

PLANS FOR U. S. BOND ISSUE OF $130,000,000 VIRTUALLY COMPLETED

Senator Simmons and Secretary McAdoo Confer on Method for Placing Loan to Pay Border Guard

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, at a conference today with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, virtually completed plans for the issuance of the $130,000,000 bond issue, agreed upon last night, to meet expenditures due to the calling of the National Guard to the Mexican border.

The bonds will be issued in comparatively small lots at a time, it was decided, the first time, (probably of $25,000,000, to be made this fall. Other issues will follow from time to time in amounts, as are made necessary to meet expenses of keeping the troops in camp.

SLAVS AGAIN MENACE PLAINS OF HUNGARY

pletely recaptured the village of Fleury, driving the Germans from that part of the village which they still held, it was officially announced today.

The Germans still retain a few ruins outside and east of the village near the Chapelle forest. The French also advanced west of the town between Thiamont and Fleury, taking 50 prisoners.

The French blow was struck on the 17th day of the great battle for the fortress city. It was preceded by a terrific bombardment and a heavy curtain fire that prevented the Germans from bringing up reserves.

On the Somme front, the Germans last night made their first attempt to recapture positions taken by the French in Wednesday's advance around Maurepas.

At the same time the Germans were delivering heavy attacks against the British around Polderen, fighting on the front line.

The French front southeast of Maurepas, where violent artillery fighting continued throughout yesterday. The French not only repulsed the German attacks, but made some prisoners.

No engagements of importance occurred south of the Somme or elsewhere on the French front. South of Belloy-en-Santerre the French found four machine guns in a trench captured in Wednesday's attack.

ITALIANS TO SWEEP CARSO PLATEAU FREE OF AUSTRIANS BEFORE MARCH UPON TRIESTE

ROME, Aug. 18.—The Italian army is being held back on the lower Isonzo until the line on the upper Isonzo can be straightened by the capture of the mountainous of San Gabriele, San Marco and other positions lying between Tolmino and Gorizia.

While the capture of these mountains is regarded as imminent, there probably will be no advance upon Trieste until they have been taken.

The Austrians are being forced off the Carso plateau before spirited attacks of the Italian troops. Fierce fighting for the heavy guns which have been barring the way to Trieste is in progress. These guns frequently are emplaced in caverns on the mountainside.

In taking Santa Grado on Monday the Italians offered to let one of the gun crews surrender, but its members floundered a mandolin in derision, the Austrians often calling the Italians merely mandolin players.

The Italian infantry bayoneted the whole gun crew.

Today's War Office statement says: On the lower Isonzo our artillery and trench mortar fire were closed today.

We repulsed an attack on the Carso, taking 100 prisoners. In the Tolmino area our batteries shelled the Santa Lucia station, where train movements were reported.

BERLIN ADMITS BRITISH PROGRESS AT MARTINPUICH; HOLD POSTS AT POZIERES

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—British troops succeeded in breaking back the German first line southwest of Martinpuich on a narrow front in yesterday's fighting, but were completely repulsed in attacks north of Pozieres and west of Fourreaux Wood, it was officially announced this afternoon.

Between Guillemont and Maurepas French advances were repulsed with heavy enemy losses. Northward of Hardcourt bitter fighting occurred without any decision.

On the Verdun front the French attacked last night in force against German positions between Thiamont, work and Chapelle forest in the village of Fleury. The fighting is still going on.

PHILADELPHIA STILL SECOND IN LIST OF U. S. NAVY YARDS Holds Place, While Norfolk Succeeds Puget Sound

By a Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Conferees on the navy appropriation bill shifted Puget Sound to fourth place on the list of navy yards which the Secretary of the Navy is authorized to equip for the construction of dreadnoughts and battle cruisers. The Philadelphia yard is left in second place, as it was in the Senate bill. The order in which the yards are named in the conference report, which authorizes but does not direct equipping them for first-class battleship construction, is Norfolk, Philadelphia, Puget Sound and Puget Sound.

It is considered likely the Secretary will equip the yards in the order named.

Senator Poindexter, of Washington, offered the amendment which named Puget Sound first in the bill as it passed the Senate, but he was not a conferee.

Senator Swanson, of Virginia, who was one of the majority conferees, saw that that Norfolk was put in the place of Puget Sound.

