REPUBLICAN FACTIONS HERE AGREE TO TRUCE IN INTEREST OF HUGHES

Will Forget Differences Until Next Spring to Work Unitedly for National Issues

CONTEST FOR OFFICES

A truce until next spring has been de clared between the warring factions of the Republican Organization in this city. They have agreed to stop factional fighting until after the presidential election, and will not continue the war they have bitterly waged for three years, except in a minor way, until next apring, when the county election will be held.

Both the Vares and the Penrose-McNichol factional leaders have come to an agree-ment to let factional differences alone until next year's election. The word has been officially passed in political circles that, for the sake of the national ticket, both factions will postpone hostilities within the organization for the rest of the year, and will work together for the election of Outcroppings of factional differences of miner nature are expected, but the truce will be observed in the principal things, ac-cording to leaders of both sides. There will be contests for appointments, and over the election of a few minor officials, but the factional fight will not go any further than that this year.

The full in the factional warfare is, however, only temporary. Next year the county officers are to be elected, and both factions have their eyes on offices now held by the opposing faction. Maneuvering already has started to capture the offices to be filled, and one of the most bitter campaigns since the Vares first disputed the Penrose-McNichol leadership is expected.

The following offices are to be filled next year: Receiver of Taxes, City Treasurer, Register of Wills, District Attorney, succesors to Common Pleas Judges Bregy, McMichael, Ferguson and Staake, all six Congressmen from Philadelphia, 20 Select Councilmen and all members of Common Council, and successors to Magistrates Mac-Farland, Elsenbrown, Rooney, Tracy and Borie.

While a bitter fight will be made for control of Councils, both factions are now maneuvering to gain control of the principal county offices to be filled. The Vares, according of the cording to politicians, have their eyes on the District Attorney's office and on the Register of Wills. They are planning to eppose the re-election of both Rotan and Sheehan, according to the other leaders.

The Penrose-MeNichol forces, in retaliation will geht the Varse for the other two tion, will fight the Vares for the other two offices to be filled. They will place candi-dates in the field against Receiver Kendrick and City Treasurer McCoach, both of whom are followers of the Vares.

MARY PICKFORD ALL BY HERSELF

She Is a Pictures Corporation and She Has a Distributing Organization, Strictly Private

By the Photoplay Editor

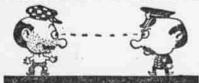

The inevitable has happened to Mary Pickford. Individualism in the films, shown in the cases of Clara Kimball Young. Charles Chaplin, Herbert Brenon and others, has attacked Miss Mary. She is now the name part and sole attraction of the Mary Pickford Pictures Corporation, and the Arteraft Pictures Corporation is to distribute the product, out of program. The Arteraft is new, and it looks very much as if it had been formed for Mary Pickford particularly.

That means that Mistress Mary is not to appear on any regular list. In her signed announcement to the public she says:

"In announcing the formation of the Mary Pickford Film Corporation, I want to first express my gratitude for the co-operation of the exhibitors, everywhere, and also for the generous response of the public in bringing success to my efforts and various creations on the screen Sursiv without aither tions on the screen. Surely without either no one can have progressed and in my instance our work together has been so full of happiness that it makes doubly treasured the success that has come to us.

"In the selection of scenarios, the casting of companies, the direction, production and character creating of motion pictures, I am sure that I have learned something every day, and that I will keep on acquiring this knowledge. And that is just why I want to use it to the best advantage in guiding my own company, which will now produce all of the plays in which I am to be seen.

"Let's take a walk and see our friend Bill Harris," said the cop, "maybe he can fix you up in some new clothes." Bill agreed. The cop escorted him into an office—and then Bill gasped, for the Bill Harris was none other than Magistrate Harris, whom Bill had met before.
"I told this fellow," said the cop "that you could fix him up in a new suit of ciothes. He tried the old relative gag on me and it cost me a quarter to get him right." You can have a new suit tomorrow," said the Judge, "and wear it for three months in the House of Correction."

Bill Dever can find his double in any part of the city. He is bald after the fashion that most men are. He has what might be called a standard nose of the door knob architecture. His old fashioned mustache resembles many which he encountered under the noses of many men here and there.

Bill's chief aim in life is to hunt down men who look like him. His latest discovery in this line was a West Philadelphia cop, Bill stood beside the policeman for a few minutes. He was delighted to
