THREE CARS WRECKED AS STRIKERS' FRIENDS FIGHT IN HARRISBURG

Police Revolvers Held Off Mob of Sympathizers Attacking Trolleys—1000 in One Gang

SHERIFF DOES BEST

HARRISBURG, July 18.—The third day of the Harrisburg street car strike finds the situation unchanged, with none of the striking men having returned to work and the company striving to get the trolleys into operation. The men themselves are orderly, but strike sympathizers are making some trouble.

Sympathizers last night wrecked three cars on Walnut street between 2d and 4th streets, where they drew the windows from their fastenings and air-brake tubes cut.

Trolley ropes were cut from the poles of two cars on Walnut street between 2d and 4th streets, the windows broken, fenders torn from their fastenings and air-brake tubes cut.

Sheriff William W. Caldwell and Superintendent of Detectives Windsor, who responded to the call, were threatened by the crowd until it was learned that the two men were representatives of the law. Then the mob gave way, and following the advice of the officers, permitted the crews to take the two cars to the 11th street barn.

One of the Hummelstown cars was held up by several thousand men and boys on Market street between 10th and Cameron streets, where they drew the windows from their fastenings and air-brake tubes cut. The car was pushed through a plate-glass window in a store.

A man giving the name of Walter McNeill, aged 27 years, was threatened by the crowd until it was learned that the man was a representative of the law. Then the mob gave way, and following the advice of the officers, permitted the crews to take the two cars to the 11th street barn.

A colored man who made a remark about the strikers was knocked down and beaten. With blood streaming from his face he hurried from the scene.

CASEMENT PLEA LOST IN COURT OF APPEALS; KING ALONE CAN SAVE

Judges of Criminal Bench Give Quick Adverse Decision Without Hearing Argument for Crown

LONDON, July 18.—The appeal of Sir Roger Casement from his conviction of high treason was dismissed in the Criminal Court of Appeals today.

Casement must die unless King George intervenes in his behalf. Arguments in behalf of the appellant were concluded this morning by Alexander Sullivan, K. C., chief of counsel for Casement.

A strong appeal was made, Mr. Sullivan citing many quotations from the ancient law to sustain his contentions. When the argument was ended, the court lost little time in reaching its decision. Justice Darling presided, and with him sat Justices Bray, Scrutton, Lawrence and Atkin.

When the proceedings were resumed the courtroom was crowded, the spectators listening with the deepest interest to the address of Casement's counsel.

In the continuation of his speech Mr. Sullivan argued that the offense charged under the statute under which the indictment was drawn could not exist because it was committed outside of the realm of the King's dominions.

Casement, who was found guilty June 29, was sentenced to death by hanging. The appeal was not directed against the death sentence, however, but against the conviction.

Michael F. Doyle, of Philadelphia, advisory counsel for Casement, made the following statement after the court had dismissed the appeal:

"Today's decision concludes Casement's rights in court unless the case is taken into the House of Lords. In view of the fact that the Attorney General was not called upon to reply to the defense's arguments, this is unlikely, as the Attorney General has to give permission for further appeal. This decision is the first clear interpretation of the ancient statute relating to high treason, 1554 years old. Powerful influences are at work to secure a reprieve, which we expect will be successful. Casement continues cheerful."

Mr. Doyle will sail for New York on Thursday.

CHILDREN'S OUTING AT WILLOW GROVE

Salvation Army and Sunday Schools to Give Thousands of Kiddies Joy Today

Twenty-two thousand persons, the majority of them children, will go to Willow Grove today to attend the two biggest picnics of the season. They are the outing of the Salvation Army and of the United Sunday Schools of this city and Montgomery, Bucks, Chester and Delaware Counties.

For a period of two hours all amusements will be free to the children. There will be innumerable family luncheons beneath the trees, on the picnic grounds, and in the afternoon there will be a musical festival of unprecedented proportions. Five thousand Sunday School pupils, most of them boys and girls, will sing the favorite songs of the schools.

A "baby chorus" will be an especially interesting feature. The invocation will be offered by the Rev. Henry W. Stringer, of the First Baptist Church of Germantown. The singing will be in charge of H. C. Lincoln.

The children whom the Salvation Army will take to the park, about 2000 in number, are from the congested sections of the city where a breath of fresh air is a luxury and where such things as carousels and toboggans are merely a dream. Twenty-five chartered cars will convey the happy little ones to the picnic grounds. They will return this evening about 6:30 o'clock.

PROSPECTIVE BRIDEGROOM BURNS TO DEATH

George Bransfield, Jr., was mortally injured at the plant of the Air Reduction Company today and died as his bride-to-be, Miss Julia Deuff, reached his bedside.

DEATH ENDS SUFFERING OF EXPLOSION VICTIM

George Bransfield, Jr., a country boy, working as a night watchman in the Air Reduction Company's plant, Germantown and Sedgley avenues, died in the Sanatorium Hospital early this morning, the victim of a gas explosion in the plant last night.

He had gone into a six-foot pit with a lantern seeking a way to release a volume of accumulated gas. It is believed the lantern was not shut tight and caused the explosion.

Bransfield's clothes were burned from him and his hair singed away before aid could reach him. After suffering five hours, death released him.

At his bedside when he died was Miss Julia Deuff, 22 years old, of 252 North street, to whom he was to have been married in the fall. An hour before the fatal explosion they had finished an evening of wedding plans talk. He had kissed her and said good-night and gone away, swinging his dinner bucket.

It was Bransfield's work to make frequent rounds of the plant between midnight and 4 o'clock in the morning. He left his fiancée at 11:30.

On his first rounds he discovered the leakage of gas in the pit. He climbed down into it with his lantern. He had scarcely reached the floor when the dense fume reached the flame in his lantern.

Bransfield lived in a boarding house at 825 Belgrade street. He had come to Philadelphia from his home in Town Point, Cecil County, Md., April 25, to look for a place where he could advance. He obtained a job, his first away from the farm, in the Air Reduction plant.

YOUNG WIDENER SAVES GIRL FROM DROWNING

Makes Thrilling Rescue of Miss Natalia Willard at Newport

P. A. B. Widener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Widener and grandson of the late P. A. B. Widener, was the hero of Newport, R. I., yesterday, according to reports which reached the young man's friends here last night.

Young Widener swam into a heavy surf and rescued Miss Natalia Willard as she was sinking for the second time beyond the beach. Miss Willard is the daughter of Colonel and Mrs. John H. Willard, of Newport.

Scores of fashionable bathers on Bailey's Beach witnessed the rescue, which, owing to the heavy weather, was sensational. The young woman had ventured so far out in accepting a dare to brave the sharks that she became exhausted, and when she attempted to breast the undertow back to the beach she could not make way against it and sank.

Intense excitement prevailed as young Widener plunged into the surf and started to swim to Miss Willard's assistance. She sank once before he reached her. The sea was running so high that lifesavers had been launched, but the young woman succeeded in keeping the young woman up until the lifeboat finally drew alongside and took them both in.

In the surf with Miss Willard at the time of the accident were her sister, Miss Roberta Willard; Miss Elizabeth Sands and several others. Miss Willard, who is one of the strongest swimmers in the Newport colony, said later that the rough weather and the undertow caused her temporarily to lose her presence of mind.
