PARALYSIS WORSE; RAILROAD MEN FRENCH, BRITISH TO CONFER AGAIN WITH MEDIATORS

Their Final Effort to Avert Sarrail Leads Allied Forces Strike Will Be Made Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 .- At a meeting today of delegates representing the four organizations of railroad employes it was decided to hold another conference tomorrow morning with the Federal Board of Mediation and Conciliation in a final effort to establish a basis of settlement and avert a strike.

After the meeting, A. B. Garretson, head of the order of railway conductors, gave out this statement:

The Board of Mediation told us their efforts to bring about a settlement by mediation had failed. We were asked if we would arbitrate and we did not We shall meet with the Federal Board tomorrow morning when we shall give our answer probably. It is now for the board acting under the Newlands Act to bring about a settlement by arbitration.

meetings were held morning; the first was a joint session between the mediation board and the representatives of the "Big Four." At that meeting the mediators announced that they were unable to mediate the troubles and presented a proposal for arbitration. The railroad men then met by themselves to consider this proposition. While the meeting was in progress one of the delegates left the hall and upon being asked what had been done, he replied: "The men have decided to reject arbitration; they are going before President Wilson voluntarily to lay their side of the dispute before him "

When the meeting broke up Mr. Garretson was told that one of the delegates had announced that the men were going to reject arbitration and he replied:

"That is wrong-we are going to meet the mediators again."

There were indications that a action of the delegates made a strong fight in favor of the rejection of arbitration, but that the faction favoring "peace" prevailed in favor with her northern and western frontiers

Fourth. Balkans—Allies push of-fensive against Bulgars. Menace Doiran City and Gievgeli.

Fifth. Turkish front — Russians continue attacks in Asia Minor and Armenia. Retire in Persia.

With the opening of the drive against the Bulgarians in Macedonia the Allies are now upon the offensive in the five theaters of war. From every point steady progress is reported for the armies of England, France, Russia and Italy. Fighting is in progress over battle lines nearly 3000 miles in length.

In the eastern theater the Russians are rolling forward in Galicia, crushing out Austro-German resistance wherever it is attempted. Following the fall of Stanislau, the Russians are again driving northward in the direction of Lemberg, and it is believed that the important fortified Galician city of Halicz has either been captured by the Russians or is on the point of falling into their hands.

A Central News dispatch from Athens says General Sarrail has been appointed In the western theater of war the commander-in-chief of the allied forces, and Anglo-French armies are carrying out General Cordonnier has taken command of a methodical advance on the Somme front, while at Verdun the French The drive has a two-fold purpose-to have launched counter-blows which are clear Serbia of the invaders and to bring winning back, piece by piece, the ground Rumania into the war on the side of the Entente. Decisive blows are being struck by the Italians, who, having advanced more than ten miles from Gorizia, are driving in the direction of Trieste. They have occupied Oppachiosella, west of Doberdo. A report from Rome states that the fall of Tolmino is imminent. With the capture of this fortified position by the Italians the Austro-Hungarian lines on the Isonzo will have been shattered entirely.

In the Balkans the Allies have finally struck and advices from Athens and Salonica state that the engagement is extending over a broad front, with the Bulgarian positions under artillery fire. Approximately three-quarters of a million men under General Sarrail are attacking the Bulgars. The capture of Doiran Station and Hill 227 places the Allies in a position to menace Doiran proper, which is held by the Bulgars, and the capture of this city would open the way for a flank attack on the Bulgar and Teuton troops at Gievgeli,

In the Turkish theater of war the Russians are keeping a steady series of attacks, although the Turks have lately been able to win some ground and force a retirement of the Russian Mogridge Is Donovan's Slab Seforce in Persia. In Armenia the Russians are continuing their advance, meanwhile beating off strong counterattacks.

MAKIE SLOMINSKY

Marie Slominsky, a pretty hoslery maker, was shot down on her way to work this morn'; by an admirer whose attentions she repulsed. She is dying in St. Mary's Hospital. One bullet lodged in her heart, a second penetrated a lung, and a third is imbedded in her body and has not been located. Anthony Romonowski, her assailant, was committed without ball by Magistrate Beaton at the Central Station to await the outcome of the girl's injuries.

The shooting occurred at Boston avenue and Cedar street. Marie, who is 19 years old, was on her way from her home at 2322 East Thompson street, to the Taubel mills, at Adams and Coral streets. Romonowski, 21 years old, and living at 2566 Salmon street, approached her. A brief conversation ensued.

Passersby heard the girl tell the young man that she did not want him to annoy her further. His reply was to produce a revolver of .32 caliber and shoot her three times. She fell on the sidewallo.

Romonowski made no effort to escape. He stood beside the girl's body and offered no resistance when Special Officer Dahms, who is employed about nearby mills, arrested him.

Dahms sent the girl to the hospital, Physicians pronounced her condition desperate, because of the wounds in the heart and lung.

calling upon the girl for a year and wanted to marry her. He has been out of work and she discountenanced his attentions for this reason. They believe that at the interview this morning the girl's positive refusal to accede to his proposal of marriage inflamed him to rage and the shooting ensued. Romonowski refuses to make any statement.

Bessie Mereck, 18 years old, of 2620 East York street, told the police she overheard the brief conversation that preceded the shooting. She was walking beside Marie when Romonowski accosted the latter. She heard the young man ask, "Why won't you let me call on you?" To this Marie replied, "Because I don't like you." Then Bessie says Romonowski began shooting.

The wounded girl was taken to the hospital in a motortruck used for hauling sand. Her parents, Michael and Antoinette Slominsky, were notified and hastened to their daughter's bedside. They are respected residents of their neighborhood and have three other children, Edward 15 years; Helen, 18 years, and Anna, 8 years old.
