HUNTINGDON VALLEY CADDIES DEFY ALL CITY BAG-TOTERS TO TAKE GOLF TEAM TITLE

Beat York Road for Bunting, Then Issue Defi—Some Great Matches

By SANDY McNIBLICK

CAPTAIN FREDERICK BRICKER, of the champion Huntingdon Valley caddy team, ordered the other six little fellows on his team today to take a rest and a light workout for the rest of the week.

"Cap" Bricker is not quite as high as two medium putters, but he's about the biggest and oldest member of the team, besides playing No. 1, so his word is law.

Captain Bricker said today he would give due consideration to the aspirations of any club team of caddies which might wish to take the caddy championship title away from his team, but looked for his band to give all comers a severe trouncing.

His good men were equally confident.

"They ain't no bunch in the city kin try to beat us," he said, "but the city kin try to beat us. The faster they come the quicker we kin lick 'em."

The age limit is set at 16 years, the number of men on a team at seven, and the crown to be decided by the flip of a coin.

Crown Changes Brows

Huntingdon Valley won the blue bunting yesterday after a bitter struggle with the York Road caddies by the score of four matches to three, and by a wide margin of points.

York Road had previously claimed the championship by a victory over Philmont, which had beaten some other team which had beaten some other team, and so on.

Thus, the title comes to the Noble caddies by straight succession. Some fine matches were brought out when the crown changed heads yesterday at Huntingdon Valley.

The big match was that between Captain Bricker, H. V. C. C., and Captain Louie Riddell, O. Y. R. C. Riddell came out as one of the best caddy players in Philadelphia. He was said to have shot a 78 at York Road when he beat the champion of the club, 6 and 5. But Bricker, missing about six putts less than two feet, knocked out the York Road caddy by the heels, 5 and 3.

A sample of their play may be had from the 325-yard third hole. Bricker was home in three shots, but far from the pin. Riddell, on the other hand, was in the hole in three. He laid his ball from the sand, over an other pit, down to the hole, and got his 5. Bricker ran up his long putt in a game try for a bird, but got a half. The caddy of players often take 6 or worse on this hole. The caddy cards with the bye holes, follow:

Bricker—
Out... 4 5 5 4 5 5 5 5—44
In... 3 5 4 6 4 4 6 7—43—87

Riddell—
Out... 4 4 5 5 5 5 5 5—47
In... 4 4 5 5 5 5 5 5—52—99

As for the match which was played on the nineteenth hole, when Jimmie O'Connell, a round-eyed Irish ripper of the Huntingdon Valley team, was put out by William Kelly, another emerald rebel.

The York road carrier was three down almost at the start, but showed the stuff that starts when he came back on the last nine. He was even on the fifteenth with 4 when O'Connell took three putts.

K-E Double L-Y

Kelly carried almost a whole shopful of clubs, put his drive to the sixteenth in a game try for a bird, but got a half. The caddy of players often take 6 or worse on this hole. The caddy cards with the bye holes, follow:

Kelly—

Tomorrow's Tournaments and Today's Tee Talk

Privileges of playing over the links of the Huntingdon Valley caddy team, ordered the other six little fellows on his team today to take a rest and a light workout for the rest of the week.

"Cap" Bricker is not quite as high as two medium putters, but he's about the biggest and oldest member of the team, besides playing No. 1, so his word is law.

Captain Bricker said today he would give due consideration to the aspirations of any club team of caddies which might wish to take the caddy championship title away from his team, but looked for his band to give all comers a severe trouncing.

His good men were equally confident.

"They ain't no bunch in the city kin try to beat us," he said, "but the city kin try to beat us. The faster they come the quicker we kin lick 'em."

The age limit is set at 16 years, the number of men on a team at seven, and the crown to be decided by the flip of a coin.

Just naturally jumped his ball over the stymie into the hole. His careless nonchalance astounded all present. Most of all it flabbergasted poor four-foot Jimmie.

The Huntingdon Valley caddy was so upset he put his drive to the eighteenth out of bounds, losing the hole, and his five on the extra hole was not good enough for the par figures of Kelly.

Another nineteenth-hole match, went against Huntingdon Valley when Fred Coates was beaten by Frank McKee, of Old York Road. Coates was in the rough even with the pit on the eighteenth, while McKee was also very short and in the pit.

