GREEK REVOLT GROWS; CABINET MAY RESIGN

Indications Point to Early Declaration of War Against Teutons

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Wholesale defection from the Greek army was reported in Athens dispatches today, hinting that a declaration of war may be expected at any time.

Practically every garrison in old Greece has joined the revolutionary movement, said one Athens dispatch, and the soldiers are leaving for Salonica. A large number of naval officers have left Piraeus and the Greek cruiser Lanchi, reported to be under control of the revolutionists, slipped out of the harbor, bound for either Crete or Salonica.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens said the Cabinet conferred at length on the situation created by ex-Premier Venizelos's departure for Crete.

A wireless dispatch from Rome this afternoon reported that the Greek Cabinet has decided to resign and that the King will issue a proclamation immediately afterward. This report, though unconfirmed, was accepted as further indication that Greece may be preparing for an early declaration of war.

BRITISH NAVAL PORT RAIDED BY ZEPPELINS

Portsmouth Among Places Shelled on Monday, Berlin Officially Reports

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—The British naval port of Portsmouth and other points near the mouth of the Thames were bombed by the Zeppelins which raided England Monday night, according to the German Admiralty announcement issued today. The text follows:

On the night of September 25-26, German naval airships extensively dropped explosives and incendiary bombs with success on the naval port of Portsmouth and fortified places near the mouth of the Thames, as well as on industrial and railroad establishments of military importance in central England, including North Shields, Lincoln and Derby. The airships returned unharmed in spite of strong anti-aircraft action.

The British Official Press Bureau, in reporting Monday's Zeppelin raid, said that "very slight" military damage was done.

ing and equipping five expeditions to Egypt, where important archeological discoveries were made. The first foray unearthed an ancient Nubian civilization and the last, the Eckley B. Cox, Jr., expedition, discovered the palace and temple of Meren Ptah, believed to have been the Pharaoh of the time of Moses. Many of the collections at the museum were purchased by Mr. Cox.

The late philanthropist's other great interest was the Children's Hospital, of which he was a manager. He contributed liberally to its support.

U. S. Consul Doubts Potash Find

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The American Consul General cabled the State Department today that there was no information in Havana regarding reported discovery of large potash deposits in Matanzas, Cuba. Best information obtainable here, the message said, "indicates report as to potash deposits discovered not well founded."

Boy Killed in Auto Accident

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 27.—Richard Battaglia, aged sixteen, son of a prominent merchant of Millisboro, this county, was killed last night, when an automobile which he was driving went over an embankment at Morgan's Ferry. Nicholas Stoko, aged twenty, who was riding with him, was badly cut and bruised.

WILSON'S ADVISERS URGE HIM TO MAKE PUNITIVE EXPEDITIONS

Plans for Series of Trips to Central West Outlined as Offset to Attacks by Hughes on Administration

THREE SPEECHES IN VIEW

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 27.—"Punitive expeditions into the central West in October were today being worked out in detail by President Wilson. Development of his plans for this series of trips—all-important from a political standpoint—includes decision as to the nature of the addresses he will make and the number.

On both these points the President is receiving tremendous amounts of advice daily. As a result he has summoned his campaign general, Vance McCormick, for a conference at Shadow Lawn late today.

In the first place, the Democratic leaders want the President to "get into the game" with Hughes and land on a number of issues the Republican candidate is now striving to put over the plate. While the leaders agree with the President that he should not go out on a stump tour they are more and more outspoken in urging the inclusion of a few more personalities into the so-called "discussion of public questions" to which the President has said he wished to limit himself.

These leaders wish to see the Republican party and Hughes himself, if possible, placed on the griddle by President Wilson. He made to answer what both would have done in the situations confronting the Administration during the last three and a half years.

En route to these cities the President will cover hundreds of miles, pass through scores of towns and cities, and either speak to or pass up thousands who will naturally be on hand to see him at the stations.

Many of his lieutenants want him to make platform speeches. The President, however, believes if he did this on a general plan his trips might be classified as stumping tours.

JEALOUS WOMAN SLEW AUTO MAN, SISTER SAYS

The wounded woman refused to reveal her name to the police this morning.

SECOND VICTIM UNCONSCIOUS

"Please, please let me alone," she moaned when Magistrate Persch went to her bedside at the Jefferson Hospital to take an ante-mortem statement. She lapsed into unconsciousness.

Mrs. Belzar, who evidently awaited the return of Gravier and his companion at the hotel, had trailed Gravier for a year, according to Fancay and Mrs. Appman.

"She was infatuated with my brother," Mrs. Appman told the police. "He was a widower. When his wife died two years ago, Mrs. Belzar, who is separated from her husband, became infatuated with my brother. He discarded her about a year ago and she has been following him ever since."

SHOOTING PLANNED WITH CARE

The movements of the slayer were traced in the city Monday by Detective Callahan, of the murder squad, who showed that the shooting had been planned with great care. From a taxicab driver he learned that Mrs. Belzar, a handsome woman of about thirty-three years, had visited every hotel of prominence in the city Monday afternoon and evening, scanning the registers and explaining to the clerks that she was looking for her husband. The hunt ended at the Hotel Walton yesterday, evidently, as Gravier and his companion arrived there in a large gray touring car during the afternoon.

