

Betrothals of Miss Wright and Mr. Hoffman and Miss Page and Doctor Laird Prove Topics of Social Interest to Many Fashionables

man.

street,

So Fenno Hoffman and Marie Wright 1931 North Thirty-second street, at her bungalow, the White Owl. d, for it was really a case of love first sight-on Mr. Hoffman's part at rate-and now you will wonder, my ar, how I know that; but whan't I at he Assembly last year, and didn't I hear Fenne say to another girl who had made debut very near the time Marie did: The been introduced to Marie Wright! My, but she is an attractive And immediately did I think unto elf, "Now, could any two persons be tter matched?" Marie is the daughter the Rev. Mr. Harrison Wright, and I understand, very much interested in the things in which he is engaged, while to, who is the son of Mrs. J. Ogden fman, is of a spiritual turn of mind also. And there you are! Now comes news of their engagement. That was the first Assembly, so you see they have nown each other for nearly eight Marie's sister Sibyl married ousy Coates in Easter week of this year. on that famous Saturday when so many our social lights took unto themselves gives. Among others was the wedding Henrietta Large and May Easby, who rere married in St. James's Church, at Punty-second and Walnut streets.

Another engagement of interest to sodety is that of Matilda Coleman Page. caughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Page, of Fairfax, Va., and niece of the author and Ambassador to Italy, Thomas Nelson Page, to Dr. J. Packard Laird, of Devon. Packard Laird, who is a grandson of the ate Rev. Dr. Joseph Packard, who was dean of the Theological Seminary of Virinta for a number of years, is also a uphew of Philip Laird, of Maryland. His parents lived in Virginia and Packard came up to Philadelphia to study medi-He was stationed at the Polyclinic pital as an interne at the same time that a number of southern doctors were there, among them Dr. Edward Lengle, of Jacksonville, Fin., and Dr. Joseph Price, of Virginia, who is now practicing in the Adirondacks. * octor Laird settied out in Devon as an assistant to one of the best-known practitioners there, and at his death succeeded to the greater part of his work. He has won many riends during his years in and about Philadelphia, and expressions of pleasure and hopes for his future happiness are expressed on every side.

How comforting our children can prove themselves at times. An attracive young mother, who is a widow with three small children, told me not long ago of the consolation her small son had meted out to her one morning when talking with her in the wee sma' hours when most of us sleep. "Mother," said "when you are old and die I shall put flowers on your grave, and when wither I'll bring fresh ones." She thanked him kindly, but did not seem overwhelmed with the attention. It all came from seeing a movie where a boy had to accept a stepmother, and a picture of him was shown carrying daisies to his mother's grave. Is there anything sweeter in this world than the beart of a little child?

NANCY WYNNE.

Personals Mr. and Mrs. George H. Earle, Jr., Miss Rith Earle, Miss Gladys H. Earle and Mr. Raph Earle, who have been spending some

Mrs. John Dunn, Jr., has returned from Chelsea and is at Pelham Court, where she will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Mercur and their son have returned to their home, 348 Church lane, from Stone Harbor, where they spent the summer, Miss Margaret Deirick and Miss Ros Defrick have returned to the r home, 1280 Haines street, after a ten-day trip to Boston, Mass.

Miss Helen Homilier and Miss Marion Homilier spent the last two weeks at Town Miss Town and Mr. Stockley won the prize for the elimination dance. The other prize winners were Miss Peterson, Miss Haight Mr. Irwin, Mr. Sel

West Philadelphia

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Wallace and their family who have been specified the summer at Bryn Mawr, have returned to their town house, 4244 Chestnut street.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Foster, of Man-tua, N. J., have returned from a three weeks stay in Charlotte, N. C. and Louis-ville, Ky. Mrs. Foster, before her marriage in Northern Britscher Britscher Brucht November, was Miss Elizabeth Buck-

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Bennett and their family have returned to their home. 5309 Catharine street, having spent the summer in Chelsea. Miss Louise Moore. of 5333 Catharine street, who was the guest of Miss Margaret Bennett, returned home last week.

