to Bill Meyer, the Athletics' young er, who handled Barnes' delivery at Davenport, and that he had hit Lew Malone in Miami after warning Malone to step back. Stallings denied that Barnes would intentionally hit a player, and added that the new star of his staff would ever miss a batter if he aimed at him, as it would be impossible to dodge his rifle-

Stallings declared that Alexander the Great would be easy to hit if he did not crive the players away from the plate with his fast ball before breaking his rvs on the outside corner of the plate, and also said that Eppa Rixey was rapidly poing into an artist at this trick of just missing the batter's head.

There has been too much talk of "beaning" in the major leagues this season by the charges to be entirely without foundation, and substitutes sitting on the ch are often heard shouting. "Dust him off!" or "Set him down!" to the pitcher. shall has advanced beyond the rowdy stage, and it is to be hoped that it is not allowed to fall back to where it was 25 years ago. An investigation is nectry, and if a pitcher is found guilty he should be barred from the game. It was only a few days ago that Johnny Dodge, the ex-Philly third baseman, was killed with a pitched ball thrown by Rogers, of Nashville, a pitcher said to have had a reputation for using the "bean ball."

Athletics Outclassed by Yankees Again

THE Athletics lost to the Yankees again, and also failed to score for the second successive day. Enough hits were made by the Mackmen to have tallied several times, but they invariably came after two men had been retired or the succeeding batsmen proved easy for Ray Fisher, the veteran star of Donovan's team, who

There really was little to the game. As was the case in the first two games of the series, the Yankees gat the jump in the first inning and had a commanding lead before the Mackmen realized what had happened. Incidentally, Frank Baker has supplied a clean-up wallop in the first inning of each game, and all but one of his hits during the series have played a prominent part in the scoring.

Joe Bush was not batted much harder than Fisher, but the Yankees played smart ball, and also bunched their safeties well. The 11 hits made by the Yanks were bunched in four scoring innings, whereas the eight safeties made by the Mackmen were scattered through seven innings, and they failed totally in the

From a local standpoint the feature of the game was the slugging of Amos Strunk. The fleet centre fielder made four hits in as many times at bat on Thursday and came back with a triple and two singles yesterday. Lawry, the Mack recruit from Maine, also provided a few plays which caused the fans to enthuse. His bare-handed stop of Peckinpaugh's drive over second was easily the feature fielding play. At bat Lawry did not look very good, but, despite a lame leg, showed wonderful speed getting down to first base.

Phils and Alexander Also Lose

As THE Phillies also went down to defeat while the Braves were taking the measure of the Dodgers, it was a rather unprofitable day for the local teams. The loss of the game by the Phillies was discouraging in itself, but the fact that Alexander the Great was driven from the mound made it doubly so.

It was the second time since the opening of the 1915 season that Alexander has been driven from the mound, and the Glants turned the trick both times. The Philly star has retired from a losing game several times, but because Moran wanted to substitute a pinch hitter, and not because it was apparent that the Nebraska wonder could not stop the hitting.

About the only redeeming feature of the game was the slugging of Cravath. whose but has been idle for some time, so far as delivering run-producing hits is ncerned. Cravath made a home run and triple, both being terrific drives of the 1915 type. As Cravath always has been a streaky hitter, yesterday's performance may start him on the tampege again. It would surely help, as the Phils appear to lack the punch in a pinch-a feature of their play which won the pennant last

McGraw Thinks He Has Best Collegian

MANAGER McGRAW, of the Giants, is convinced that he landed the greatest college ball player in the country when he signed Hank Stafford, the Tufts College second baseman, and several very good judges of young talent agree with the New York manager. College players seldom can be judged by their batting records, as the calibre of pitching is so different from that which they will face n the major leagues.

The one thing about Stafford's record that attracted McGraw was his 30 stolen bases in 22 games, which is far above the work of all other collegians, excepting Lawry, the Mack recruit, who was only five thefts below in one less game. As a rule, college ball players are miserable base runners, and a scout will do well to watch how a youngster acts on the bases before tying his club to a McGraw got one of the hardest hitters in the collegiate game when he signed Stafford; also a fast, heady base runner and a consistent fielder. We have been told that Manager Mack wanted Stafford badly, but that the Giants have had a string on him for almost three years. McGraw does not intend to use Stafford at all this season, but will school him to take Larry Doyle's place, as the veteran has not many more years to go.

