THE PEREGRINATIONS OF POTASH

PHILADELPHIA PHOTOPLAY PARAGRAPHS

The Locust offers for Wednesday and Thursday "Inspiration." In which Thomas Curran and Audrey Munson are co-starred. The play was written by Edward Lonsgran, and is the story of a sculptor who dealres inspiration for a statue for the World's Fair Miss Munson has gained world-wide reputation as a model for artists, both of brush and clay.

From start to finish the performances at the Stanley Theater have that snap and go and unrivaled diversity that makes those who patronise the house for the first time come again and again; in short, regular patrona. The entertainment offered induces the regular habit of coming. The pictures presented are all first showings and said saids from the main attraction, there and, saide from the main attraction, there are very many other delightful features included in the program, such as travel pictures, comedies, current news, educational pictures, and by no means the least, a rare treat for lovers of exceptionally good music is the musical program rendered by the Stanley Concert Orchestra. The main attraction for the first half of the current week will be the delightful little actrems, Marguerite Clark, in a charming picture, entitled "Miss George Washington." ed, saids from the main attraction, there

Edna Goodrich, the American beauty, in her latest Morosco-Paramount photopiay.
"The House of Lies," coming to the Fairmount on Saturday, plays the role of an American society woman who rebels against the manner of fashionable matchmaking the manner of fashionable matchmaking the manner of tashionadie and does a very daring thing.

Throughout next week at the Belmont Throughout next week at the Balmont Alice Brady will be seen in a photoplay adaptation of George Broadhurst's "Bought and Faid For." Miss Brady will be among those present on Monday evening in person and will view her acting in the play. She will be accompanied by her father, William A. Brady, the well-known producer, who is now at the head of the World Film Commany. Mr. Brady has given his charmwho is now at the head of the World Film Company. Mr. Brady has given his charm-ing daughter a liberal education, not only in acting, but in vocal accomplishments as well, and he will have the pleasure of hear-ing her render several songs during the syening, for Miss Brady has promised to

From ampsement lovers of all sections of the city, especially from those who are frequenters of the Ruby Theater, there come requests that the management reproduce that popular photoplay, "Tess of the Storm Country," with Mary Pickford. These requests have appeared in the form of letters, phone calls and many personal visits. and the management desires to take this opportunity of stating that the Ruby has made arrangements for a revival of "Tess of the Storm Country" on Friday of the ap-proaching week.

Amusement lovers in the southern section of the city who visit the Alhambra Theater can never complain of any lack of enter-tainment of just the right kind at this pop-ular vaudeville and motion-picture theater. As a matter of fact, there is never any com-plaint, for the very simple reason that the management offers the kind of programs that leave no room for any feeling except that of satisfied pleasure. The big feature for the first three days of the coming week will be Mary Pickford in her new play, "Less Than the Dust."

Those who saw Sessue Hayakawa in The Soul of Kura San," when presented at The Soul of Rura San, when presented at the Stanley Theater recently, are loud in their praise of this excellent production. In this gripping Japanese-American drama, Hayakawa has the support of beautiful Myrtie Stedman, who was loaned to the Lasky Company for this one picture. The story has to do with the adventures and tribulations of two poor Japanese lovers.

Douglas Fairbanks commences a three Douglas Fairbanks commences a three days engagement at the Victoria Theater on Monday with "American Aristocracy." The magic of the "Sunshine King's" won-drous presentation was never better shown than in this production, and his daring and fascinating deeds are as unusual as well as intensely interesting and highly amusing.

One way to eliminate a competitor is to "buy him out" and that is just what Manager Jack Delmar (of the Jefferson) has done with the Park. He believes in the adage that "two can live as cheaply as one," and so he will manage both houses.

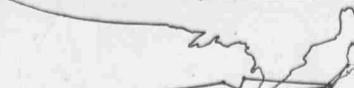

"What was your real business before you entered the reel business"? Manager Goldman, of the Bluebird, was asked. "Well, I was in the credit or installment business, and I am an occulist. But I made my big success in selling diamonds, and now I have the Bluebird, which completes my hampiness."

An announcement on the folder telling of a travel talk series has this to say:
"Mr. Smith is well fitted for the work of presenting the delightful lectures from the Nox McCain Course, having had the unusual opportunity of accompanying Colonel McCain for four years of his travels," and now Warren Smith is looking after the management of the A. B. C. Theater, Yes, he will take a night off and lecture at i—; well, that's advertising.

The indefatigable publicity representa-tive for the Stanley interests is often the center of a group of thespians, each asking. "When, where and how much?" Sounds like a pussie but it only means that Abe L. Einstein (yes, he's the attraction), is now giving out contracts for Christmas en-tertainments to there players. He is in charge of the Stanley Entertainment Bu-reau, which supplies talent and motion ple-tures for all occasions. tures for all occasions.

Anette Kellermann is known as The perfect woman"—well, she is and also ideal entertainer. Her husband is a newspaperman, which accounts for the advertising, or rather the publicity, she has received since graduating from a swimming instructor some few years ago. This has nothing to do with her appearance at the Fitty-sixth street Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday in "Neptune's Daughter."

A full description of the Great Northern Theater's improvements will appear in Mon-day's Evening Ledger. A. R. P.

Those Funny Falls

There are only four or five persons in the whole world who can do a funny fall. I have seen thousands of people try it, but they force themselves; they fall too heavily. One must have confidence, courage.