Mrs. C. B. Ayers, of 11 North Sixty-third street, who is at Bantam Lake, Conn., will return to her home in October.

Wod

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday party was given last week to Miss Margaret Thompson, at her Home, 105 South Fifty-first street. Miss Thompson 's secretary of the Sixteen Club. Among those present were Miss Buth Haight. Mr. Edward Wiler. Miss Madeline Town, Mr. John Stockley, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Irwin, Miss Marjorie Wilner, Mr. Richard Scholes, Mr. Jose Limquico, Mr. Harold S. Gobinson, Mrs. L. O. Kolb, Mr and Mrs. C Stolinson, Mrs. L. O. Kolb, Mr and Mrs. C William Whaley, Mrs. C. Snyder, Mr. C. Groves, Mrs. J. Wehrbein, Mr. F. Galloway, Mr. Barry Noeding, and Mr. and Mrs. S. H.

les and Mr. Ro A party was given at the Spokane Club house by the club on Sunday evening. Sep-tember 2, on the orcasion of the reopening of the clubhouse to visitors for the fall. Among these present were Miss Rose Nad-ler, Miss Henrietta Burton, Miss J. Jaffe ler, Miss Henrichta Burton, Miss J. Jaffe Miss Harriet Schwartz, Miss Kathryn Gould, Miss Leona Buell, Miss D. Winokur, Miss Dana Humphries, Mr. Leo Leonard, Mr. John Friedman, Mr. M. Neff, Mr. W. Friedman, Mr. M. Goldstein, Mr. Albert Lunker, Mr. John James, Mr. J. Sezal, Mr. J. Eigart, Mr. Mack Horg, Mr. B. Hur-witz, Mr. L. Gold, Mr. Theodore Weinstein and Mr. J. West.

The Alumni Association of the Hebrew

Education Society held a meeting on W nesslay evening in the school auditorin corner Tenth and Carpenter streets. nteresting program followed the business meeting. Final plans were made for the fifth anniversary, to be celebrated in Oc-

MISS MARIE STARR Miss Starr "starred" in a society vaudeville given in Cape May Sep-tember 5 and 6. She appeared in a dance specialty

STNOPS18

BYNOPEIS The S. S. Sirdar, one of the largest vessels o the London and Mangkows Company, is wreaks in a typhoon in the China Seo. Among thos on board are it being the second second and the Deanse, the only duminist of Sir John and Lady Toar, friends of the Deanse furthing a conversation in the sales before to strange and the sales of the best second second marries and the sales of the second second function and and Toar asks frist when she is i marries to the same lue on sir John's bead. The Stedar mas shifting rinder through the constant of the typhoon and is presenting with contrastive safety, when a strike a disable children be board as the small vessel with a bead.

and the liner drifts happings upon some books where it is for assumer. It is and Kohert Jerks, he structed who was so despity affred by the mentions of Lord Venture's name, are the only mentions of Lord Venture's name, are the only interdest. fords in, exploring the island finds a quarty ith a number of skeletons. He then sheris to being he continues his scientific and finds a well with crystal clear cave. Hetween the two is the head Area in the cave, in which Jonka nuclea a vin antimony. Knowing that the inhord that is p path of the Dyaks, a tribo of pirates which feats this region. Jonka rescues several bayes firearms and amminition, which have been all upon a reef off the shore. While at work is attacked by a devillable from whose itches he is rescued by Iris. s rinds bitand pirates several

CHAPTER VI

FIERCE emotions are necessarily transient, but for the hour they exhaust the sychic capacity. The sailor had gone through such mental stress before it was et noon that he was/benumbed, wholly incapable of further sensation. Seneca tells how the island of Theresaea arose in a moment from the sea, thereby astounding ancient mariners, as well it might. Had this manifestation been repeated within a cable's length from the reef. Jenks was in mood to accept it as befitting the new of things.