Manager Jennings, of the Tigers, has little confidence in college ball players, ugh he has been prevailed upon to sign up two highly touted youngsters. Jennings signed both Watt and Beck, of Columbia, but has sent them to a minor league team without even giving them a major league trial. Several teams were so anxious to get this pair that they would have carried them with the team for a year or two, but Jennings says they must have seasoning, and cannot get it properly on the bench. On the other hand, Manager Mack says that collegians, barring pitchers, cannot got the proper experience any place but on the bench.

Charley Hereog has been bunting for a second baseman for two years, but said that he would be entisted with a third baseman who could handle the position well enough to make it worth while to switch Heinie Groh back to second. One ago ne ordered former Catcher Von Kolnits to report to the team, and immestaly sold him to Chicago. Joe Tinker placed Von Koinitz at third base, and the arieston lad has proven a sensation. He was hurt yesterday, but will be back the game soon. Thus Herrog has passed up the one man he needed to make he Heds a pennant contender, because he did not have patience enough to allow Roleitz to remain at third when he gave him a brief trial at the position

EVANS WINS OPEN GOLF TITLE WITH A RECORD SCORE

Chicago Amateur Leads Field in National Event by Two Strokes

J. M. BARNES IS THIRD

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 1 .- An amateur, Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., of the Edgewater Club, Chicago, four times West-ern amateur golf champion and once winner of the Western open title, added the capsheaf to his laurels yesterday by win-ning the national open golf championship over the Minikahda links, with a total core of 286 for the 72 holes.

Thus for the third time in four years premier honors in the open classic have been captured by an amateur, and this time by the lowest score since the inception of the championship in 1894.

The best previous score was 290, made by George Sargent at Englewood, N. J., in 1909, and by Walter Hagen at the Mid-lothian Club, Chicago, in 1914, when Evans Beebs, the Grand Rapids Hebe?

Evans won the title by a margin of two strokes, for Jack Hutchinson, a Pittsburgh professional, by clipping one stroke from the course record of 59, set by Evans Thursday, turned in a card of 68 for the afternoon round yesterday, which gave him a total of 288. J. M. Barnes, the Philadelphia professional was third with 288.

An Umpire's Songs delphia professional, was third with 230. Par for the course is 72, and the course record was 70 until lowered a stroke Thursday by Evans. The distance of the course is 6150 yards. more course records than any other ama-teur, played consistently and in good form today. His drives went long against a rather stiff wind that swept the course in the afternoon and his putting was accurate He turned in a card of 147 for the 36 holes ch, with his 139 of Thursday, brought

He played the first nine holes of the morning in one over par. He had diffi-culty on the fourth hole, where he was forced to take three putts when he had an easy four in sight. The large gallery which followed felt that the break had come, but Evans recovered, and thereafter played well. He experienced the same trouble at the same hole in the afternoon, taking four

Otto Hackbarth, the Cincinnati profes sional, equaled the record set Thursday by Evans by making a 69 yesterday morning

WELSH AND BORRELL ARE BOXING VICTORS

Defeat Carey and Reck, Respectively, in Star Bouts at Local Clubs

Joe Weish emerged the victor over Tommy Carey, the veteran lightweight, after six hard-fought rounds last night in the final bout at the Lincoln Athletic Club. Welsh carried off the decision because he exhibited a better and more effective branch of boxing than his opponent. Carey played the "tear-in-and-hammer-away-at-all-times" game, but the Nicetowner's ferocious rushes were offset by Weish's coolness and timely Johnnie Eagan, substituting at a minute's notice for Charlle Daley, put up a nifty bout against Johnnie Lincoln. The latter proved too strong for his opponent.

