New York is reported paying as high as a ton. Philadelphia dealers declare this is true it must be due to local shorts caused by failure of the dealers to ck up, or possibly to a deaire on the rt of some retailers who have the coal "squeeze" their customers.

Ennest Richards, president of the orge B. Newton Coal Company, said: "Conditions in New York are different on those in Philadelphia. In this city retail coal dealers are the agents of public and virtually sell to their customers on a straight commission basis.

Only through the help of my dictionary am I shis to write to you; but that makes no difference. At the earliest possible recommit I want to meet your father and ask him for your hand I am sure he will recognize the justice of my request. And anyway, as long as we love each other what have other people got to do with it. No matter what happens you know I'm not a beggar. Now, my dear, I must close. Helleve me, all I have told you comes straight from the heart; I am sincere. "With love and patience, I am, W. H. "P. hope it does not get into any one clas's hands."

H. W. seems to have feared on good ground. His letter did get out and it was too good to keep. The translation made here is rather free. H. W. really had a very good letter in his original German. Reading the two sentence by sentence it is easy enough to see what he meant. When he had to close he said he had to "shut;" his "hot loved" Jane is easy to understand, and when he speaks of his "unspeakable" love he morely means it to strong to express. His "swallowed arms" meant interlocked, and "knocked down eyes" morely indicated modesty.

Many German-Americans who saw the letter said that H. W. must be an apt pupil; he is adopting the American philosophy of love right away: "if we love each other why should any one else both," he wants to know.

BURGLARS IN DESTINN HOME

Police Wound One and Catch Three While Singer Is Away

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Three burgiars were arrested in the Riverside drive home of Emmy Destinn, grand opera singer, but not until one of them had been shot and wounded by the police. Mme. Destinn is abroad and the house has been closed. Neighbors were attracted by dim lights burning in the house and communicated with the police, who surrounded the place.

"We use 200,000 tons of coal a year all told, about 40,000 tons of coal a year all told, about 40,000 tons going to Belmont and 35,000 tons to Queen Lane, leaving 125,000 tons to the other plants. We contract to the extent of our appropriation, and the price varies, according to time and quantity. Lardner's Point and Torresdale delivery costs $3.50, against $3.04 inst year; Shawmont $2.45, against $2.87; Queen Lane was $2.72, now it is $2.16, and Belmont also is cheaper, being $2.03, against $2.42. These reductions are due to water delivery.

"Today our reserve supply is virtually used up, although at times we have had as high as sixty days' supply ahead. "Philadelphia' is better off than New York and New England, because the coal for those points passes through here on its way from the mines and the roads often can drop off a car or so from a train in transit. So if it did come to a pinch I look for the railroads to help us." Peter J. Hoban, assistant Director of Peter J. Hoban, assistant Director of Supplies, corroborated the statement of Chief Davis.

"The city coal supply is all contracted for up to the end of the year," he said, "to be delivered as needed. For next year we have asked an appropriation sufficient to allow us to make one lump contract for the entire year, instead of piecemeal contracts, as is now the case. Then we would not be subject to market changes and, I believe, would get better prices."

OTHERS TAKE SAME VIEW OTHERS TAKE SAME VIEW
Other coal operators and dealers approached express similar views, but they suggest that the real coal famine exists in the bituminous field, rather than in the anthracite. Soft coal is reported, according to Mr. Richards, as at a tremendous premium, while Mr. Coughlin terms it more serious than ever before. He sees the condition as the result of a larger demand from manufacturing plants made busier by the war and a car shortage, partly due to the demand for foreign shipments. CHAPLIN WILL PARODY PARIS LATIN QUARTER

French Pastry Probably Will Fly in Burlesque on Bohemian

By the Photopiay Editor

It looks as though nothing were sacred to Charles Chaplin, who, somehow, won't stay out of the movie news. His latest plan is to build a comic photopiay on the Latin Quarter of Paris as it was before the war. Before he began to gather dollars and delirious taughter on the screen Mr. Chaplin lived in the French city and mingled with art students and griestes in the Bohemian part of that metropolis.

"All that was necessary," he says, "to notte a mob to wild necturani pranks was a mere suggestion. The games they played on inoffensive citizens of the Quarter would have got them ninety days in any American town." The Lone Star star ought to be able to stir up a lot of fun with such a locale. Presumably Parisian pastry will be in heavy demand during the making of the picture. By the Photoplay Editor

Announcements from the Vitagraph studio say that the film rights to "Arsene Lupin," a French crook-detective play done on the stage by William Courtenay. have been bought for Earle Williams's use, and that Frank Daniels will be seen in a new comedy series, "Captain Jinks," Vitagraph will also produce "The Hawk," William Faversham's former footlight vehicle.

Broadway rumors point to Robert War-wick, the World star, as the probable founder of a new corporation bearing his name and exploiting himself in leading roles. Harry Houdini, "the handcuff king," has entered the film business with a $100,000 corporation, in control of a secret process for developing. A great saving in expense is expected to be made through this carefully-guarded device. Gustav Dietz, an analine dye expert, is associated with Houdini, and a New York factory has been leased.