Representative Butler, of Pennsylvania, one of the House conferees, looked out for Philadelphia, and Representative Roberts, of Massachusetts, another House conferee, spoke for Boston.

CHARGE VICE LEVY AGAINST CONSTABLE

He told her that he would do so, but that it would cost her some money—$150. He got a bondman by the name of Bradley who put up $100 bail. Then I was retained as her attorney and charged $25 for my services. The Government received none of the money. It was a perfectly legitimate transaction.

"When Mrs. Zoldi was arraigned for her further hearing she was discharged because there was no evidence against her after her discharge she pretended that she had been swindled, hired a lawyer and started all this trouble."

At the office of Magistrate Call, 1138 Girard avenue, the information was given today that Call was in Atlantic City and would not be back until tomorrow morning at 1 o'clock. A man who told her was C. G. Robinson, a constable attached to Call's office, said that Beaumont had never been charged with that office in the capacity of deputy constable.

"Beaumont," he said, "tried to 'butt in' here on one case, but we kicked him out. He has nothing to do with this office."

150 INDICTMENTS

With the twenty-three returned today, the August Grand Jury now has a record of 150 indictments. Eleven of those made today were of persons accused of conducting speakings and eleven were of persons accused of having conducted disorderly houses. The indictments were returned in the July 1 raid, and the indictments were drawn on testimony offered before the July Grand Jury.

It is not considered likely that Judge McMichael will take action on the open letter of D. Clarence Giboney, head of the Law and Order Society, advocating continuation of Grand Jury investigation of vice in this city.

When asked what he was going to do about the letter, he replied: "I have nothing to say."

"Are you going to take this matter up?" he was asked. The judge shook his head and turned away. SILENT AS TO GIBONEY.

Giboney left this morning for New York. It was rumored in police circles that his visit to New York is to interview William J. Burns, a detective, as to methods employed for the gathering of evidence against "exclusive" gambling joints and disorderly houses in Philadelphia which are alleged to have "ironed" political protection. Giboney is believed to be endeavoring to get the higher-ups in Philadelphia's vice world.

Investigators employed by the Law and Order Society said today that complaints as to renewed activity in vice in this city are pouring into the headquarters of the society by letter and by telephone. Many of these complaints deal with places which were raided on July 15. The complaints have stated that the resorts have reopened and are doing more business than prior to the raid.

Disorderly house proprietors, it is said, are confident that all trouble has "blown over" in Atlantic City, as to methods of furniture and other fixtures. The word has been passed around the underworld that Mayor Smith's "clean-up" is fast evaporating in the mists which hover near the Mayor's hotel in Atlantic City. It is believed that they need have no fear. Cadets, scouts, pickpockets and sneak thieves who hang about certain parts of Race, Vine, Winter and Noble streets in the Tenderloin are making facious faces at the Acting Director Davis and Captain McCoach, "right nice fellows who believe in personal liberty and mind their own business."

TENDERLOIN CROWDED

The apparent abandonment of the vice problem by all the officials who have the power to "clean up" has had a magical effect on the Tenderloin. Last night the district was crowded with disorderly women, who conversed freely on street corners with sailors and other visitors to the section. Business has become brisk in restaurants and other "hang-outs" for habitués of the Tenderloin.

Police men are in a quandary. They are afraid to be too active in the gathering of evidence for the organization and are "neutral" and let things take their course. The cops say they were never before in such a fix. It is the first time, they say, that a city administration had no definite policy in regard to the question. One of them referred to the administration as a "ship without a rudder."

Mose Weinbeck, alleged gambling boss of the Tenderloin, was returned to the city early today from Atlantic City. It is said he is going the rounds assuring his friends that everything is as "fit as a fiddle."

It became known today that Lane, sage of the Republic and organizer and leader of the Twentieth Ward, made every effort to testify before the July Grand Jury. He was much wrought up, it is said, over the frequent mention of the Twentieth Ward in the investigation, and told his friends that he wanted to come up from Atlantic City and air his views. He was persuaded, however, it is said, that it would be good policy for him to remain in Atlantic City.

