

CITY GUARDSMEN AT FIRST REVIEW BY GEN. CLEMENT

Philadelphians Lined Up for Inspection—Other Troops Start Drills

LEUTENANTS RE-ENLIST

By CARL L. ZEISBERG

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 2.—The first inspection of Philadelphia troops by Major General Clement at Camp Stewart took place today when the Pennsylvania division commander visited the camp of the Sixth Regiment with his staff. Men, equipment, mess tents, camp conditions and everything pertaining to the general health of the soldiers were examined under the searchlight of a rigid military inspection. Nothing was omitted. The general physical inspection of Colonel Elliott's men from Philadelphia and its environs; these examinations are made without warning by the regimental commander, who swoops down upon the human war machines and catches them unawares.

BANE OF GUARDSMEN ON BORDER

One of the whirlwinds which invade General Clement's headquarters at Camp Stewart, Texas, every once in so often, wrenching tent pegs loose and filling eyes and ears with dust.

MASCOT ETIQUETTE BROKEN BY CORPORAL'S LOW-DOWN DACHSHUND

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 2.—A question of military etiquette has sprung up among the army of mascots that accompany the various units here on the border. It is a delicate question, involving points not contained in any army regulations.

Now, anybody who has been with this army for a month or so knows that captain must salute a major, a major a colonel and a colonel a general. But what if a captain's mascot meets a mascot belonging to an officer of higher rank? This has happened. That is how the question came to be raised.

The medical officers with the Pennsylvania troops are securing first-hand knowledge of typhus, the dread fever so prevalent in Mexico, by visits to the county hospital here, where there are three cases which have drifted in from the pest-stricken land across the Rio Grande.

SECOND REGIMENT

W. C. Moore, of Company I, a "mule skinner" at First Brigade headquarters, will have to handle the mustangs when they are issued.

Joseph Firestone, of Company M, enjoys climbing up and down the rugged slopes of Mount Franklin because it reminds him of the mountains near his native Harrisburg.

Sergeant Major Walter Barwick received 35 packages of smoking tobacco and a big box of little cigars from his comrades in the Pennsylvania Railroad car record office.

It's hard to say which of these two brothers is the better bugler—Herbert Brambley, of Company C, or Edmund Brambley, of Company F. It had better remain unsaid.

who have returned to the border city after having been forced to live in unclean surroundings in Mexico.

Fair in Germantown Opens Tonight

A carnival in Germantown, at Chelton avenue and Anderson street, opens tonight and will continue for two weeks. That section of the city already has taken on a gala appearance, flags and bunting being displayed on business houses and private dwellings. At night electric light designs will augment the decorations. A popularity contest for children under 18 years of age is to be one of the features. Band concerts will be given every night. Forty-two members of the East Side Improvement Association, with James W. Tracey, Jr., as chairman, are in charge of the affair.

Pulse of the Public

Getting Stronger for Firestone TIRES every day

When public demand swings toward one tire strongly to the tune of millions, and increases steadily for five years, you can put all confidence in the character of that tire.

In 1911 Firestone Tire sales were $7,462,581.17. In 1915 they were $25,187,884.33. This is an increase of 257%. Up to June 1, 1916, Firestone Tire sales show an increase of 38% over 1915.

Such growth is a true indication of the Pulse of the Public. No demand could attain such splendid proportions in so short a time unless the tires themselves had given the Most Miles per Dollar.
