$10,000,000 IN GOLD BULLION ARRIVES HERE UNDER ARMED GUARD

Ten million dollars in gold, sent by the Allies in payment for munitions, arrived here this afternoon under the protection of armed guards...

The metal is owned by J. P. Morgan & Co., which concerns received the gold from the Allies in payment for munitions and other war supplies shipped from this country.

The mint in Philadelphia was chosen because there are no more facilities in the assay office in New York for handling it. The bullion was piling up in all directions with every indication that the congestion of gold would continue indefinitely.

Charles Chaplin's next Mutual-Lone Star release will be "Behind the Scenes" and will divulge some of the secrets that go to make up motion picture successes.

The silent version of Jules Verne's "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," which is being presented by Universal in Chicago, and which, presumably, will come to Philadelphia this season, is being advertised in the Western city. Attractive programs add to the effectiveness of the film, which is being exhibited as a big feature and something out of the usual run.