The tiny Noble caddy brought a great burst of handclapping from the gallery at the finish, when he bent back and shot his ball out of the clumping grass on the green. It rolled almost off.

McKee saw things were looking gloomy so he walloped his ball for all his young strength was worth and landed with a thud not five feet from the pin.

Geel! A Caddy Blushes

Caddy was considerably fussed by the gathering. He hurriedly ran up to his ball and putted to within three feet of the tin. McKee was also rattled and was two feet away from a downhill putt. Coates ran up, and a funny story quickly sank his wicked putt, convinced McKee he decidedly unsure last-chance putt, and beat it quickly from the gallery to the nineteenth tee.

His Caddy was a 7-year-old brother, about as big as the bag. McKee's caddy was his "baby" brother, also, and the two tiny caddies went after each other almost as much as their "big" brothers did.

Jack McDermott, no relation to the former one-and-only, had the honor of trimming Francis Cortin, Old York Road, the youngest caddy in the franchise. Cortin is only 12 years old and was licked, 5 and 3.

"Ge whiz, I'd get in a pit 'n I couldn't see nuffin," he said in explaining his defeat.

Leave Cuthbert, pro at Huntingdon Valley, was one of those in the gallery who frequently expressed his admiration for the play of the youngsters.

"Just the way I learned to play the game," he said, waving his hand at the little fellows scattered all over the course.

"We used to play when we were kids in Scotland, all the kids in town. I played almost as good a game at St. Andrew's when I was that high as I do now, home in two most of the time and down in two more every time."

The result of the matches yesterday follows:

Fred Bricker, H. V., defeated Louie Riddell, O. Y. R., 4 and 3.

Frank McKee, O. Y. R., defeated Myron Fitzgibbon, H. V., 5 and 3.

Jack McDermott, H. V., defeated Joseph Barry, O. Y. R., 4 and 3.

Stumpy Brown, H. V., defeated Joseph Cortin, O. Y. R., 5 and 3.

Y. R. V. R., defeated Fred Coates, H. V., on the 19th hole.

Jack McDermott, H. V., defeated Francis Cortin, O. Y. R., 5 and 3.

championship match with George Chaney at Cedar Point, O. Labor Day. Glinley signs along the same line as the Baltimore crowd which Chaney has fought Chaney and made George show his best.

Frankie Conway, who boxed in great shape two years ago and gave Champion Kid Williams several tough fights, is back in the ring, but says he will not box again unless he can put himself in good shape. Unless I feel sure that I can box in winning form, says Frankie, "I will not start again."

An offer of $1000 has been made Kid Williams for a match with Benny Chaney in Kansas City. The champion is holding out for $2000 more and if Billy McGovern, who is a matchmaker in Kansas, can make definite arrangements the bout will be staged some time in September.

It is apparent that the Buenos Aires boxing carnival has resulted in a rank failure. Several fighters and managers have wired for money to get home. It is said the promoters have not come through in paying guarantees to the boxers. Everything would be all right, but something back is bad business with the present shark arena.

As in baseball, upsets sometimes prove a feature in the boxing game. The knock-out victory scored by Tommy Jansson over Eddie Hinkle at the Washington Sporting Club last night was a big surprise. Both lads possess terrific wallop, and it was a case of "beating the other to the punch." But Hinkle ruled a favorite because of his advantage in experience. Eddie, however, walked into a left hander in the second round and it was curtains for Mr. Hinkle's fighting stock.

COLLEGE AND CLUB STARS DIVIDE HONORS

Bew Defeats Wilson in Best Match Played for South Jersey Tennis Title

OCEAN CITY, N. J., Aug. 22.—College and club stars divided the honors in the second day's play in the South Jersey tennis championship on the courts of the Ocean City Yacht Club yesterday.

Perhaps the best match of the day was that between Walter T. Bew, Swarthmore College, and Edwin Wilson, West Chester Golf and Country Club, the collegian winning after a stubbornly contested three-set match, 6-3, 3-5, 6-3. Bew followed up this victory by a rather easy win over Harry Skinner, of Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-4.

FORBES' FIELD, Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 22.—Eskine Mayer was set against the Pirates in the first game today in an effort to break the jinx which has pursued the Phillies in this city this season.