Young Artle and Johnny Kelly boxed a draw. Joe Gavin lost to Bobby Lincoln, while Al Edwards stopped Jack Ford in the first round.

times.
referee acted winely in stopping the Leo-Frankie Louch bout in the fourth. The was almost exhausted.
Haney knocked out Lew Whalen in the fround. See any Kelly out to Joe Wagthe third. Kelly was taking a lecing.

ANY CLUB WITH FINE PITCHING STAFF ATTACHED TO F. BAKER CAN'T BE OVERLOOKED IN RACE

Few Experts Believe Yanks Can Stand Pace and Lead Procession, but Braves in 1914 and Phils in 1915 Upset Dope

By GRANTLAN DRICE

League clubs more eloquent than any massive bale of statistics-the Browns, in seventh place, have been able to win nearly half their games—to travel at a clip well above .400. And the club in sixth place has been within five games of the top all along. Further comment would be carrying illies to New Castle.

Or a Dodo

"Even money," writes Plato Pete, "that either Speaker or Jackson beats out Cobb this year. Ty has served nine years at the top and ten years up there is beyond any man's limit." Whaddya mean "any man?" Cobb is a dinosaurus, re-entered in human form.

"Beebe stars for Cleveland." Not Phoebe B. Beebe, the Grand Rapids Hebe?

Social Note-John Peter Wagner, who lived for seventeen years around the top floor, has leased his old apartment again "I understand," writes H. K. F., "that Umpire Lord Byron sings songs while the game is under way. Just what songs would an umpire be likely to sing?" s 6150 yards.

Evans, who is credited with holding March."

March." "I am nobody's darling."

'He's more to be pitled than censured. "The Slave's Dream."
"I'm afraid to go home in the dark."

We wonder what books an umpire would ead? Probably these, among others: "The House of Bondage." "Lives of Martyrs." "Thrown to the Lions."

"Few believe Bill Donovan's Yankees can stand the pace and hold up at the front of the procession."—Exchange. Just how many believed the Braves were going to win in 1914, or the Phillies in 1915? Any ball club that has a fine pitching staff attached to John Franklin Baker isn't to be overooked in the October shuffle.

Just as the Tigers were upon the verge of having the American League race sewed up they bumped into the Browns. Where a great unraveling process took place. have no doubt that we are all wrong about it, but we have the hunch that the American League race isn't going to be sev until about the 5th or 5th of October.

Dope is a queer institution. We were reliably informed by an expert of considerable standing early in the year that Joe Jackson had seen his best days and was about through. "Jackson," he said, "won't be batting .290 this season. Watch." Just a present Jackson is batting only 377 and at present Jackson is batting only .377, and moving up week by week. He is all in and through, like the Russian army.

An esteemed New York paper refers to

PHILADELPHIANS TRIUMPH IN NEW YORK TENNIS PLAY

Clothier, Armstrong, Johnson, Biddle and Caner Among Victors

NEW YORK, July 1.—No tournament of the sinis season has drawn such a glittering array f telent as the invitation event of the Nassau ounty Country Club, which started yesteray, Nearly all of the prominent players in the East are included in the draw, while the acific coast is represented by R. Lindley Mury, Among the 45 men entered are two former stional champions, William A. Larned, seven mes holder of the singles title, and William Clothier, of Philadelphia, who once gained the amplicanairp.

amplionally. Much of the interest centred about the play Clothier, who competed in two matches, both which he won handly. In the first round he yed with Count Otto Salm, winning, 5-0, 5-4, d in the second round he eliminated James S. Nasle, Jr., 4-3, 6-2.

With Colonel M. C. Fleischman, one of the best known poloisis in the country, in their line-up, which also inoludes W. Plunket Stewart. Victor C. Mather and R. Penn Smith, Jr., the Bryn Mawr Reds resterday defeated the Bryn Mawr Whites. Ph. gcals to 5%. A safety by each side caused the fractions.

HERE is one tip off on the compact the "butta percha golf ball." Well, we've strength of the different American hit a few, at that, that feit as if they were made of butter. "Mexicans know what war is." They will know still more about it when John Reed Kilpatrick launches one of his flying tackles if the old Yale end ever gets across the Rio Grande.