Reing in good condition, he soon recov ered, his physical powers. He was out-wordly little the worse for the encounter with the devilfish. The skin around his nouth was sore. His waist and legs were bruised. One sweep of the ax had cut clean through the bulging leather of his boot without touching the flesh. In a word, he was virtually uninjured. He had the dogike habit of shaking himself at the close of a fray. He did so now when he stood up. Iris showed clearer signs of the ordeal. Her face was drawn he was virtually uninjured. and haggard, the pupils of her eyes dilated. She was gazing into depths, illimitable, un-explored. Compassion awoke at sight of

"Come," said Jenks, gently. "Let us get back to the island." He quietly resumed predominance, helping her over the rough pathway of the reef, almost lifting her when the difficulties were great.

did not ask her how it happened He that she came so speedily to his assistance. Enough that she had done it, daring all for his sake. She was weak and trembling. With the acute vision of the soul she saw again, and yet again, the deadly malice of again, and yet again, the deadly malice of the octopus, the divine despair of the man. Reaching the firm sand, she could walk alone. She limped. Instantly her' com-panion's blunted emotions quickened into life. He caught her arm and said hoarsely: "Are you hurt in any way?" The question brought her back from dreamland. A waking nightmare was hap-oily obstanced into dim fragments. She pily shattered into dim fragments. She pily shattered into dim fragments. She even strove to smille unconcernedly. "It is nothing," she murmured. "I stum-bled on the rocks. There is no sprain. Merely a blow, a bit of skin rubbed off, above my ankle." "Let me carry you." "The idea! Carry me! I will race the save " you to the cave." as no idle jest. She wanted to run-to get away from that inky blotch in the green water. You are sure it is a trifle?"

"You are sure it is a triffe?" "Quite sure. My stocking chafes a lit-tle; that is all. See, I will show you." She stopped, and with the quick sk II of woman, rolled down the stocking on her

There, and elsewhere. All over at once, felt like. The beast attacked me with felt like.

She shuddered "I don't know how you ould fight it." she said. "How strong, ow brave you must be."

This amused him. "The veriest coward Il try to save his own life," he answered 'If you use such adjectives to me, what words can I find to do justice to you, who 11 dated to come close to such a vile-looking creature and kill it. I must thank my stars that you carried the revolver." "Ah !" she said, "that reminds me. You do not practice what you preach. I found your pistol lying on the stone in the cave. That is one reason why I followed you."

It was quite true. He laid the weapon uside when delving at the rock and forgot replace it in his belt.

"It was stupid of me," he admitted ; "but I am not not sorry.

"Because, as it is, I owe you my life." "You ows me nothing." she snapped. "It is very thoughtless of you to run such fisks. What will become of me if anything appens to you? My point of view is pure solfish, you see.

"Quite so. Purely selfish." He smiled adly. "Selfish people of your type are omewhat rare. Miss Deane." adly Not a conversation worth noting, per-haps, save in so far as it is typical of the tr to ulterances of people striving to recover tremendous erdeal. Epigram delivered at the foot of the scaffold have aiways been carefully prepared heforeband. The bandage was ready; one end was well senked in brandy. She moved toward the cave, but he cried... "What for?" "I want to get

"I must go back there." He jerked his head in the direction of the reef. She uttered a little sob of dismay. "I will incur no danger the time." he explained. "I found rifles there. We must have them; they may mean salvation." When iris was determined about any-thing her chin dimpled. It puckered de-lightfully now. plained.

