HOW COMEDY STANDS IN THE PICTURES

A Question for Picture Theater Managers Which Can Only Be Answered by the Fans

The result of the Evening Ledger's Photoplay Contest is now known. The ananimous decision of the judges will be published in tomorrow's Evening, Ledger.

en the photoplay editor stepped out of foors for a day off he told his assistant that he (the assistant) would find "a lead," that is something to start the department with, in the news. But, as the country with in the news. But, as the country papers often may, news are scarce this week. The chief item, in fact, has been the visit to Philadelphia of a Griffith star. Of that more later. But there have been some interesting things in the theaters them-seives, and those things are worth thinking about.

about. What does the moving-picture fan think about comedies? Every theater advertises its feature film—five reels, mentions the director. Many of them merely add "com-edy," as if the comedy were a filler. Is lif. The fact is that a great number of per-fectly good fans go to the pictures because they like the comedies and are willing to take a chance on liking the feature. The moving-picture enthusinst has definite likes and dislikes. There are "Metro-fans" who do not care for Triangles and "Fox-fans" who will not go round the corner to see a Metro. There are Drew-comedy enthu-Metro. There are Drew-comedy enthu-siastu and Keystone-bosters and others. They like their particular brand of comedy and would go miles to see it. Of course the Chapifn crowd is enormous, almost univernal.

versal. Now the point is that the comedy is underplayed as an attraction. The writer knows perhaps a hundred fans who travel from one end of the city to another to see Keystone, but they are often compelled o phone the Triangle office to discover where a Keystone is on. Many theaters have substituted a serial for the comedy, and, while the serial has drawn a certain patronage, the comedy patronage has fallen

Take a special case. Hank Mann, in "His Bread and Butter," was certainly one of the greatest comedy films ever put on. For about two weeks it was seen here and there and received complimentary mention. If it is still being shown, and it ought to run a year, no one can find out unless he that blister and burn wherever they strike. happens to pass the theater and sees the sign. Another annoying thing is that at both central and neighborhood houses the ticket sellers are utterly unconscious of the pres-ence of comedies. You ask, Is Max Fig-man on today? They tell you no. Perhaps you go in. Presently Max appears. A little playing up of the comedy features would be good business, for the exhibitors and would please the fans mightily.

The first showing of David W. Griffith's "Intolerance" has been unfortunately held over until September 5. 'The date for Philadelphia is not yet announced. Mr. Griffith arrives in the East soon.

tents. Swings, slides and see-saws are also provided for the children, and the lifeguards, having only a short stretch of the ocean to cover, police the beaches as well as keep a watchful eye on bathers. In this city bathers have to seek the shade given by the Boardwalk in case they want to rest where the sun will not strike them. Furthermore, bathers are not welcome in the reclining beach chairs if their suits be wet. The beach front here is so valuable and the popular bathing districts so crowded every day in August that shelter tents would be out of the question.

Outdoor sports here are not confined to the beach, as many people imagine. Lovers of tennis have an opportunity to indulge in their favorite game, as there are a number of public tennis courts which can be rented by the hour or day. Many amateur matches are played every day on these courts. Golf experts must journey over to the mainland, either to the Country Club at Northfield or to the Seavlew links at Absecon. A number of visitors who are experts at golf have complained about the distance they must travel to reach the courses. There is some talk of establishing a public golf course on one of the made islands across the thoroughfare opposite Cheisea. Though the projectors of this enterprise will make a charge for the use of the grounds, it will the shape of an admission fee and not through club membership. Philadelphia Shriners Praised
