Russians and Latins Continue Progress—Stanislaw Near Fall

ANGLO-FRENCH ADVANCE

High Points in War Situation at Glance

First. Italian front—Italians pursue Austrians in retreat from Gorizia and occupy the Austrian aviation station at Aisovizza, four miles east of Gorizia, on the road to Trieste and the strong position of Boaschini.

The victorious armies of General Cadorna are pushing their operations against the Austrians on the Isonzo front with the utmost vigor. Following their capture of Gorizia yesterday, Italian troops are pursuing the retreating Austrians and have occupied the Austrian aviation station at Aisovizza, four miles east of Gorizia, on the road to Trieste.

Russian troops under General Letchitky are approaching the Bistritza River, three miles from the Galician city of Stanislaw. A great battle is expected at this point. The fall of Stanislaw, which is believed imminent, will compel an Austro-German retirement northward to the Dniester River.

The uninterrupted advance of the Russian armies, coupled with the Italian successes on the Isonzo and the likelihood of an immediate Allied advance from Salonica, may soon bring Rumania on the side of the Allies, reports from Bucharest, via London, indicate.

FOOD CONDITIONS IN GERMANY IMPROVE

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—A good index to improved food conditions in the cities of Germany is afforded by the experimental municipal mass feeding in Berlin during the first month's existence of the municipal kitchen. The initial registration was disappointing to the authorities. POLICE CHIEFS IN SHADOW OF JURY'S FINDING

Mayor Reported Ready to Remove Any Directly Censured

"SHAKE-UP" IN PROSPECT

Police Officials Who Face Possible Dismissal

"I WILL dismiss any police official whose dismissal is recommended by the Grand Jury."—Reported comment of Mayor Smith.

Police officials mentioned in testimony of Grand Jury investigation of vice conditions:

- Director of Public Safety William H. Wilson. Assistant Director Harry C. Davis. Superintendent James Robinson. Captain Nicholas J. Kenny. Lieutenant George Stinger. Lieutenant Joseph W. Van Horn. Charles Lee, former chief of vice squad. Michael Kearse, district detective.

Removal from office of high police officials and a reorganization of the Bureau of Police is one of the chief recommendations under consideration today by the Grand Jury.

When the presentment is laid before Judge Rogers tomorrow in Quarter Session's Court the names of the officials suggested for dismissal may become known.

At present the members of the Grand Jury have not let it become known whether their report will censure the bureau attaches specifically and mention names or will incorporate the recommendations for a shake-up and reorganization in general terms, leaving the matter of assigning the blame and placing the individual blame in the discretion of the Mayor.

"I will dismiss any police official whose dismissal is recommended by the Grand Jury," Mayor Smith is reported to have said today.

Submission of the Grand Jury presentment, with the promise of Henry S. Barnard, the foreman, that it will contain no "whitewash" in its treatment of vice conditions, is awaited with trepidation by police and politicians alike. The meager satisfaction that they dare express in advance of the presentment is derived from the fact that the Grand Jury, under existing law, is powerless to indict persons found guilty of dereliction in connection with the vice probe.

The Grand Jury, when it makes its presentment, automatically passes out of existence. It can only recommend, but cannot indict, in matters of its own investigation. It can, however, and according to the statement of some of its members, will recommend indictments to be taken up by its successor.

In the matter of the vice investigation, this successor is the August Grand Jury which meets for organization next Monday.

PRESENTMENT NEARLY READY

The present jury expects to have its presentment complete and in shape for submission to Judge Rogers in the Quarter Sessions Court at noon tomorrow. It will become public immediately upon presentation to the court.

That some of the departmental officials are to be held personally responsible for the conditions revealed by the raid of July 15 and its sequel is regarded as certain by persons close to the jury. It is taken as almost equally positive that these officials will not only be the district commanders and policemen in the districts affected, but that the presentment will name persons "higher up" as sharing the responsibility for the manipulation upward and downward of the "lid" of the Tenderloin resorts.

The main question before the jury today appears to be the propriety of naming these officials directly or leaving the discovery of their individual identity and request for removal to the Mayor, relying upon his presentment intention to act promptly and vigorously in holding the persons to blame to a strict accountability for their official neglect, and so reorganizing the department that future recurrence of the evil condition shall be impossible.

"STRAW BAIL" SCANDAL

Probably the most sensational disclosure of the two-week investigation came to light yesterday, at the end of the hearing. It was the evidence that revealed the fact that Magistrate Call had accepted "straw bail" for 19 raid victims, and proved the positive collusion between ward politicians and those directly responsible for vice conditions.

Clarence Gibbons in his final address before the jurors placed the blame for vice conditions on the Blankenburg regime, and virtually recommended the dismissal of Assistant Director of Public Safety Davis and Superintendent of Police Robinson, and a general shake-up of the heads of the police bureau.

What was expected to be a terrific finish to a notable investigation was remarkable for the lost motion of some of the witnesses' memories. Nevertheless, some vital facts were developed. They are in part as follows:

Policemen and police officials, for reasons said to lie in the power of organized political strength, fear to take the initiative against certain forces of crime and vice. They ever look up for orders, which rarely come down. Captain Kenny, for instance, although he was supposed to see that the men were retained in the second police
