MANY GOOD PARTS IN PRIZE SCENARIO

The Author's Own Characterization of the Leading Roles in "Phil and Delphine"

By the Photoplay Editor give the photoplay cast contestants an of the parts which they are to play is published below the character plot there is published below the character plot of Adrian Gil Spear's prize film, "Phil and Delphine." (By the way, that is the work-ing title. Like Mr. Griffith and all the great producers, Mr. Spear may have to change the name before production.) The Metro Pictures Corporation will "cast" the film with the leaders of the contest when it closes. There are seven girls, a woman, a child and three men in the character plot as it now stands, but these 12 are not the only important actors. Every small "bit" can be made a startling part by the actor to whom it falls. Especially in comedy the can be made a startling part by the actor to whom it falls. Especially in comedy the small part can shine. The Photoplay Editor recalls many comedies in which one character, entering for perhaps 100 feet of film. carried off honors and was shortly starred. Also in companies of established reputation to the property of the carried of the carried of a companies of catabilished reputation. It is not unusual for a "star player" to take

Contestants are urged to study the fol-lowing characterization. If you think that you are especially fitted for any one part, hurry on with your votes and you will get that part.

Philander Van Duzen - Our hero. Doug Fairbanks, Jack Barrymore, Max Fig. man sort of character. A big-hearted, thoroughly likable, "nothing-to-do-'til-to-morrow" young man about town. A clubman with a valet and $200,000 a year. Aside from that he's all right. Dresses in the reight of fashion.

Delphine Drayton-Our herofne. girl with a real purpose in life. Works in the interest of the poor. Lovable, popular, unaffected, beautiful (of course). Has deep love for children—the dirtier the dearer. Her family has lived in Ritten-house square since Broad street was a

The most beautiful and popular girls of these localities. Friends of Delphine's, her helpers in day-nursery projects. All ex-flames of Phil's.

Podgers - Phil's perfect English manservant, called "pie-face" for short, and there's a reason. Austere, a butt for Phil's jokes, but very fond of him.

Methuselah II—An antique proprietor of an antique shop. Very deaf, a rather pa-thetic figure but humorous.

Lizette-Delphine's maid. A bit.

Katrina—A scrub woman at Phil's club. His "mother" for $10. Tot—A slum child denizen of Rittenhouse square. A little girl of from 4 to 6. Very pathetic and dirty.

Minor characters—Children, all sorts and conditions—rich children, poor children, bad children, good children. Their parents (mostly mothers), postman, policeman, fire-men, telephone operators, carpenters, ex-pressmen, crew of department store delivery wagons, clubmen, clerk in Caldwell's, clerks at Ledger Central, messenger, oyster saloon man, wagon boss at Evening Ledger office, two old maids, a bride and groom, shoppers and more children.

The organ in the Belmont Theater is unique in the east, owing to its placing in the rear of the house, in two sound-proof chambers whence the tone is thrown against the concrete celling and blended more per-fectly than is often possible when the or-gan is directly in front of the audience. It is electrically controlled in every respect by the organist from his position at the con-sole in the orchestra pit.

The instrumentation is very complete, embracing three open strings, muted string, two flutes, piccolo, clarinet, trumpet, tuba, horn, the powerful diapason phonon and tibia and a very fine vox humana. In addition there are cathedral chimes, orcres-tra bells or glockenspiel and other accessories which the hearers will appreciate.

& H. M. Warner have secured the rights to all the Elia Wheeler Wilcox poems for filming and propose to release them in the form of two reelers at the rate of one a week, commencing the latter part of September. The scenarios are to be made by Ruth Helen Davis and the pictures are to be disposed of via State rights. The name of the first one is "A Married Coquette." The four principal members of the company engaged to enact these scenarios are Arthur Ashley, Walter Miller, Lucille Taft, Carlotta de Felice.

WALNUT STREET TAILOR DEAD

Erick H. Peterson, a Mason and Affiliated With Business Associations. Was 49 Years Old

Erick H. Peterson, a Walnut street tailor. who enjoyed the patronage of many of Philadelphia's leading business and society men, died at midnight Saturday at his home, 1525 North Eighteenth street. Al-though he had been ill for several months, his recovery had been expected.

Mr. Peterson conducted a shop at 1119
Walnut street. He was 49 years old and is survived by a widow, two sons and a daughter. His sons are Erick, Jr., aged 23, and Philip, 18. Born in Stockholm, he left Sweden at the age of 18. He was educated in the public schools of his native country, and he learned tailoring immediately following his arrival here. He was successful from the start of his career. Mr. Peterson was a member of the board of directors of the Walnut Street Business Association and also belonged to the Rotary Club. He was prominent in the Masonic fraternity. He and his family attended the Messiah Lutheran Church, Sixteenth and Jefferson streets.

Wife of Berks County Prison Inspector Defendant in Claim for Damages

READING, Pa., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Ellen N. Miller, wife of one of the Berks prison in-spectors, was made defendant in a $5000 damage suit brought in court here today by Mrs. Carrie Becker, who accusses Mrs. Miller of throwing her down a flight of stairs in a Penn street apartment house, two weeks ago.

Mrs. Miller suffered a fractured hip and a dislocated collarbone and has been in the hospital ever since. Her husband also demands $2500 for loss of services and medi-cal attention.

KIMBALL ORGAN

At the Belmont Theater the silent drama ceases to be silent. The Kimball Organ puts life and emotion on the screen and registers, in sound, every human appeal as it is expressed on the film, thereby giving naturalness and realism to the story.

Every combination of sound and tone can be produced by this instrument. No human orchestra or group of musicians could pos-sibly equal the variety or quickness of manipulation which is now possible with this wonderful instrument. Where can you secure greater enjoyment than witnessing a photoplay production of America's leading stars, accompanied by music that combines the grandeur of the Cathedral Organ and the Symphony Or-
