in the Metropolitan Opera House, Broad and Popiar streets.

The mass-meeting, which was arranged by the Union League in conjunction with the Hughes Alliance of Pennsylvania, will parallel any of the old-time Republican rallies in enthusiasm. Through a lane of freworks and to the stirring strains of brass bands Mr. Hughes will be escorted from Broad Street Station, where he will arrive, to the Opera House.

The appearance of the candidate in this city will signalize the opening of his third and final speechmaking tour of the campaign. While he will deliver a noonday address at Newark, N. J., today, he will return from there to New York to register. As soon as he has registered he, with Mrs. Hughes, Republican National Chairmen Willcox and other members of the party, will leave for this city.

They will arrive at Broad Street Station at 8 o'clock. A portion of the Union League reception committee will go as far as Trenton to meet the party, but the real reception will be in Broad Street Station, where hundreds of loyal Republicans will be ready to greet the candidate.

The reception committee, who will go to Trenton to meet the Hughes party follows: Colonal John Gribbel, Charlemagne Tower, Senator William C. Sproul, ex-Governor Edwin S. Stuart, Alba J. Johnson, James B. Bonner and the six Philadelphia Congressmen—George B. Graham, J. Hampton Moore, William B. Vare, George P. Darrow, George W. Edmonds and Peter E. Costello. The other members of the Union League Reception Committee will assemble at the League at 7 o'clock and proceed to Broad Street Station to meet the train. This committee, which will also escort the candidate to the Opera House, includes: United States Senator George T. Oliver, Ex-Secretary of State Philander C. Knox, Mayor Thomas B. Smith, officers of the Hughes Alliance in the State of Pennsylvania, including Powell Evans, chairman; Alba B. Johnson, vice chairman; William Draper Lewis, vice chairman; William Draper Lewis, vice chairman; Bayard Henry, vice chairman and chairman of Finance Commit

In the motor parade to the Opera House in Governor and Mrs. Hughes will ride in the leading car with Colonel John Gribel, president of the Union League. Impediately following them will be Senators renrose and Oliver, Mr. Knox and Mayor mith. Then in order will come the Trenon Reception Committee, the Broad Street tation Reception Committee and the National Campaign Committee of the Union surgue.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM FOR STATE MAKES NO MENTION OF SUFFRAGE

Women Delegates Denied Hearing-Important National Planks All Are Indorsed

BIG MAJORITY PLEDGED

State Committee Opens Series of Meetings on Party Problems

The request that a suffrage plank be inserted in the platform of the Republican party in this State, made by a delegation of prominent woman suffragists to the platform committee of the Republican State Committee this morning, was entirely ignored at the meeting of the subcommittee of the platform committee this afternoon in the Bellevue-Stratford. The subcommittee refused to receive a delegation of the suffragists and they likewise refused to receive a delegation of anths who were on hand to oppose the adoption of a plank such as was proposed.

The platform as it was submitted to general meeting of the State committee this afternoon contains no mention of woman suffrage. The tentative draft informes the national Republican platform, adopted at Chicago, with special commendation of the tariff preparedness and the Americanism planks.

The 1914 platform of the State Republicans is recalled in the tentative draft. The record of the State Republicans in Heans is recalled in the tentative draft. The record of the State Republicans in carrying out its piedges is commended to the voters' attention. The entire State Republican ticket is indersed and a big majority for Mr. Hughes is pledged.

United States Senator Penrose and the State administration are indirectly indersed in the tentative platform draft, but Senator Penrose's name and Governor Brambaugh's name are not mentioned.

The fight over the insertion of the suffrage plank was the first development today in the series of conferences and meetings which preceded the general meetings which preceded the general meeting of the State committee this afternoon. Both the suffragists and the antis stormed the "citadel" of the platform committee with equal lack of success in gaining a hearing.

Among the antis were Mrs. Horace Brock, Mrs. James Large, Mrs. Charles P. Penrose, Mrs. George P. White, Mrs. Edward Beecher Finck, Mrs. Simeon H. Gilford, Mrs. William H. Biester and Mrs. W. D. Keinnedy.

The delegation of suffragists included Mrs. George B. Orlady, of Huntingdon;

The fifth ball wan a grounder to Smith, who threw him out. The count was three and two on Hogiltzell, and another ball put him on first. The first ball to Lewis was very low and on the outside. He fouled the second into the grand stand. Another ball on the inside was too close. He hit the next ball into a double play, Mowrey to Cutshaw to Daubert.

Cutshaw fouled the first two pitched balls, then missed the third by a foot. A called strike was the first ball pitched on Mowrey, then he grounded to Japvrin, who threw him out at first. Olsen hit the first ball pitched to left field for a single. Miller fouled the first ball into the grandstand. The next was a ball over Miller's head. He filed to Hooper on the next pitch. The parade was led by Major General J. Lewis Good and his staff of the Old Guard. They were followed by the marine band from League Island, and detachments of saliors from the battleships Michigan, South Carolina, North Carolina, New Hampshire and Kansas. Next came "Tony" Biddle at the head of the Drexel-Biddle Military Brigade.

