Fireworks, Verbal and Otherwise, to Be on Program—Sports for the Youngsters

The South Sixtieth Street Improvement Association has planned an elaborate and patriotic program for a safe and sane Fourth of July celebration upon the occasion of the forthcoming national holiday. Through the efforts of a series of committees, of which Thomas G. Smith is general chairman, the association has raised $1500 from the householders and merchants within the area bounded by Cedar and Baltimore avenues, and 56th street and Cobb's Creek, in which section over 4000 people maintain the program. The program will be maintained by verbal Philadelphia home. This money will be expended in varied fashion for the enjoyment of the people living within the district.

The exercises will begin with a national salute at sunrise, followed by a parade by school children at 8 a. m. At 10 a. m. there will be varied sports for boys on Cedar avenue with appropriate prizes for the winners of varied events. The man of the district will parade at 1:30 o'clock, and at 5:30 p. m. there will be a baby parade, with the crowning of a tiny queen by E. J. Casteel, City Statistician, at 8th and Christian streets. Band concerts at frequent intervals will occur during the day from 8 o'clock to 11:30 p. m. There will be an elaborate display of fireworks at 8:30 and Cobb's Creek Boulevard at dusk.

William J. Berry, collector of the Port of Philadelphia, will be the orator of the day and will deliver a patriotic address at 6th street and Washington avenue at 7:30 p. m.

ATLANTIC CITY READY TO RECEIVE BIG CROWDS FOR "FOURTH" TODAY

Promise of Good Weather Expected to Bring Many Trainloads of Visitors to Resort

JITNEYS GROW IN FAVOR

ATLANTIC CITY, July 1.—Although no set program on their visit here has been prepared, the ad men came flocking into this resort yesterday in such numbers that they soon made themselves conspicuous on the beach promenade and on avenues.

Many of the visitors to the most widely advertised resort city in the country were here for the first time and they were astonished at the huge hotels, the magnificent stretch of Boardwalk and many other features in this city. Many made a dash for the ocean immediately upon arrival, availing of the big crowd already enjoying the billows. Evidently these visitors enjoyed the bath for until sunset there was a big crowd in the water. A big delegation went to the Sea View golf links to see the match games or take a hand at that outdoor sport.

This will be a big day for the island, as trains will come down heavily loaded with people who will spend their holiday enjoyment near the sea waves. If this Fourth of July does not break all established records it will be because the fickle weatherman may not be so kind as to smile for outdoor enjoyment. But he has promised to be good. With its indurated capacity this city has never yet been filled to overflowing, but that is looked for this summer.

"Jitney pilgrimages" are the latest method of evening enjoyment, although they cost the participants a little more than a nickel. Jitneys carry that ply on the avenues during the day are chartered for the evening by crowds of young people and then the pilgrimage starts for some point on the mainland—Abecon. Egg Harbor, May's Landing, Somers Point, the beach, and the automobiles keep close together, so that the occupants can join in songs as they roll along the roads. The end of the first lap of the journey is generally at a farmhouse or hotel, where refreshment, where luncheon is served and dancing is the feature until it is time to return home. This has entirely superseded the old-fashioned "strawbridge" and is very popular with the younger element.

There has been much complaint about the tardiness in completing the new Abecon automobile boulevard, leading into this city, and city officials were blamed for it. They have issued a statement telling the why and wherefore. It seems that certain property owners have neglected or refused to sign papers giving the County Commissioners the privilege of using abutting property on the new boulevard and this has delayed the work. It will not be in readiness this summer, nor will be the new entrance to this city by the way of Somers Point and Longport be ready for automobiles.

All city employees, who are not required to remain on duty for the protection of life or property, will be given a holiday on July 3 and 4. Decorations have been still in place, not having been taken down since Carnival Week, and many new ones are being hung to the breeze. One hotel has just had a huge electric reproduction of an American flag placed on a prominent street corner, and it will wave every evening hereafter. The United States mail trucks are all flying the national emblem as they speed through the city and collecting mail, and it is safe to say no city in the United States has a better display of flags than this.

SOCIETY FOLK ORGANIZE EXCLUSIVE RIDING CLUB

Membership Will Be Limited to 100—Academy Site on Fairmount Avenue

An exclusive riding club will be organized in this city by socially prominent men and women who have continued interest in horsemanship despite the increase of motor-driven vehicles. It became known today that $100,000 will be contributed by them to start the club and purchase headquarters.

The club, with a membership limited to 100, will have its headquarters at the Academy of Philadelphia. Each member will pay $1000 to join. The club will be formally organized next Wednesday at a meeting of the exclusive Charles Sumner Wesley, 1420 Chestnut street.

According to the plans the membership will close when it reaches 100. Each member is to purchase a $1000 bond of the club. These bonds are guaranteed to pay 5 per cent interest. The site selected for the academy is at 2521 Fairmount avenue, now occupied by the Briggs Riding Academy. The building is in excellent condition. Those interested in organizing the club are Walter C. Gold, Senator Poles Penrose, James C. Perry, William H. Wanzmaker, W. Welch Harrison, Jr., John G. Saxton, the L'Aiglon Cafe, G. Searing Wilson, J. Howell Cummings, Fred T. Chandler and Francis Fisher Kane.

A NEW PARK OPENS ITS GATES

Today Will Witness the Formal Addition to the Altogether too Curtailed List of Pleasure Parks on the Delaware River Front at Gloucester, N. J.

