

PICTURESQUE HAPPENINGS IN THE NEWS OF THE DAY PORTRAYED BY THE CAMERA MAN

REVIVAL SERVICES STIR NEW JERSEY TOWN
Audubon, N. J., is undergoing a religious awakening. The tabernacle services, conducted by Ira Evans Hicks and his party, are now entering upon their third week.

SWARTHMORE'S EMBARGO AGAINST CONTAGION
Miss Pauline Bailey, newly appointed health inspector in the Main Line town, is seen compelling a young horsemen (below) and a juvenile joy rider (above) to produce their health certificates.

OLD STATE HOUSE RESUMES ITS ORIGINAL APPEARANCE
The row of wooden posts placed along the front of Independence Hall is an exact replica of the hitching posts used in colonial days, when members of the Continental Congress used to drive to the State House and tie their horses outside of the now historic building. This addition was the last step in restoring the hall to its original appearance of more than a century ago.

GIVING FIREARMS A FIT BURIAL
Chicago police are seen dumping the year's collection of weapons taken from convicted criminals into Lake Michigan.

PHILADELPHIA'S CHIEF ARGUMENT IN ITS CAMPAIGN FOR A DEEPER CHANNEL IN THE DELAWARE RIVER
Leagues Island again becomes interesting as advance delegates to the Deeper Waterways Convention begin to arrive in this city to complete preliminary arrangements. The Philadelphia Navy Yard is never idle and prospective shipbuilding plans indicate a dawning era of unprecedented activity.
