U. S. TO COLLECT MEXICAN CLAIMS Damages of $420,000,000 for

EUROPE MAY ASK

Property Destroyed to Be Sought in Washington

WAR POSSIBLE RESULT

By a Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Uncle Fam is to be made the collection agent for Europe as mon as the war is over. Claims against Marico for more than $420,000,000 worth of property destroyed in Mexico during the evolutions there are to be filed with the United States Government for collection, according to reliable information. It has been reported that several million dollars of damage claims were slready on file in American State Department, having Bren sent to Washington by Great Britain, France and Germany, but Secretary of State Lansing said today that so far none of Cheve claims had been received. Because of the interference of the United States in Maxican affairs and the existence of the Monroe Doctrine, which prevents the seisure of Mexican territory as a liquidation of claims, it is generally believed this government will be expected to take care of the European loanse that have resulted from the continuation of outlawry in Mexico for more than three years. Representative Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, recomised as one of the best authorities on international af-fairs in the House of Representatives, has made a formal declaration that there is great danger of the United States and Great Britain becoming involved in war because of the claims of the latter milion on Mexico for millions of property destroyed.

"That Great Britain holds us responsible That Great Britain holds us responsible for conditions in Mexico, and looks to us to care for her interests, was indicated strongly within the last two weeks when she made representations to Carranza, not direct but through the United States Government, on the reported existence of a German submarine base on the cast coast of Maxico. We transmitted the representa-tions made by Great Britain to Moxico without co nent, but the action aroused the hostility of Mexico. Great Britain feared the destruction of her tankers which carry oil from the Tampico districts to Europe.

Many close students of international af-fairs believe as Representative Fess does, that as soon as the European nations get through with their present bloody conflict they will make demands on M sico for a settlement for all property destroyed there which was owned by European citizens.

"What will there be for us but war," asked Representative Fess. "If England demands immediate payment for destruction demands immediate payment for destruction of her oil and other valuable 'properties in Moxico? Mexico hus no money with which to pay. Is it not entirely probable that England may say. 'Very well then: we will take a naval buse or a coaling station in settlement'? The Monroe Doctrine would make it necessary for us to resist any such territorial acquisition. 'War would be in-evitable."

PUT RESPONSIBILITY ON U.S. Many officials in Europe feel that the losses to their governments would not have resulted had the United States followed them in recognizing Huerta as the Presi-dent of Mexico. The refusal of President Wilson to do that, and his action in forcing Huerta to leave the country by selz-ing Vera Cruz, are regarded as placing the responsibility of Mexico on the shoulders of the United States. Regardless of whether fuerta was an assassin, as contended by President Wilson, the European nations take the position that he was the legal President of Mexico. When he was forced to leave and no legal head of the Government was left, they began looking to the United States for the protection of their
