

THE CAMERA RECORDS THE EVER-CHANGING EVENTS IN THE VARIED NEWS OF THE DAY

STIRRING UP THE OTHERWISE QUIET GERMS ON CHESTNUT STREET
 After all the agitation and the publicity given to the fact that the sweeping of unsprinkled dust across the pavements is a menace to health, here are two new pictures, above and at the right below, which reveal that the practice continues.

HERE IS THE MATERIAL FOR A MILLION PLATES OF SOUP
 Bridgeton, N. J., is shipping 10,000 baskets of tomatoes daily to a noted soup canning factory in Camden, while 20,000 more go every day to the soup foundries of Baltimore.

MADE IN PHILADELPHIA
 New autumn bonnet on the high turban model, carrying hand embroidery below a velvet crown, showing that residents need not go to other cities for smartness in style.

EASTERN WORKERS HELP TO OPEN NEW SUFFRAGE HEADQUARTERS IN DENVER
 Second from the right is Miss Ella Riegel, of Bryn Mawr, who is in charge of this new branch of the Congressional Union. On the extreme left is Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles, daughter of Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware.

SCHOOLS CLOSED, THEY CHOOSE WORK
 The infantile paralysis quarantine is the cause of a great increase in the daily line of applicants for employment certificates, as this glimpse of the office of the Compulsory Education Bureau reveals.

CHINESE VENUS DE MILO NOW IN PHILADELPHIA
 The University of Pennsylvania Museum has acquired this life-size statue, which is remarkably similar in some respects to the Greek goddess, particularly its broken arms. It is believed to be more than 700 years old.

HEAVING THE "BASEBALL PASS"
 Coach Falwell is teaching some aerial tactics to his Penn pupils at Langhorne, and Loucks at quarter is the man who can handle 'em.