WATCHMAN TAKES ASSAILANT Willow Grove Man Sees Youth on Car as He Goes to Report Attack on Him

Frederick Gross, of Willow Grove, a watchman employed by the Reading Railroad near the Hamilton avenue bridge, Creighton street, today returned to the Abington police station to report that he had been beaten, gagged and robbed, recognized in the car one of his two assailants. When the car stopped at the station Gross summoned Sergeant Ferguson, who arrested the man. The second highwayman was so well described by Gross that Policemen Sirepser, McKee and Nice went out immediately to arrest a man of his description near Willow Grove.

The two men gave the names, George and John Roberts, of Eleventh street and Montgomery avenue. They said they were brothers. They were arraigned today before Magistrate Lachet in Abington township court.

Gross said the men attacked him near the Hamilton avenue bridge, gagging him with a dirty rag, tying his feet. Then they took his gold watch and $5. When Gross regained consciousness he walked to Old York road and boarded a car to go to the police station.

Recruiting at the Union League station is "picking up." Major Heise, who is in charge, is arranging for noon conferences with prominent League members as speakers. Jones, who is now in charge of the practice of the Government to detail regular army officers to military schools and State colleges where military training is given.

Magistrate Imber today held in $1000 bail for further hearing Sunday three men arrested yesterday on suspicion of having contraband drugs. The formal charge is disorderly conduct, but the finding of some counterfeit nickels on one of the trio led to the postponement of a hearing until the Government agents have investigated more fully. The three are Ernest Salt, 1421 Mole street; Louis Marchesini, 1019 Mount Vernon street; and John Trollo, 153 South Juniper street.

Residents living in the vicinity of Edgewood street and Westminister avenue last night proved able assistants to Engine Company No. 41, of Sixty-first and Thompson streets, when they jetted their beds shortly before midnight and organized a garden hose volunteer fire company to combat the flames that destroyed a large shed in the rear of the residence of Amos Blade, 412 North Edgewood street.

A message was received by David J. Hogan, a member of Aerie No. 45, Fraternal Order of Eagles, of this city, last night that the aerial won the $1000 prize offered by the National Council for enrolling 1000 new members within a single month. FRANKENFIELD'S DEATH UNSOLVED AT INQUEST

Coroner's Jury Brings in "Open" Verdict in Strange Case of Insurance Man

Six jurors who conducted the inquest today into the death of Harry Frankenkfield, the insurance man who lost his life in mysterious circumstances on August 10, at the suggestion of Coroner Knight, returned an "open" verdict of death from a fractured skull and chest, without deciding how the injuries were received. As the matter now stands, no responsibility for the death has been determined under the law and at any time the case can be reopened and additional arrests can be made.

The three women arrested in the case as witnesses were discharged by the Coroner, but instructed to remain in Philadelphia and keep in contact with the police until the mystery is cleared. They are Mrs. May Steigerwald, Ada Gordon and Evelyn Young. Mrs. Steigerwald is the proprietress of the house at Sixteenth and Wallace streets, in front of which the man was found dying. The other women were in the house.

Frankenkfield was 37 years old and lived in an apartment house at the southwest corner of Eighteenth and Diamond streets. He died in St. Joseph's Hospital, after he was found with his skull fractured and suffering other bodily injuries. Various theories have been advanced in an attempt to explain the man's death.

One explanation was that he had been hit by a motorcar, another that he had been murdered, and the belief existed among some members of the Detective Bureau that he had fallen out of the window of the house on the pavement of which he was found in a dying condition. According to Dr. W. S. Wadsworth, Coroner's physician, who examined the body and appeared as a witness in the inquest today, his injuries seemed to have been too severe to have been inflicted by a fall.

SALES MANAGER ASSAULTED

D. J. Normoyle, of Bement Miles Company, was badly beaten by men believed to be striking chauffeurs when he attempted to step into a taxicab in front of the Bellevue-Stratford late last night. Mr. Normoyle was treated at the Jefferson Hospital for lacerations about the head and face, but was able to go to his home today. The men of the Pennsylvania Taximeter Company, with headquarters at Locust street near Broad, have been on strike for the last three days. Mr. Normoyle had been a guest at the Bellevue-Stratford last night. The attack occurred just as he ordered a taxicab and was about to enter it.

The men, thought to have been strikers, at first attacked the chauffeur, and Mr. Normoyle at once went to his rescue. The chauffeur also was treated at Jefferson Hospital for cuts and bruises by Doctor Smith. He did not fare so badly as Mr. Normoyle, however, and was discharged from the hospital after first-aid treatment.