"I will come with you," she announced

"Very well. I will wait for you. The tide will serve for another hour." He knew he had decided rightly. She could not bear to be alone-yet. Soon the could not bear to be alone—yet. Soon the bandage was adjusted and they returned to the reef. Scrambling now with diffi-culty over the rough and dangerous track. Iris was secretly amazed by the remem-brance of the daring activity she displayed due to the second secon during her carlier passage along the same precarious roadway

Then she darted from rock to rock with the fearless certainty of a chamola. Her only stumble was caused, she recollected, by an absurd effort to avoid wetting her dress. She laughed nervously when they reached the place. This time Jeaks lifted her across the intervening channel. "Is that the spot where you fell?" he asked, tenderly

"Yes; how did you guess it?" "I read it in your eyes." "Then please do not read my eyes, but book where you are going." "Perhaps I was doing that too." he said. They were standing on the landward side of the shallow water in which he fought the octopus. Already the dark fluid emitted by his assailant in its final discomfiture was pass-ing away, owing to the slight movement of the tide.

Iris was vaguely conscious of a double Tris was vaguely conscious of a double meaning in his words. She did not trouble to analyze them. All she knew was that the man's voice conveyed a subtle acknowl-edgment of her feminine divinity. The re-sultant thrill of happiness startled, even dismayed her. This incluient flirtation must be put a stop to instantly.

They each drank a small quantity, and the generous smirit brought color to their wan checks. The saling showed Iris how to fasten a handage by twisting the muslin round the upper part of his boot. For the first time she saw the cut made by the ax. "Did—the thing—grip you there?" she nervously inquired. "There, and elsewhere. All over at once. tautness that could not be attained by any nount of pulling. It is watched the operation in silence. The blor always looked at his best when hard amount of at work. The half-sullen, self-contained express oft his face, which lit up with enthusiasm and concentrated intelligence. That which he essayed he did with all his might. Will power and physical force worked harmoniusly. She had never before seen such a man. He, toiling with steady persistence. not the inward spur which sought relief in speech, but Iris was compelled to say something.

"I mipp e," she commented w th an air of much wisdom. "you are contriving an over-head rallway for the safe trans t of your-self and the goods?"

"Y-Yes."

"Why are you so doubtful about it?" "Because I personally intended to walk across. The ropes will serve to convey the sonable socuracy, and a little observation will enable us to correct any mistakes." "You are really very clever, Mr. Jenka," said Iris, with childlike candor. "Have you spent several years of your life in pre-paring for residence on a desert island" "Something of the sort. I have led a queer kind of existence, fall of useless pur-poses. Fate has driven me into a corner packages. She rose imperiously. "I absolutely for-bid you to enter the water again. Such a suggestion on your part is qu'te shameful. You are taking a grave risk for no very great gain that I can see, and if anything happens to you I shall be left all alone in this awful place. happens to you I this awful place.

She could think of no better argument. only resource was a woman's expedient-a plea for protection against threatening Its poses. Fate has driven me into a corner where my odds and ends of knowledge are actually valuable. Such accidents make men millionaires." "Usclens purposes!" she repeated. "I "Useless purposes!" she repeated. "I can hardly credit that. One uses such a phrase to describe fuesy people, alive with foolish activity. Your wo.st enemy would not place you in such a category." "My worst enemy 'made the phrase ef-fective at any rate. Miss Deane." "You mean that he ruined your career ?" "Well-er-yes. I suppose that describes the position with fair accuracy." "Was he a very great acoundrel?" "He was, and is." Jenks spoke with quiet bitterness. The piri's words had evoked a sudden flood of recollection. For the moment he did not notice how he had been trapped into speak-ing of himself, nor did he see the quiet content on Iri's face when ahe elicited the information that his chief foe was a The sailor seemed to be puzzled how best to act.

"Miss Deans," he said, "there is no such tous danger as you imagine. Last time cuttle caught me napping. He will not so again. Those rifles I must have. If t will serve to reassure you. I will go along the line myself."

He made this confession grudgingly. He made this confession grudgingly. In very truth, if danger still lurked in the neighboring sea, he would be far less able to avoid it while clinging to a rope that sugged across the channel than if he were on his feet and prepared to make a rush backward and forward.

Not until Iris watched him swinging along with vigorous overhead clutches did this phase of the undertak ng occur to her. "Stop !" she screamed.

He let go and dropped into the water, "What is the matter now?" he said.