Today will witness the formal addition to the altogether too curtailed list of pleasure parks on the Delaware River front at Gloucester, N. J., in the opening of Buena Vista Park at the shore landing there. A wonderful change in the waterfront has been made at this once famous and almost forgotten spot, since a year ago it passed into the control of Frank D. Hall, a boniface and successful purveyor of experience. He has made many changes and improvements in the hotel, and its spreading and shaded porches now invite one to shore and children and waffle diners. Adjoining the hotel and facing the river shore, there is a well appointed amusement park with up-to-date amusement devices and a spacious music pavilion where the Metropolitan Orchestra, under the direction of A. H. Temme, will give concerts every evening, and also on holiday, Sunday and Saturday afternoon. Mr. Temme has had considerable experience with musical organizations of reputation having at one time been a member of Sousa's Band, Liberati's famous Concert Band, Rolfe's Band and the Fairmount Park Band and others too numerous to mention. At present he is conducting a conservatory and is also organist and choir director of a prominent church and musical director of several church societies. Mr. Temme will introduce several splendid vocal soloists.

THE PHOTOPLAY- MAN-ABOUT- TOWN

Complete Theatre Programs for the Week Appear Every Monday in the Chart

John de la Cruz, who plays the important part of Ignacio Pastorelli in the Moroso-Paramount photoplay, "The Making of Maddalena," coming to the Palace next week, is a Count and of a noble Spanish-Italian family of ancient lineage. He was trained in dramatic and operatic work at the Royal Theatre at Copenhagen. Starting at 18 years, he played in all the big musical capitals of Europe for six years, afterwards coming to America. He appeared in Moroso's photoplay, "Peer Gynt," and in the Pallas production, "The Gentleman From Indiana."

Tuesday at the Ruby, Pauline Frederick will be seen in the title role of "Zaza," which is one of the dramatic achievements contributed to the screen by "Zaza," a stage success when presented by Mrs. Leslie Carter and Miss Frederick has repeated this success on the screen.

John Barrymore has played more roles on the screen, including princes, dictators, gentlemen of extreme elegance and leislators of interesting types, but he has never before played a crook. This characterization he has reserved for the "Lost Bridgroom," which will be the attraction on Monday at the Rialto.

Those who have seen Pauline Frederick in "Zaza," "The Spider" and "Andrey," and other screen successes will welcome her as the central character of "Zaza," which is not yet out of the hands of the producers. "The Moment Before," appearing at the Fairmount next week.

The question of whether a man can reform after he has had a taste of crookdom has often been asked, but seldom has a logical answer been given on the screen. "The Shadow of Doubt" is shown at the Locust on Monday next with Carlyle Blackwell in the leading role, that question will be answered.

How a woman in protecting her sister from a frightful fate incurs the jealousy of her husband and finally has to bare a cruel chapter in her own life, is told in the Triangle drama, "Not My Sister," starring Bessie Barriscale and William Desmond, to be seen at the Victoria on Monday and Tuesday.

"An Innocent Magdalene," starring Lillian Gish, is scheduled for Saturday at the Grand Northern. In the cast with Miss Gish are Spottswode A. Lloyd and Sam De Grasse, who are popular and well-known players.

The novelty of seeing an Oriental star supported by a leading woman, who is also from the last of chrysantheums, in a purely Occidental photoplay, will be the attraction of Wednesday and Thursday when Francis Nelson as Louis Lloyd and Ashley as Wilson ably demonstrate what did happen and that every woman and every man ought to guard against.

It is rumored that the Orpheum will be devoted to legitimate plays next season.

John de la Cruz, who plays the important part of Ignacio Pastorelli in the Moroso-Paramount photoplay, "The Making of Maddalena," coming to the Palace next week, is a Count and of a noble Spanish-Italian family of ancient lineage. He was trained in dramatic and operatic work at the Royal Theatre at Copenhagen. Starting at 18 years, he played in all the big musical capitals of Europe for six years, afterwards coming to America. He appeared in Moroso's photoplay, "Peer Gynt," and in the Pallas production, "The Gentleman From Indiana."

Tuesday at the Ruby, Pauline Frederick will be seen in the title role of "Zaza," which is one of the dramatic achievements contributed to the screen by "Zaza," a stage success when presented by Mrs. Leslie Carter and Miss Frederick has repeated this success on the screen.

John Barrymore has played more roles on the screen, including princes, dictators, gentlemen of extreme elegance and leislators of interesting types, but he has never before played a crook. This characterization he has reserved for the "Lost Bridgroom," which will be the attraction on Monday at the Rialto.

Those who have seen Pauline Frederick in "Zaza," "The Spider" and "Andrey," and other screen successes will welcome her as the central character of "Zaza," which is not yet out of the hands of the producers. "The Moment Before," appearing at the Fairmount next week.

The question of whether a man can reform after he has had a taste of crookdom has often been asked, but seldom has a logical answer been given on the screen. "The Shadow of Doubt" is shown at the Locust on Monday next with Carlyle Blackwell in the leading role, that question will be answered.

How a woman in protecting her sister from a frightful fate incurs the jealousy of her husband and finally has to bare a cruel chapter in her own life, is told in the Triangle drama, "Not My Sister," starring Bessie Barriscale and William Desmond, to be seen at the Victoria on Monday and Tuesday.

"An Innocent Magdalene," starring Lillian Gish, is scheduled for Saturday at the Grand Northern. In the cast with Miss Gish are Spottswode A. Lloyd and Sam De Grasse, who are popular and well-known players.

The novelty of seeing an Oriental star supported by a leading woman, who is also from the last of chrysantheums, in a purely Occidental photoplay, will be the attraction of Wednesday and Thursday when Francis Nelson as Louis Lloyd and Ashley as Wilson ably demonstrate what did happen and that every woman and every man ought to guard against.

It is rumored that the Orpheum will be devoted to legitimate plays next season.