Ghosts of the Alamo

(Re-entered for the present occasion.)
There's the tramp of a ghost on the low winds tonight; An echo that drifts like a dream on its

There's the blur of a spectre that leaves for the fight, Grave-risen at last from a long vanished day; There's the shout and the call of grim aoul unto soul,

As they rise, one by one, out of death's shadowed glen,
To follow the bugle—the drum's muffled

Where Ghosts of the Alamo gather again.

hear Crockett's voice as he leaps from And waits at the call for an answering hall;
And Bowle caresses a blade red with rust
As deep in the shadows he turns to the sleep

Their bodies may rest in a sand-mounded den, But their spirits have come from the red, starry steep Where Ghosts of the Alamo gather again. You think they've forgotten-because they

The day Santa Anna charged in with his slaves. Where five thousand men on a bare hun-

Where he house he dred swept and stormed the last rampart that stood for their graves!

You think they've forgotten; but faint, from Brave Travis is calling the roll of his

And a voice answers "Herei" through the shadows that bar Where Ghosts of the Alamo gather again.

There's a flash on a blade—and you thought it a star?
There's a light on the plain—and you thought it the moon?
Tou thought the wind echoed that anthem of warf Not knowing the lilt of an old border tune; Gray shade after shade, stirred again unto

Gray phantom by phantom they charge this evenness in a charge down the glen,
Where souls hold a hate that is greater than The Case of Travis Where Ghosts of the Alamo pather again.

MISS FINCKEL WINS GOLF FINAL IN CAPE MAY MEET Montclair Girl Defeats Mrs. Green, of

Woodbury, by Margin of 7 and 5

CAPE MAY, July 1. — Miss Henrietta Finckel, of Montclair, won the fifth annual women's invitation tournament at the Cape May George G. Green, Jr., Woodbury, by 7 up and 5 to play in the final round. Miss Finckel got away to an early lead, and maintaining her advantage, brought the match to a conclusion on the 14th hole. Miss Katherine Thompson, Wilmington, and Miss Marie Starr, Cape May, had a ose struggle in the final of the me eight, the latter squaring the match on the 18th and winning out on the 18th, where she sank a good putt for a 5 to Miss Thompson's 6. Miss Julia Griffith, Lans-downe, won in the third eight, and Miss Rena Diamond, Cape May, in the fourth.

Compton Released to Louisville Club

TITLE BATTLE BRINGS YOUTHS FORWARD AS GREAT RESERVE FOR FUTURE OF LOCAL GOLF

Many Show Promise to Finals Today a Treat Fill Shoes of Veterans. Burton Wipes Out

By SANDY MeNIBLICK DOORS of the incubator are open and some pretty cocky roosterettes strut about the barnyard. Philadelphia veteran golfers are going to have their hands full for the rest of the season with the swarm of youngsters that has suddenly invaded the field.

College and schools are over and vacation lay-offs are ripe. The rookles in the field of golf tourneys are going right after the old-timers in most embarrassing, to the latter, and persistent fashion.

Some of the members of the Old Guard, golfers who have won many honors here and elsewhere for the city in the past, are beginning to faller, and it is a comfort to look in the eager faces of the youngsters and find the vim and ambigh to go through with a tourney to the last bell.

But the best part of it is the way the veteran players coach the recruits along and encourage them.

Francis B. Warner, secretary of the Golf

Francis B. Warner, secretary of the Golf Association of Philadelphia, deserves a world of credit for the way he paired up the youngsters in the championship that ends today. He gave each a veteran pariner to steady the inclined-to-be-flighty juvenile's game. The results showed the wisdom of this, for a quarter of the field to qualify was made up of the youth of the city who en-tered the title tilt for the first time.

Most promising is George W. Hoffner, brother of Charlie Hoffner, playing pro of Philmont. Both players have the same beautiful form.

George is a better putter than his brother and could beat him, experts agree, if he had as much time to play. To play in the semi-finals of the champlouship, which was only finals of the champlouship, which was only his second tournament, is no mean accomplishment. The gallery was greatly impressed by his form. He was off in chip shots, which are his long suit usually, and a series of stymies did the rest.