'Go on ; do !" He stood meekly on the farther side to

He stood meerly of isten to her rating. "You knew all the time that it would be better to walk, yet to please me you adopt-you do it?"

you do it?" "You have answered your own quest on." "Well. I am very, very angry with you." "I'll tell you what." he said, "if you will forgive me I will try to jump back. I once did 19 feet 3 inches in—er—in a meadow, but it makes such a difference when you look at a stretch of water the same width."

"I wish you would not stand there talking nonsense. The tide will be over the reef in half an hour," she cried. Without another word he commenced perations. There was plenty of rope, and he plan he adopted was simplicity itself. When each package was securely fastened he attached it to a loop that passed over the line stretched from the tree to the

The fine stretched from the free to the creme ar. The this loop he tied the lightest rope he could ind and threw the other end to Iris. By . illing lightly she was able to land at her feet even the cumbrous rifle chest, for the traveling angle was so acute that the pequier the article the more modifier to heavier the article the more readily it sought the lower level. They toiled in silence until Jenks could the femalning two in like manner, and gan to maneuver the raft landwards "While you land the goods I will per

"Please be careful not to slip again be rocks," he said. the

"Indeed I will My ankle gives me a re-

"I was more concerned about the rifles. If you fell you might damage them, and the incoming tide will no hepelessly rust those I leave behind that they will be useless."

I leave behind that they will be useless." She laughed. This assumption at brutal-ity no longer deceived her. "I will preserve them at any cost; though with six in our possession there is a margin for accidents. However, to reassure you, I will ge back quickly. If I full a second time you will still be able to replace any deficiencies in our armament." Defore he could protest she started off at a run, jumping lightly from rock to rock, though the effort cost her a good deal of plain. Disregarding his shouts, also perme-vered until she stood safely on the sands. Thet, soucily waving a farewell, she set off toward the cave. Had she seen the look of flerce despair that settled down upon Jenka's face as he turned to his task of guiding the raft ashore she might have wondered what it meant, in any case she would certainly have be-haved differently. By the time the sailor had safely landed bits of the differently.

haved differently. By the time the sailor had safely landed his carge Iris had cooked their midday meat. She achieved a fresh calinary tri-umph. The eggs were fried! "I am seriously thinking of trying to boil a ham," she stated gravely. "Have you any idea how long it takes to cook one property?"

"A quarter of an hour for each pound." "Admirable! But we can measure neither

"I think we can do both. I will construct a balance of some kind. Then, with a ham siving to one end and a rille and some cartridges to the other, I will tell you the weight of the ham to an ounce.

To ascertain the time, I have already de-termined to fashion a sun dial. I re-member the requisite divisions with rea-sonable sceuracy, and a little observation the information that his chief for was a man. A certain tremulous hesitancy in her manner when she spoke might have warned him, but his hungry soul caught only the warm sympathy of her words, which fell like rain on parched soil. "You are tired," she said. "Won't you smoke for a little while, and talk

CONTINUED TOMORROW

DANCING

COLUMN TWO IS NOT THE OWNER OF THE OWNER OWNER

Entirely Rebuilt and Benovated

Opening Saturday Night, Sept. 16, of the Original

Dance De Danceland

20th & Montgomery Ave.

Under the manage-ment of Elizabeth Cope and Jack Figel

Dancing Tuesdays. Wednesdays, Fritass Saturdays, to me?

me at their camp in the Aridondacks, sturned on Saturday to Broad Acres, their men near Bryn Mawr.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Frederick Rothermel, 3d. the have been occupying their cottage in fentnor for the summer, will return to their sume, 2209 Pine street, late next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Kane S. Green have re-turned to their home in Bryn Mawr, after pending the summer at Bay Head.