Then came the State Fencibles, McKinley Camp of Shanish War Veterans, members of the Old Guard of the Second Regiment, led by General R. Dale Benson, and automobiles occupied by the following: Governor Brumbaugh and Mayor Smith, Issac B. Hetzell, chairman of the Special Joint Councilmanic Committee in charge of the celebration; William H. Ball, the Governor's secretary; James E. Lennen, president of Select Council, and Dr. Edward D. Fully 10,000 persons crowded into Convention Hall when the troops arrived there. Seated on the stage were 2000 or more members of soldiers' families. The hall was decorated with city and national colors, and over the stage blazed the electric sign: "Welcome Home, First Regiment." Bverybody in the hall arcse and cheered when the First Regiment marched into the hall and stacked arms. Mayer Smith welcomed them as follows:

"American soldiers, citizens of Philadelphia: Expressing the sentiments in the hearts of our people, your people, I welcome you here. We have all followed you with our thoughts and with prayers for your safety during your long absence from home in the performance of your duty, in the defense of our national honor on the Mexman border. We fully realize that your soldierly carriage and soldierly conduct have given new and splendid reputation to the city of Philadelphia.

of patriotism—the sacrifice of life so that the land he loved might live.

"And today, while the same crowd watches with hearts beating in sympathy with yours, gladness pervades everything and there is no sadness.

"Your duty has been well performed. You have fully met every obligation. I wish you to believe that my welcome, personal, and my welcome, official, come direct from my heart, and that no man in this great city more deeply appreciates what you have done, or more truly is proud in your performance of duty than he who now in the name of Philadelphia bids you welcome home."

The esteem in which Colonel Alien is held by his troop was demonstrated when he arose to reply to the welcome of Mayor Smith. The regiment srose as one man and gave him an ovation which literally shock the building. It was fully five minutes before Colonel Alien could be heard above the din. He said in part:

"Mr. Mayor and fellow-citisens. Words inot express our appreciation for this lendid welcome. Four months ago, Mr. Mayor, you entrusted to me a thousand men, some immature. Today I give them back to you—none immature—all mess. We demonstrated on our fifty-five-mile hike we had 100 per cent to our credit. In everything we did we cutdid everybody else. Regular officers told me that there was no better regiment on the border than the First."

Governor Brumbaugh followed. He said

delphia today at this splendid home-coming recoption.

"Before us are the soldiers of the greatest Commonwealth in the world. Their achievements on the border have added still further to the fame of Pennsylvania."

That ended the speechmaking and the soldiers sat down at the tables loaded with good things to eat. But hungry as the boys were, the attraction of the relatives on the stage was too much for many of them. After the first course many deserted the banquet and made their way to the stage, where they became locked in the embrace of mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts. Every minute little human touches were being contributed to the scene by these little reunions.

HUGHES LOOSES NEW ASSAULT ON 8-HOUR LAW; STARTS ON TRIP

Republican Candidate at Newark, N. J., Says Act is Wage Increase Measure Only

'HUMILIATING SURRENDER

By PERRY ARNOLD

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 9.—Candidate Hughes loosed his heaviest battery of assault on the Adamson eight-hour law here today in the speech inaugurating his third campaign trip. Without using names, he tronically paraphrased "Do not run away and dream that you will have courage in a future day" in referring to what he said was the Democratic Administration's "capitulation" and "humiliating surrender to durees."

It was the Republican nominee's most careful analysis of the Democratic settlement of the railroad strike which in previous speeches he has dubbed the "paramount" issue of the campaign. He went into great detail to declare that the bill was not an eight-hour measure, but "a mere increase of wages by fixing a different basis for calculating wages."

basis for calculating wages."

"Service over eight hours." Hughes added.
"Is not prohibited. It is not penalized.

"So On the contrary, such work is evidently contemplated. The railroad runs must be completed in any case, and under this bill all service over eight hours is simply to be paid for pro rata. It is, therefore, wholly misleading to refer to this bill as an eight-hour bill.

What is the purpose of this attempt to make the public believe that this bill fixes an eight-hour work day? Manifestly, in order to endeavor to justify this extraordinary action of the Administration in its abject and humiliating surrender of principle in and humiliating surrender of principle in demanding and securing this legislation without any proper inquiry as the price

Analyzing the bill and its effect Hughes drew the following deductions and made the following points:

The phrase "for reckoning compensa-tion" in the Adamson bill clearly re-veals it is a wage-increase bill.

The American Federation of Labor in November, 1914, passed a resolution asserting the regulation of wages and hours of labor should be undertaken through trades union activity and not by legislation.

The "surrender" is a serious blow to labor, because it substitutes legis-lation for collective bargaining.

The Republican party has approved numerous eight-hour measures.

The sessions of the American, or parent association, will begin temerrow with addresses by Major General Wood, Colonel Chauncey Baker and Major S. D. Embick, all of whom will speak on the part that electric railways are expected to play in plans for the defense of the country. H. A. Nichols, of Anderson, Ind., of the transportation and traffic association, in advocating legislation which would make it a penal offense for an automobile to be operated across a grade crossing of a steam or electric railroad, called attention to the fact that the Zeppelin raids in England in the last two years had resulted in the death of 368 persons, while 1,040 persons have been killed, and more than 8000 injured in automobile accidents during the last year.

HUGHES' REST ROOM TONIGHT SPELLS VICTORY, THEY SAY

All Candidates Who Used Hotel's Presidential Suite Won

No election next month will be necessary, politicians say. They declare that Charles E. Hughes is already elected to the presidency. The result is clinched, they contend, because Hughes, after his speech at the Metropolitan Opera House tonight, will occupy the presidential suite on the first floor of the Bellevue-Stratford.

Those who believe in signs say there is something about this magic room which spells victory. Every presidential candidate who occupied the suite has been elected.

During the campaign of 1908 Mr. Taft apent several nights there. Wilson stopped there in 1912. Roosevelt and Taft dodged this suite in the last campaign and both were defeated. were defeated.