Meredith M. Jack, Merion, is another youth who flies into the 70s frequently, and is capable of laying many of his elders by the heels. There is the Old York Road quartet, the two McBeans, Kindt, Jr., and Stevens, who will make going speedy with Stevens, who will make going speedy with a little more experience; Walter Wilkins, Jr., Woodbury, and a flock of other youngsters just breaking into print.

Our Choicest Grapple

Cameron Buxton and Walter Reynolds grapple in the all-day finals today for the championship of Philadelphia at Hunting-don Valley, and we feel a touch of sentiment in the matter since by a run of happenings these players were the very ones that we picked some time ago as the two "premier" golfers of the city.

Therefore, we feel that it is entirely fitting to be absolutely neutral and to give the paim to the winner. The crown will once more rest on a worthy scalp. Last year Willoughby won it after a series of victories over all the best players in the tour-ney, and deserved his honors. A big crowd watched the play today between the two finalists "I've come back to normal," said Maurice Burton, "Jack the Giant Killer" of the tournament, after he lost to Buxton in a fast round. Burton slaughtered the dope, even on his own golf charts, when he put out Willoughby, the champion. But when he trimmed Sidney Sharwood—we can find no keys on the typewriter to express the astounded flabbergastedness of the multitude. Burton played the golf he is capable of and was forever slipping over a vital shot just

for Golf Gallery

when the other fellow was smiling and giving himself the hole.
"I guess I've gone-crasy," he said after he had beaten she two stars, but he looked like a Travis as he played one eye-opening shot after another. He deserves all his suc-cess, as he never plays a careless shot.

Neiffer Gets to Finals

Neiffer Gets to Finals

Doctor M. K. Neiffer was obliged to default in the first round of match play in the championships because of a hurry call. It was decided to let him play in the defeated sixteen. He drew a default in the first round and played in a Toursome with J. R. McFarland, Jr. When these two came in at 6 p. m. they found they were paired against each other, as both had drawn defaults. So they played it off at 9 holes. McFarland laid himself a stymic in the twilight and did everything else. He lost the first four holes. He braced for the finish to pull out the match, but Doctor Neiffer holed out a bird 2 on the 5th hole and sewed up the match, 5 and 4. He won a regular match yesterday and entered the finals today with a happy smile. finals today with a happy smile.

Flash, Then Stygian Blackness

Miracles happen in golf almost as much as they don't happen in real life. We could sort out a dozen of them from our memory in no time at all, a chronicle of all the things that "might have" happened and did. But for seventh wonders we refer readers to the marvel of the recent golf of H. Wellington Wood, Atlantic City expert. He had worked up to the climax of his 78-78 for the medal at Wilmington by brilliant shots just before, in which he had hard luck on some holes that spolled his totals. When he turned his Delaware dazzler some thought he had solved his troubles and could hold the pace. But seldom in the annals has the crash of a could have the country that the "hero" been more abrupt. He was just plain swamped in that tourney by over-whelming lickings. A 97 was the best he could get in his efforts of the first round to qualify for the city championship. H. Wellington Wood, himself, is the most puzzled as to his sudden drop. He can attribute it to many things. He quotes from Ezekiel, "They put me in a bottom-less pit and they kept me there," which they

We pick this one out of a trio of letters on the same line which were evoked by the first letter to the editor, picking the "best 10 golfers." We studiously refrain from comment on the subject:

surely did.

From comment on the subject:

Sandy McNiblick—I saw in your valuable column what "A Dopester" had to say about the ten best golfers in Philadelphia. I think he had his dope badly mixed un, outside of a few players. I can't see why Willoughby isn't entitled to first place as champion, and while clarey is good, no doubt, he hasn't played enough to be placed so high in the veterans. This is my pick: "Willoughby, Buxton, Sharveod, Revnolds, McFarland, Risley, Francine, Perrin, Clarey and Service. There are others that would fit in the lower bracket just as well, but I am sure of my leaders, "REAL DOPE."

Overbrook, Pa. "Willough ty champion.