Mrs. Robert Hobart Smith has returned from Hot Springs, Va., and is spending a phot time in her apartments at the Rittenbuse, preparatory to a month's stay at the Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Clinton have returned from their summer home at Eastern Point, Conn., and are at the Rittenhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Putnam, Jr., and their infant daughter, Shirley Grace, who have been at their cottage in the Pocono Mountains since early in June, will prolong heir stay this year well into the autumn

Along the Main Line

ARDMORE-Mr. Horace Sheimire, of Thompson avenue, who has been spending a month at the Plattsburg Military Train-ing Camp, has returned to his home.

BRYN MAWR-Mrs. O. Marvin Harcun will leave shortly to spend a week at her aid home, Careby Hall, Va.

Along the Reading

Mrs. William Hellyar, of Wyncote road, akintown, has Mrs. Foley, of New York, is her guest for several days. 12.

Mrs. George A. Eisaaser, of Meeting House rad, Maadowbrook, has been entertaining frs. Emilie Redding, of Wildwood, N. J., as ar guest for several days.

Miss Marion Sharpless, of Hatherton, Guiten Hills, has returned home from Jobstown, N. J., where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Hutchinson for sysral days.

Miss Ethlyn Seiner, of Greenwood ave-nee, Wyncote, will have Miss Josephine Grimiths, of Norristown, as her guest this

A wedding of interest which will take base in November will be that of Miss Rathleen Carlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burne Carlin, of Mather avenue, Jenkin-lown, and Mr. James Hoger, of Noble. Miss Carlin recently returned from Atlantic City.

Germantown

nong the Germantown women who went Uantic City to attend the suffrage con-ton were Mrs. Richard Day, Mrs. Isaac Mastine, Miss Frances Smiley and Margaret Roberts.

Germantown Cricket Club held its wimming meet of the season on Sat afternoon.

and Mrs. Eugens H. Coate

d Mrs. Walter Oray, of 4617 Gr actored to Greace, Fa., with ac-

Weddings

OLSHO-DANNENBERG OLSHO-DANNENBERG The marriage of Miss Katinka M. Dan-nenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerson Dannenberg, of 1747 North Thirty-third atreet, and Dr. Sidney Olsho, of 2010 Diamond street, was solemnized at noon today at the Rittenhouse. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, of the Keneseth Iarael Tem-ple, and was followed by a breakfast. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Mrs. Elmor Alkus, as matron of honor, and Miss Rhea Olsho as maid of honor.

three weeks.

Mr. Joseph Sondheim acted as best man. Doctor Oisho and his bride left on an ex-tended trip and upon their return will live at Fifteenth and Locust streets.

WIENER-KLINGHOFFER.

WIENER-KLINGHOFFER. A pretty wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Gold-man, 1753 North Thirty-third street, when their daughter. Miss Frances Klinghoffer, became the bride of Mr. Edward G. Wianer, of 726 Rising Sun lane. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Marvin Nathan, of Bath Israel Tetopie, and was followed by a large reception. Mr. and Mrs Wiener left for the Delawsre Water Gap, and upon their return will live on North Thirty-third street.

WHITEHEAD-WASSER.

WHITEHEAD-WASSER. Announcoment is made of the marriage of Miss Martha Wasser, of 3429 Crawford street, Falls of Schuyikill, to Mr. Harry Whitehead, of Queen Lane, on Tuesday afternoon, September 5, in the Protestant Episoopal Church of St. James the Less, the rector, the Hev. Edward Hitchie, offi-ciating. Miss Florence Wasser, the bride's sister, was maid of hohor and Mr. Waiter Riddlough was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead left for Niagara Falls and Can-ada, and upon their return will live at 3527 Queen lane.

North Philadelphia

Miss M. Elizabeth Hill, who has been the guest of Mrs. F. F. Durang at her cottage in Ocean City, N. J., has returned to her home, 1819 Oxford street.

Mister Jay Bird Turns Musical The fall meeting of the North Philadel-phia Business Men's Association, which was postponed on account of Labor Day, will be held this evening in the Robinson Build-ing. Germantown avenue and Juniata Spat. spat. spat. Mrs. Fig looked up from her comfortable place in the mud.

