

ILLUSTRATED Evening Ledger

FRIDAY
August 18, 1916

A DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN A BUSY WORLD GRAPHICALLY PORTRAYED BY THE CAMERA MAN

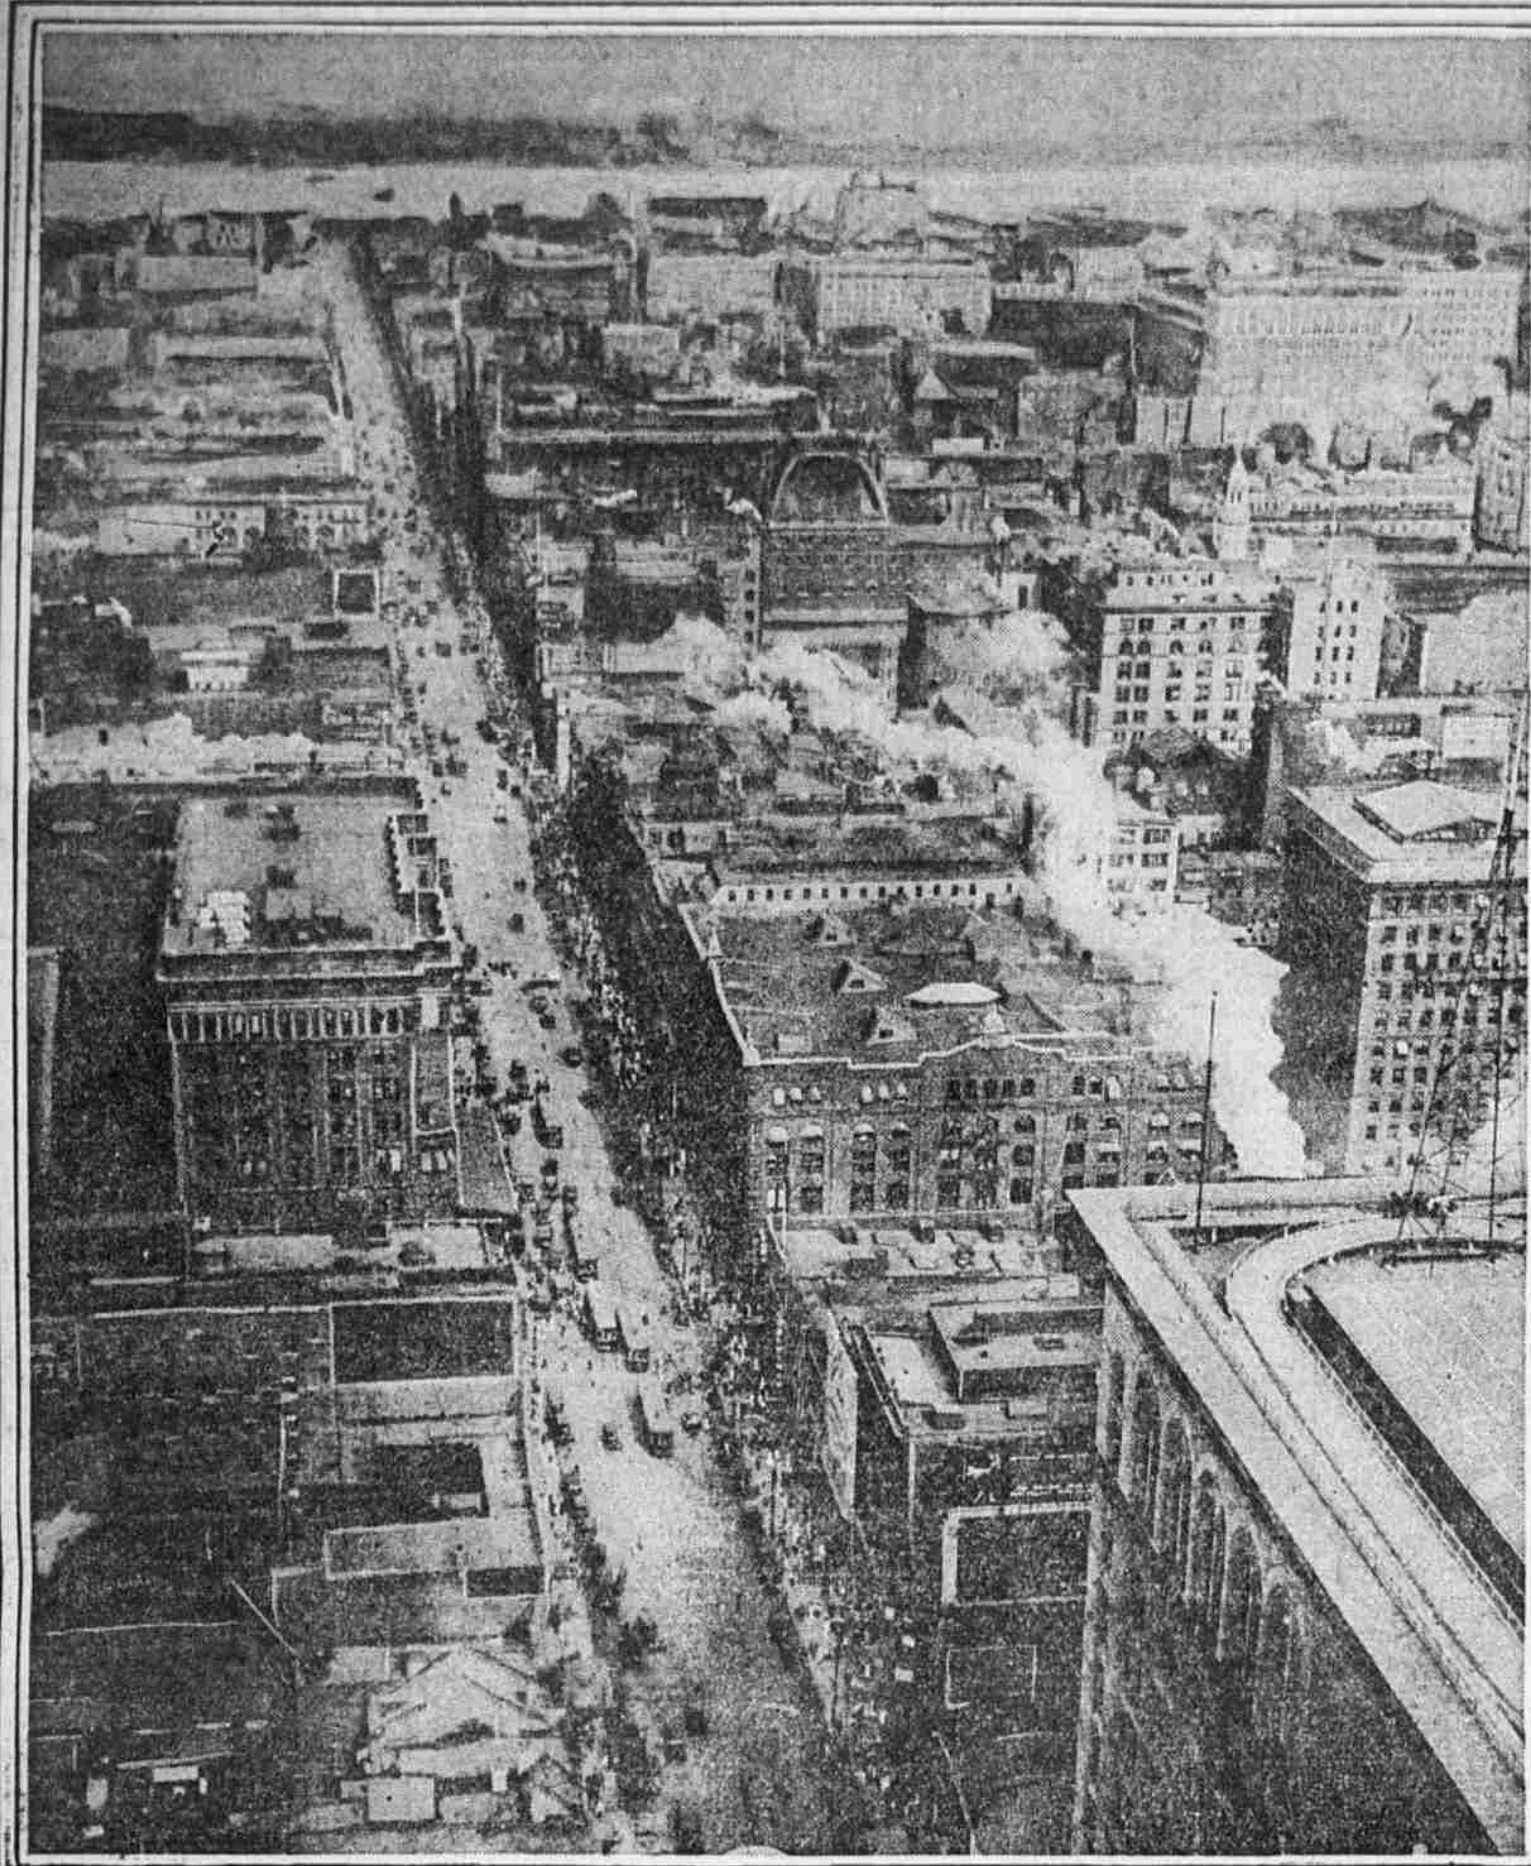

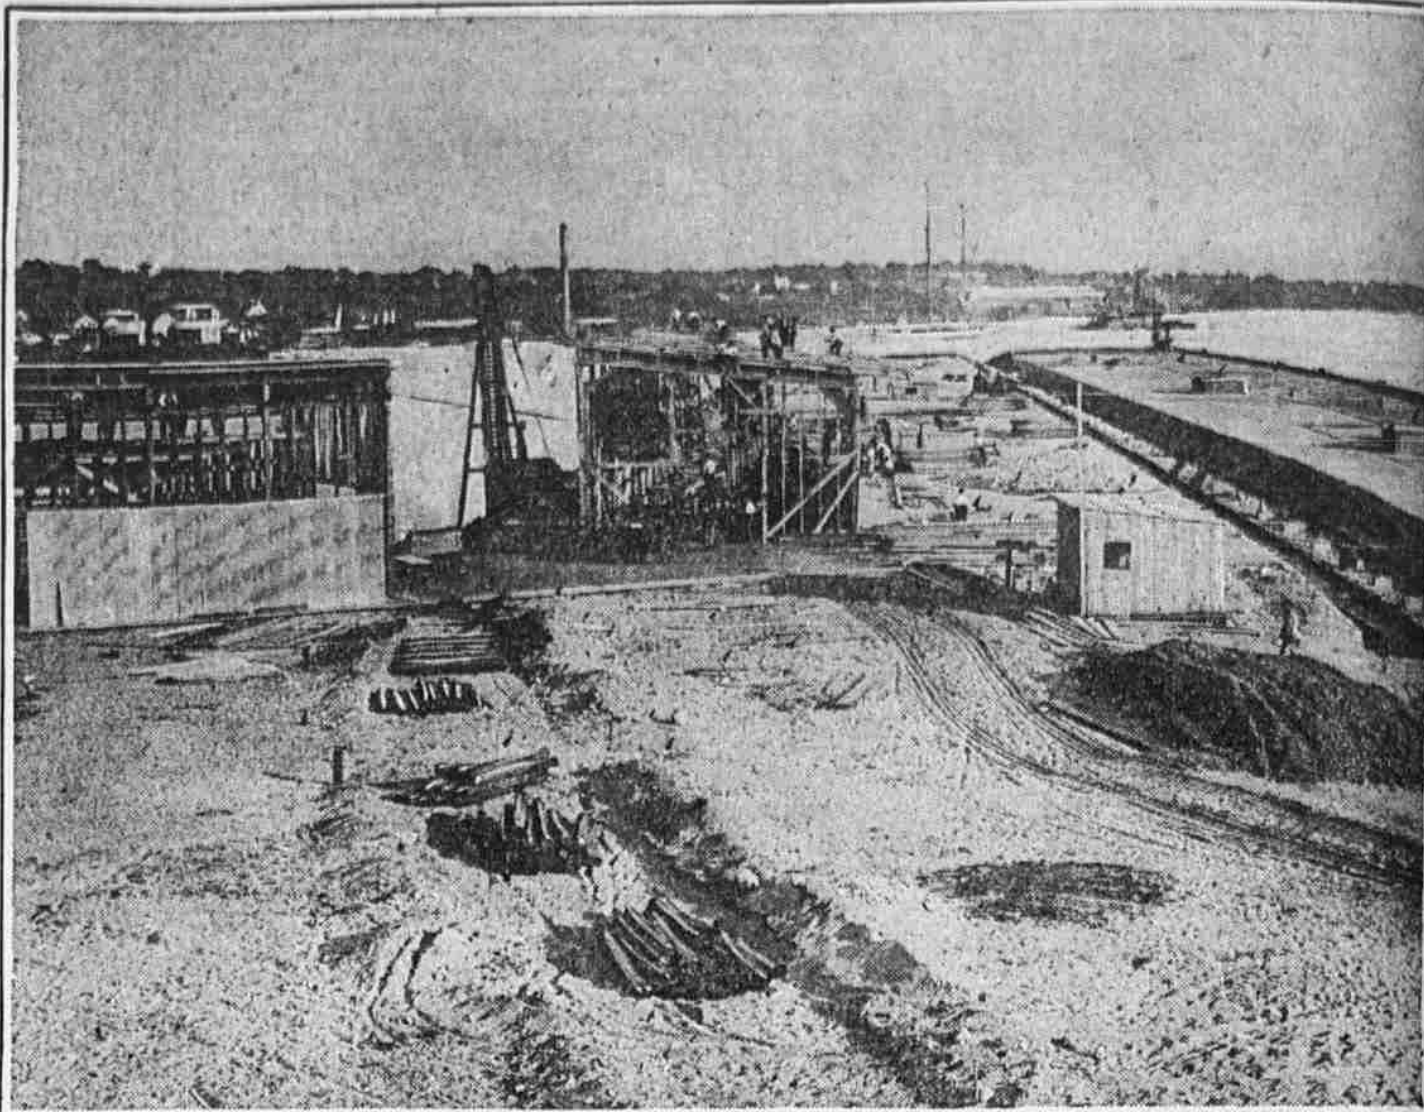

Photo by Walter Crall, Evening Ledger Staff Photographer.
WHAT BILLY PENN SEES OUT OF THE CORNER OF HIS RIGHT EYE
A view down Market street, across the Delaware River, to Camden, from the hand of William Penn's statue on top of City Hall. The photograph was taken during a busy hour and shows