

PICTORIAL REPRODUCTIONS OF WHAT IS MOST NOVEL IN THE WORLD'S EVER-CHANGING ARENA

AMERICAN ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY MEETS AT SWARTHMORE

The country's greatest astronomers meet today at Sproul Observatory, shown above. The photograph at the left is the birthplace of David Rittenhouse, Philadelphia's first astronomer. The insert shows the dome of the Central High School, the only high school in the United States equipped with a first-class observatory.

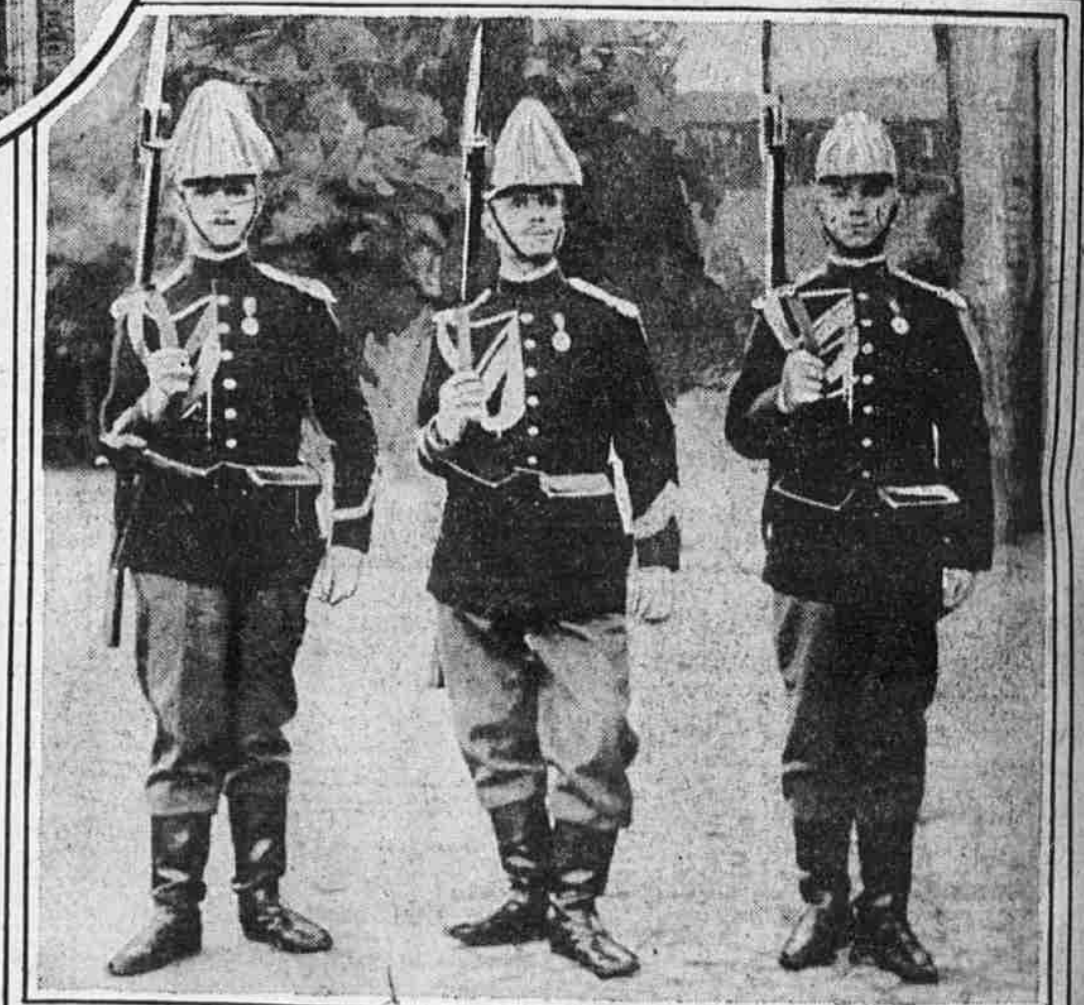

Photo by Central News Photo Service.

WAR IS NOT ALL THAT SHERMAN SAID IT WAS
"Tommy Atkins" is as fearless in love as in war. He is showing not only that it pays to be wounded, but that two arms, as well as two heads, are better than one.

Photo from International News Service.

SHE WOULD BE A MILITARY AIR SCOUT
Miss Dorothy Rice has offered her services to the United States to serve with the army aero corps now on the border. If accepted, she will be the first female aviator to see service.

Copyright, Central News Service.

TYPES OF MEN IN RUMANIAN ARMY

This trio of infantrymen is representative of the soldiers who are the latest to be plunged into the great European war.

FROM COAST TO COAST AND BACK AGAIN BY AUTO

William S. Newell, 166 Manheim street, on the right, and Howard Lassen, 5308 Wayne avenue, have just returned from their 10,000-mile trip to the Pacific coast. They left Philadelphia June 10 and started back from San Francisco July 26. They reached the EVENING LEDGER office yesterday.

WHERE RUMANIA IS POURING TROOPS INTO HUNGARY

The Toemes Pass, which is shown here, shares with the Red Tower Pass the distinction of being the first battleground of the Rumanian troops in the present war. The boundary line between Transylvania and King Ferdinand's domain is formed by the Carpathian Mountains and affords few vantage points for entrance. The Toemes Pass is one of these.

Photo by Central News Photo Service.