Every few minutes a drop of water came down beside her and it disturbed her for she wanted to go to sleep that very hot after-noon. She had eaten so much she could hardly walk. Miss Eva Jacobs, who spent the summer at Lake Hopatcong, has returned to her home, 2026 North Broad street.

The wedding of Miss Ross O'Neill, of 2524 North Ninth street, and Mr. Leo Mo-Ginley, of 2514 North Eighteehth street, will take place early in November.

"What are you dropping water or r?" asked Mrs. Pig of the bird. "I wanted to ask you's question. Miss Edna Weber, of 1917 Glanwood ave-Heights, N. J.

South Philadelphia ers of the K. K. Club, who k-and at Wildwood, N. J., we

The Whileaway Pleasure Club, of South miladelphia, held its third plen's of the many restorday, when the thirty-five mem-

Bala-Cynwyd Miss Grace Vandiver, who spent the sum-mer in Ocean City, N. J., has returned to in Bala

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard B. Wolff and their family, accompanied by Mr. Wolff's mother, Mrs. William H. Wolff, of Highland avenue, have returned from a week's stay at Ocean

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheridan and their family, of 203 Highland avenue, have re-turned from Longport, where they spent business."

THEIR PARENTS.

FARMER SMITH'S

teresting (to you) business in the world. Do you know what that business is?

Then you should kiss daddy.

DOINGS IN PIGVILLE

By Farmer Smith

Spat. spat. spat. Mrs. Fig looked up again. There on the p of the fence she discovered Mister Jay me one thing YOU did to help your daddy?

About Losing Buttons

He exhibited due surgical interest. His manner, his words, became professional. "We will soon put that right," he said. "A strip off your musiin dress, soaked in brandy, will--" "Brandy!" she exclaimed. "Yes; we have some, you know. Brandy is a great tip for bruised wounds. It can be applied both ways, inside and out." This was better. They were steadily drifting back to the commonplace. While she stitched together some musiin strips, he knocked the head off a bottle of brandy. Mrs. Burnett Landreth, Jr., of 305 Highland avenue, will spend this week at Galen Hall, Wernersville, Pa.

WHAT DOES DADDY DO? Dear Children-I was talking the other day to a very good friend of mine and I told her I wanted to see if I couldn't get parents more interested in their children, and she suggested that I get the CHILDREN INTERESTED IN

Of course, you need not tell me, but you can tell the looking-glass the answers.

So, my dear children, I want to ask you a few things about your daddy.

YOU have the most interesting daddy in the world. He has the most in-

I wish you knew how happy it would make daddy if you took a newspaper

I don't want you to tell me any secrets. 'BUT couldn't you write and tell to him and said, "Here is something which I think will help you in your woman, roled dontly daring, she stretched right leg. Modestly daring, she stretched out her foot and slightly lifted her dress. On the outer side of the tapering 1mb was an ugly bruise, scratched deeply by the Modestly daring, she stretched

He exhibited due surgical interest. His

"Now that you have brought me here with so much difficulty, what are you go-ing to do?" she said. "It will be madness for you to attempt to ford that passage again. Where there is one of those horrible things there are others. I suppose." Jenks smilled. Somehow has knew that this strict adherence to business way a cloak for her real thoughts. Already these two were able to dispense word. But he sedulously adopted her pretext. "That is one reason why I brought the crowbars," he explained. "If you will sit down for a little while I will have every-th ng properly fixed." He delved with one of the bars until it lodged in a crevice of the coral. Then a hands on nothing more of value. Then observing due care, he quickly passed the channel. For an instant the girl gazed affrightedly at the sea until the sailor stood at her side again. "You see," he said, "you have scared every cuttle within miles." And he thought every cuttle within miles." And he thought that he would give many years of his life to take her in his arms and kiss away her anxiety.

