

WHEAT HITS NEW TOP ON INRUSH OF ORDERS

December Sells for $1.86 3-8 and 13-8c Above High Price in the Letter Deal

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—An inrush of buying orders today carried December wheat to $1.86 3-8, the highest price established on the present movement and 1 1/2c above the top market established in the letter deal in 1916, when it was touched $1.85.

A factor was a statement that importing countries held futures here and that these lines have sold against a goodly part of the visible supply, as well as wheat bid in country elevators.

Leading futures ranged as follows: Wheat—Open High Low Close

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS

GRAIN AND FLOUR

WHEAT—Receipts, 27,490 bush. The market ruled higher, according to Eastern speculation in all home grain centers based on export elevator.

PROVISIONS

The market ruled firm with a fair jobbing demand and some kinds were a shade higher.

REFINED SUGARS

The market ruled firm with demand fair. Delivery list prices. Extra No. 1 granulated.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

BUTTER—The market ruled firm under light offerings and a fairly active demand.

POULTRY

LIVESTOCK—The market was dull and weaker with fairly heavy receipts and large proportion of which was of unattractive stock.

FRESH FRUITS

Check stock was in fair request and values generally well maintained under moderate activity.

VEGETABLES

The market for desirable stock was generally firm, with some advance in cauliflower.

WORTHINGTON TRIUMPHS OVER W. J. MCFARLAND

English Golfer Victor in First-Round Match in Northford Tourney

MAURICE RISLEY WINS

By SANDY McNIBLICK

NORTHFORD COUNTRY CLUB, Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 27.—J. H. Worthington, famous English golfer playing from Sunningdale, was his first round match today in the annual fall tournament at Atlantic City in an unexpectedly desperate match with W. J. McFarland, of the home club, 3 and 2.

Worthington, regarded as the "clams" of the tourney, sank a happy bird on the sixteenth hole for the win, while McFarland, who led him a hard chase all through the match, was trying to slug his ball out of the "hell-hole" traps.

Maurice Risley, the local star, who conceded a good chance to reach the final, walloped A. Z. Huntington, Wyoming Valley, and well thought of in national circles, by the gap of 5 to 4. Risley won the grand medal yesterday and is going at a splendid clip.

Robert Wier, favorite son of Wilmington, hung a red lamp on Sam Brumback, gubernatorial sounding star of the Philadelphia Country Club, to the music of 4 and 2.

The usual seashore gale was absent from the course today as the eighty golf surcouers of the qualifying round teed off and medals were won, though the sand, gravel and other obstacles have the players guessing.

Worthington drew the gallery in his match, he was two up at the turn, a narrow margin, after McFarland began running up his putts for every older corder of the green.

Both sank very nice threes on the tenth and Worthington missed a putt for a win on the eleventh. Then came the queerest hole of the tourney, McFarland missed every shot to the green, topping two brasses and hitting a massive tree trunk.

Worthington had a beautiful brass and did not have to play till McFarland had played four. But the latter nonchalantly held out a chip shot from fifty feet away for a half.

Today is the biggest of the season in scholastic football, twelve games being on the card for this afternoon.

Central today meets the team that beat the team that beat the Crimmon and Gold teams.

The big game in academic circles is the annual fray between Penn Charter and Swarthmore.

The Stanley Book Company evidently did not think much of "Rummy," a new Fine Arts Triangle, or they would have played it at one of their more pretentious theaters.

Lewis J. Selznick, who has been stirring up matters in the cinema world lately, has opened the big Biograph studio in the Bronx, New York city.
