20 BREAD TRUCKS ARE LOST IN DESERT

13,000 Pennsylvania Hikers Also Without Water for Six Hours

FIELD HEADQUARTERS, Pennsylvania dysion (By Courier to Newman, Tex.), ept. 25.—Twenty big motor trucks attached to the chief supply transport are not on the desert today between Campitewart and Hichs Ranch. The motor rucks are loaded with bread that had been stended for the use of the 13,000 Pennsylvania militiamen when they arrived the site of their third bivouac last night. Fully $000 of the troops, who crossed the sountain range between Anthony and Newman yesterday, were without water for six ours. They were warned that no carts ould be carried across the summit, but explite the warning the big majority of the isn had emptied their canteens of the last cop of water before noon. Men dropped at all along the line of march after noon, at no official estimate of these losses could a procured. One hundred and twenty-three en have been sent to Camp Stewart from nithony, the majority suffering from blis-

The Servant Problem

Wherever women

congregate you will hear the cry, "How Can I Get a Maid?" That's the cause of the Servant Problem, says Fannie Hurst. The cry ought to be, "Why Cannot I Get a Maid?" Fannie Hurst is a novelist and magazine writer who has made a special study of the domestic help situation, has served as saleswoman and waitress and crossed the Atlantic in the steerage. She knows the problems that the average housewife faces, and she does not despair of their solution. Read her article in