RAINBOW CLUB

But the tide had turned ; in a few minutes the reef would be partly submerged. To carry the case of rifles to the ma nland was a manifestly impossible feat, so Jenks, now did that which, done earlier, would have saved him some labor—he broke open tho chest, and found that the weapons were apparently in excellent order. He snapped the locks and squinted down

He snapped the locks and squinted down the barrels of half a dozen to test them. These he laid to one side. Then he rapidly constructed a small raft from loose tim-bers, binding them roughly with rope, and to this argosy he fastened the box of tea, the barrels of flour, the broken saloon chair, and other small articles which might be of use. He avoided any difficulty in launching the raft by building it close to the water's edge. When all was ready the rising tide floated it for him; he secured it to his long-est rope, and gave it a vigorous push off into the lagoon. Then he slung four riffes across his shoulders, asked Iris to carry

IDEAL FAMILY EXCURSION Iron Steamer THOMAS CLYDE To AUGUSTINE BEACH

THE C. ELLWOOD CARPENTER STUDIO OF CORRECT DANCING

STEAMBOATS

1123-Chestnut Street-1123 Private lessons day and evening. Adult cla forming. Circulars and terms upon applicat

100-MILE RIDE FOR 50c STOPPING AT CHESTER DAILY PENNSGROVE WEEKDAYS ONLY

Only boat to Augustine Beach. Landing of front of Grove, 4 hours on the Beach. Sav-salt writer buthing-GOO sanitary bathrooms. DANCING ALL DAY on boat & grounds. Pientu tables, beaches and shade: Artesian water. Fare Bound 50c Children 10 25c Leaves Arch St, Wharf 8:30 A. M. Dally Sunday 9:00 A. M. JAMES E. OTIS. Mar., 3 ARCH STREET

STEAMSHIPS MERICAN EXPRESS TICKETS AND TOURS An International Travel Agence NIAGARA FALLS Toronto. Thou-s a n d islands, Lake George and Hudson River Day Line; 8 ang Inclusive approach to the source and starting every day, 555.25. Let us nut-line your vacation. Send for Backley 1127 Chestnut St. Phane. Wal. 4610

New Fall Styles $4 to $12 Exquisite New Boot Fashions, Correct Fall Shades In Buckskin, Black Kid Russia Calf & Colored Kid

"Traymore" Boot $5

Right now these two big shops are showing the greatest variety of beautiful new shoes in Philadelphia. Your early inspection is cordially invited.

ANY member who has lost his or another button by forwarding a two-cent stamp. Unless a two-cent stamp accompanies a request for another button, the button CANNOT

You

FARMER SMITH. 1 wish to become a member of your Rainbow Club. Please send me a beautiful Rainbow Button free. I agree to DO A LITTLE KINDNESS EACH AND EVERY DAY, SPREAD A LITTLE SUNSHINE ALL ALONG THE WAY.

FARMER SMITH, Children's Editor.

Age
see, I am not very good at singing and the sent to the WISE OLD OWL, what when I went to the WISE OLD OWL, what
when I went to the WISE OLD OWL, what when I went to the Wise of the sector of the

It was one of the most beautiful days the San Francisco Exposition had ever seen, and people focked there by thousands to see the exposition and to see Beachey fy in his new monoplane at 3 o'clock in the North Gardens. Many crowded there long before time while 1 overld waited in the North Gardens. Many crowded there long befors time, while L myself, waited in the palace of Mines. While I was walking around, enjoying the exhibits. I heard the report of a gun, which was used by the exposition for sig-naling special events. Realizing that Beachey was about to make his flight. I hering crowd, which was walting for Beachey to start his motor. Presently be rose up into the clouds like a graceful bird. When he was about 3090 feet high he began to make loops and circles, while the crowd below shout L and wondered. His motor stopped and he filded gracefully to earth and lightly bounded along the grassy flaid. I was about to move off when I heard a man should take his second flight, so I wated about te minutes, and once more aw him gracefully move upward. (To Be Continued)

(To Be Continued)

Things to Know and Do How can you make a