Manager Moran was very much peeved at the loss of yesterday's double-header and admits that he will be satisfied now if the Phillies capture two of the remaining games here.

The veteran Bob Harmon, who has not been pitching very good ball this season, was on the mound for the Pirates, and this gave the Phils hope, as they figured two runs would not win the game.

Pittsburgh was the hottest of the year in Pittsburgh and the players lacked ginger. Mayer was greeted with a bombardment of slashing hits in the opening inning.

Warner led off with a line single past Baneroff and took third on Carey's long double to right. After Schulte had fouled to Stock, Hinchman scored both runners with another line single to right.

PUGILISTIC LABOR DAY WORKERS WILL SEPARATE PUBLIC FROM BANK ROLLS

Next Monday's Schedule in Ring Arduous but Not Gratuitous—White Has Heavy Task Laid Out for Him

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL

LABOR DAY will be fittingly celebrated in these United States, a week from next Monday. Union men throughout the country will be quite active, but the members of the boxers' union are scheduled to put in the busiest day of the year.

Many of our best-known pugilists, who are so far advanced in pugilistic art that they can look a promoter straight in the eye and demand $10,000 for a few rounds' work with a soft opponent, are on the cards as star attractions.

This pugilistic "labor" will be a hard day's work, but not gratuitous. In fact, several bankrolls will be fattened considerably on September 4.

As examples, we mention the following: Johnny Kilbane, $10,000, for 45 minutes of light exercise.

George Chaney, $5000, for three-fifths of an hour's very hard work.

Carl Morris, $15,000 or more, if the "gate" is good.

Frank Moran, $10,000 for 15 rounds, if he lasts that long.

Charles White, $4500 for an hour's marathon run after Freddy Welsh.

Freddy Welsh, $15,500 for keeping away from White's left hook for 20 rounds.

Jack Dillon, $10,000 for 30 minutes' labor against some ham in New York.

Other Battles

There are other battles to be fought, but the participants will not grab off any of the soft kale. Johnny Erlic mingles with Benny Kauffman at the Olympia and admits that he will be satisfied now if the Phillies capture two of the remaining games here.

The veteran Bob Harmon, who has not been pitching very good ball this season, was on the mound for the Pirates, and this gave the Phils hope, as they figured two runs would not win the game.

Pittsburgh was the hottest of the year in Pittsburgh and the players lacked ginger. Mayer was greeted with a bombardment of slashing hits in the opening inning.

Warner led off with a line single past Baneroff and took third on Carey's long double to right. After Schulte had fouled to Stock, Hinchman scored both runners with another line single to right.

Kilbane has started training for the fray and will be well under weight in a week or so. Chaney has been working at a summer resort outside of Baltimore, and is said to be in good shape. He now weighs 155 lbs. and will get down to the featherweight limit easily and still be strong.

Chaney will leave for Cedar Point, O., where the mill will be staged, next Sunday, when he will finish his training.

Welsh, 129½ Pounds!

Speaking of weights, Freddy Welsh put one over on the Dear Old Public in Denver the other day. He has been in West getting into shape for his mix-up with White and has been burning up the roads near Denver. After a hard workout he stepped on the scales and tipped the beam at 129½ pounds. It is hard to believe, as Freddy weighed 143 when he was boxing here last winter and never scaled under 150 for any of his big battles.

New York. However, the Commissioner of Seals and Weights of the city of Denver tested the scales, and then did the weighing, and to make it look right, he issued a signed report stating that everything was correct.

If Freddy really weighed under 130, he has surprised every one, and we must cease punning him about not being able to make the lightweight limit.

White is confident of flattening the champion on Labor Day, and has wired all of his friends in Chicago to knock the family jewels and bet as much as they can on his chances.

Chaney has been trimmed three times by Welsh in no-decision bouts, but he cares nothing for that. He has a bench that time to win has come, and showed it when he met Freddy in Denver the other day.

"Hello, Freddy," said Chaney.

"Hello," replied Welsh.

"You know I helped you win the championship," continued White.

"Yes," said Welsh; "you gave Ritchie a terrible beating before I met him."

"And now," retorted the challenger, "I am going to take it away from you."