how even a crowded street may appear comparatively deserted when seen from a great height.

Copyright, International Film Service.
RUSHING WORK ON PIER WHERE GERMAN SUPER-SUBMARINE BREMEN MAY DOCK
The State pier at New London, Conn., is being equipped to meet the new demands required by a merchant submarine. It is confidently expected that the Bremen will dock at New London. The long warehouse, where the cargo will be stored, is rapidly nearing completion.

Copyright, International Film Service.
EFFICIENT LEWIS GUN IN ACTION IN A FRONT-LINE TRENCH NEAR OVILIER
The Lewis gun, designed by an American, was rejected by the United States army officers. It has proved one of the greatest offensive and defensive weapons to the Allies.

Copyright, International Film Service.
CANON OF WESTMINSTER MARRIES STATESMAN'S WIDOW
The Rev. William Hartley Carnegie is seen leaving Westminster Abbey, London, with his bride, the second wife of Joseph Chamberlain, the late great British statesman. She was Miss Mary Endicott, daughter of Judge Endicott, Secretary of War in Cleveland's Cabinet.

Copyright, International Film Service.
LOS ANGELES BEAUTY BECOMES BRIDE OF BRITISH EARL
Patricia Burke, the new Countess of Cottenham, is the latest American millionaire's daughter to become a peeress. She has won many beauty prizes.

Photo by Ledger Staff Photographer.
SOCIETY AVIATOR AND INSTRUCTOR AFTER PERILOUS TRIP
George C. Thomas, Jr., at the left, a Philadelphia banker, and Walter Johnson, instructor at the Essington aviation camp, upon arriving at Essington after a hard battle with a gale while flying from Atlantic City, yesterday.