PART OF MYSTERY LIFTED

Mrs. Belzar, whose identity was a mystery until the arrival of Fancay and Mrs. Appman, was at first thought to have been Mrs. J. C. de Lur, as she had a card bearing that name and an address at 18 West 120th street, New York, in her hand bag.

The possession of this card was explained by the police as being one of the woman's safeguards in posing as the wife of J. C. Gravier, the similarity in the first two initials being pointed out.

Further elements of mystery were thrown into the case on the arrival of Mrs. Appman, who attempted to avoid notoriety by giving her name as "Mrs. Ogden" to Detective Callahan and Coroner's Detective Frank Paul, who accompanied her to the morgue. When she confided her true name to them they were skeptical and required her to furnish proof as to her actual name.

Jewelry valued at several thousand dollars was found in Gravier's handbag in his room, No. 315, at the Walton. He was told-to-do, Fancay said, and was active in juvenile work, being the first probation officer appointed in the metropolitan area. The probation system went into effect. He was forty-one years old and had a home at Bulet Cottage, Park avenue, Kearsburg, N. J. He admitted to the police that he was a gambler. The shots that ended the man-hunt apparently were fired shortly after midnight. They were not heard by any one in the hotel, Gravier evidently had the music on the roof-drumming out the reports.

The bodies of Gravier and Mrs. Belzar were found about 1 o'clock this morning in the case of the hotel, where the woman was descending the stairs from the roof garden to the ninth floor. He ran into the room, and when he turned over the form of Gravier's companion to see if she, too, were dead, her limp left hand fell into the open palm of Gravier's right hand.

Mrs. Appman summoned Herbert M. Goddard, the house physician, who sent the wounded woman to the Jefferson Hospital, where it was said she would die of her wounds. She, too, was handsomely dressed. Gravier died instantly, as he was shot through the heart. The woman registered as Mrs. Gravier was shot through the breast. The slayer killed herself with a well-placed shot in the temple.

Gravier and his companion, who had motored over from New York in the morning and registered at the hotel, were seen to return to the hotel and upstairs shortly after midnight. They had been to a theater and had taken lunch before retiring to their apartment.

A woman invalid, a guest at the hotel, told Detective Harbridge that as she was walking past room 315, about 10 o'clock last night, she found a woman sitting in front of the door.

"I'm waiting for my husband," the woman told her smilingly. "He has the keys and I'm locked out."

The guest thought nothing of the matter at the time. The woman was dressed in black, with brown fur and a French hat. This costume corresponds with the clothing of the slayer. The invalid guest was the only person who saw the woman before the shooting.

WAS FRIEND OF 'NEWSIES'

Gravier and his companion registered at the Hotel Cecil, New York, on September 21 as "Mr. and Mrs. Gravier," according to the New York police. A hotel bill found among Gravier's effects showed that he had been at the Breakers Hotel, Atlantic City, September 22-24. The bill was paid.

On the dresser in the room where the shooting took place was a gold medal, the obverse bearing the coat of arms of New York and the reverse the inscription: "In recognition of pleasure given the newsboys by J. C. Gravier. From C. R. Robinson, New York city, December, 1909." The medal evidently is a memento of Gravier's juvenile work.

NEW DEMAND BY JAPAN IMPERILS CHINESE LOAN

Tokio Wants Land Tax as Security, With Collections Under Her Supervision

SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—As security for her share of the $50,000,000 loan sought of the Powers by China Japan is demanding that the Chinese land tax be offered, with collections under the supervision of Japanese inspectors.

The Peking correspondent of the China Press says that this is most serious to China, because it means the penetration of the interior by the Japanese financial representatives, who would be followed by Japanese troops.

The manager of the Yokohama Specie Bank, who represents the Japanese financiers interested in the loan proposition, has demanded the security of the land tax and, according to reports here, Premier Tuan Chi-Jui prefers to sacrifice the loan rather than accept what he considers an unreasonable demand.

Premier Tuan Chi-Jui considers the surplus of the salt revenue sufficient security.

NUGENT GETS REVENGE BY BEATING WESCOTT

Jersey in 1910 by Nugent and his chief, former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., turned down Smith in his desire to return to the United States Senate.

NUGENT THREAT RECALLED

This embittered the Smith faction, and at a drinking resort near the Sea Girt State encampment while Wilson was Governor, Nugent delivered his famous toast: "Here's to Woodrow Wilson, ingrate and liar."

This toast cost Nugent the chairmanship of the Democratic State committee, which he held. Since that time, while apparently Nugent has gone back to the Wilson camp, it is questioned if he really has done so. The part he has had in turning down Wilson's candidature, thereby embarrassing the President in his campaign by showing that New Jersey has not stood by him, may never be known publicly, but political observers declare they can see Nugent's hand in Westcott's defeat. It was estimated today that Westcott was beaten by from 4000 to 10,000 votes, it is believed, split nearly evenly, but Hudson, where there is a great Irish and German vote, went strong for Martine, assuring him the victory. Westcott's gains in the rest of the State were easily overcome by Martine's vote in Hudson, which is said to have given nearly 10,000 majority.

"Gas" Helmet Adopted by Farmer

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 27.—Many of the threehermen of Lancaster County have adopted a helmet when threshing, similar to the "gas helmet" used by the soldiers in the European war. Instead of the threehermen being filled up with dust at the end of the day they now leave their machines free of the straining dust that the unprotected threehermen suffered from.