*Willoughby is no longer city champion.

Overbrook, Pa.

Overbrook, Pa.

Willoughby is no longer city champion, having been beaten in the second round.

Indians Purchase New Pitching Star TOPEKA, Kan., July 1.—Otis J. Lambeth, pitcher, has been sold to the Cleveland Club, of the American League, according to word received from Owner John Savage, of the Topeka Western League Club, Pitcher Al Collamore, of the Cleveland Club, and a cash consideration were received for Lambeth, who pitched a no-hit game against St. Joseph last Monday.

GOLF KNOWS NO AGE LIMIT AMONG ITS GREAT GENIUSES

By GRANTLAND RICE

There is one game that knows no age, That moves beyond Time's guarding spaces, So long as one is young at heart And yearns to know the open places; So long as one still has the strength To swing a club and then to follow The clean drift of the Ancient Green By stream and dale, by kill and hollow There is one game that turns the clock

On back to Morning through the heather; That drives away the drifting years Where Age and Youth are one together, Where Time is nothing, so that one May love the sun and wind about him, To know the sky and grass are close Where only death can ever rout him.

Golf is the one game that doesn't close its doors to those who have passed 50. Youth must be served in all other sports but those who have faced Walter J. Travis, Bryan Heard and many others, know Youth is not always served in golf.

A few years ago in an amateur cham-plonship there were two entries paired. One was 64. The other was 17. Both finished among the first 64 and they were but one stroke apart. What other game could show this evenness in a championship where the two contestants were 47 years apart?

Walter J. Travis took up golf around the age of 35. That age would have been the finishing point in nearly every other pastime. As a ball player, a tennis player or a boxer he would have got nowhere. But golf is more a matter of nerve and mental control than it is of physical ability. For Travis, starting at 35, was able to win the American amateur championship three times and the British amateur championship once. And well on beyond 50 Walpionship once. And well on beyond 50 Wal-ter J. won the Metropolitan championship by beating such young stars as Jerry Trayers and Oswald Kirkby, two of the finest amateurs in the land.

Other Vets George Lyon has been the Canadian champion so long that most people have forgotten any rival. Vet Lyon is well be-yond 60 and is still playing sound, steady One day last fall we had around at Garden City one of the best tests in America. with old Benny Sayers, Benny is now well beyond 60 years, with hair and mustache as white as cotton blossoms. Yet on his first trip around this course he returned a 73, driving steadily from 210 to 230 yards and always down the middle. And Then John Ball

Reduced from $50, $25 and $26 See Our 7 Big Windows PETER MORAN & CO. MERCHANT TAILORS S. E. Cor. 9th and Arch Sta

In 1888 John Ball won the amateur cham in 1888 John Ball won the amateur cham-pionship of Great Britain. Twenty-four years later he won the same championship for the eighth time. Imagine a champion in any other sport regaining the top 24 years after his first success! Ball is now around 60, and yet today he finds no trouble in returning scores in the ow 70's. Ball and Travis are the two greatest veterans golf has ever known, but there are any number of star golfers who range between 50 and 65, men who are hard to beat in match play even by the best of the younger stars.

BASEBALL TODAY SHIBE PARK Athletics vs. New York

Game Called at $:00 P. M. Tickets on sale at Gimbels' and Spaldings'.

Point Breeze Park Motordrome
THIS AFTERNOON AT 3 P. M.
AMATEUR MOTOR RACES, 10 BIO EVENTS
ADMISSION 25 CENTS

Point Breeze Park Motordrome TONIGHT—AT 8:20—TONIGHT S0-MILE MOTOR PACED EACH MEDONNA—BEDELL—WALTHOUR. Ad. 250,

EVENING LEDGER MOVIES-AND EVEN THUS, HUGH, CONNIE MAY HAVE SUCH A PITCHER AMONG HIS COLLEGIANS

A PITCHER CAN MAKE OVER AND UNDER AND SOMETIMES OVER THE PLATE UP OR DOWN! YES-IN OR OUT-OVER AND UNDER AND UNDER THE NY DIRECTION, ROSCOE MYLES. BAT !!