treasury has in hand now about $205,000,-In explaining the expenditures, Mr. Asquith said that the war is costing approximately $25,000,000 a day. His recent statement that $20,000,000 is being spent daily, the Premier explained, was meant to include all the expenditures of the Government both ordinary and extraordinary.

The Premier classified the expenditure between the first of April and last Saturday as follows: Army and navy munitions, $1,895,000,000 ;

loans to England's allies, $785,000,000 ; food. supplies and railways, $115,000.000. "I hope the expenditure for the army and navy does not exceed the present rate."

said Mr. Asquith. "Munitions have remained stationary at their highest level, but experiditures for them may increase."

THE MAYOR'S BODYGUARD George J. Benz, an acting detective, has been assigned to the job.

Acting Detective George Benz, who acmpanied Mayor Smith through the Tenderioin on Saturday night, will act as his body guard until further orders. Whether the Mayor fears an attack on account of his investigation of vice conditions could not be learned. Bens arrived at City Hall with the Mayor this morning and accompanied him to his offica door. Asked if he really had a bodyguard, the Mayor smilled and, looking at Benz, said, "I have a defective associated with me."

"I have a defective associated with me." "Are you going to keep him?" "I don't think so," the Mayor replied. He declined to talk about Saturday night's raid until he had seen his Directors. When Mayor Smith took office he dis-mission william Eberie, who was official bodyguard for Mayor Blankenburg, and remarked that he would be able to take care of thimself. care to see it and would not take action. Former District Attorney William A. Gray, counsel for Captain Kenny and Bigger, who said he would obtain warrants for Knight and Dougherty before Magistrate Pennock, said he was also instructed to bring civil suit against both defendants.

NEW ANGLE A SURPRISE.

This new angle on the situation came as a complete surprise, as the attention of the public was centered upon the action of the Grand Jury, which was scheduled to start its investigation today. The jurymen do not expect to reach the vice probe until tomorrow.

While the action taken by Captain Kenny came as a surprise, the final stand of the Mayor caused no end of comment.

The report that he received every three months a list of gambling and disorderly houses, the Mayor said, was absolutely false.

EXPLANATION OF RAID.

"The first three months of my adminitration," the Mayor asserted, "were absolutely quiet. After that I heard rumors and received some reports that gambling houses and other places had opened. While a lot has been said about the raid of a week ago being confined to certain districts, that is easily explained. A social worker first called my attention to conditions in the section raided. We went after that section because we were more familiar with conditions there.

"If any one tells gamblers to stay or if they get word that they are safe they will be much mistaken. No such word will come from me. I am informed the town is closed and I intend to keep it closed."

SMITH BEADY TO TESTIFY.

Asked if he would aid the Grand Jury in its investigation, the Mayor said : -

"If the Grand Jury summons the Mayor I will lay before it all the information I can obtain. I am not going to discuss what action I mean to take in the future, nor do I mean to judge the officers under suspension before their hearing."

The Mayor's sitention was then called to the wide-open conditions found on the
