

NANCY WYNNE HEARS OF DELIGHTFUL ACTIVITIES UP BAR HARBOR WAY

First Aid Classes Hold Full Sway at All the Resorts. Society Women Are in Earnest in the Matter and Do Not Intend Resting for Summer

THE society leaders are in solid, sober earnest in their study of relief work and first aid to the injured in case of war or calamity is manifest in that at nearly every summer resort classes have been formed for the study of these matters.

Bar Harbor is the latest to join the ranks, and from there comes the news today that there are to be lectures given every Monday and Wednesday at the War Relief rooms. Dr. Robert Abbe, of New York, gave a lecture on the subject this Monday. Bar Harbor is becoming more popular than ever, now that motors are allowed within the sacred precincts, and a great many Philadelphians are spending the summer there.

By the way, did you know that Eleanor Gamble has gone up with Miss Trasel and is associated with her in her work at the Bar Harbor Tea Room? Here is another case where a woman of social standing has made a great success of a tea room. The Bar Harbor Tea Room was started about six or seven years ago by Miss Sophie Trasel and one or two friends in connection with Miss Woodville's decorating office. There was nothing of the kind at Bar Harbor up to that time and the people took it up with vim. They decided to have very special dishes and were fortunate in procuring a very good cook, so the little house straightway made its reputation not only among the personal friends of Miss Trasel and her colleagues, but strangers also came to frequent the pleasant, airy rooms and parties came over in boats from all the harbors, ordering luncheon ahead, or it grew to be quite the rage; and now I hear they have two houses and besides serving all sorts and kinds of delicious eats and in china, bric-a-brac and furniture on a small scale for sale. Women are sometimes very wonderfully successful in their undertakings, don't you think? We might as well acknowledge it, after all.

Excitement reigned intense at little old Cape May last week when it was thought there was a real "honest to goodness" fire in the village. Cape May is one tiny little place over the weekends, but oh! when the ladies leave on Sunday night and Monday morn the lassies miss them sore; so when such a diversion as a fire occurs in the land they can scarcely be blamed for sighing sadly that it turned out to be nothing but the smoldering flame of some semi-wet clothes in a laundry that was quickly put out. However, there was something gained in the way of a commotion, for beach, pavilion, tennis courts and golf links were emptied of their devotees for ten minutes at least as the engines went tearing along Washington street, with clanging bells and the whole of Cape May in tow at their heels. Now every one has settled down again until the next weekend, when there will be beach parties and cafe parties and all sorts of delights for the two days when the men folk arrive.
