TRADE STATUS VEXING

Wilson, Free From Campaign Worry, Expected to Take Firm Stand

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—From now on the President expects to deal with all for-eign questions without embarrassment and is receiving from his advisers a summary of the outstanding issues to essential to taking stock of the basic situation which be met, now that international relamust be met, now that international rela-tions have returned to their place of prime

While it is not evident that there will While it is not evident that there will be any fundamental change in policy, freedom from fear that any move at all would be misinterpreted as inspired by an internal political struggle has been removed. President Wilson and Secretary Lansing feel themselves able to act with a single eye to the international situation and their immediated.

the international situation and their inome-diate conferences on the President's re-turn to Washington indicates how pressing they feel the situation to be. The President must decide how the United States shall meet the German sub-marine question on the one hand and the Entents Alled trade restrictions on the other: whether the retaliatory legislation shall be enforced; whether the traditional theory of isolation shall be abundoned for concerted neutral action, and whether the country shall have an aggressive or a passconcerted neutral action, and whether the country shall have an aggressive or a passive policy toward the peace conference, the "war after the war," and the Permanent League to Enforce Peace which the President has accepted in theory. And, during the rest of the war, shall America's attitude be governed by a decided benevolence in the interpretation of international taw, according to its own best interests, or shall it be strictly legalistic, regardless of whom it affects?

or shall it be strictly legalistic, regardless of whom it affects?

Relations with the Entente Allies are less clear cut, less dangerous, than those with the Central Powers, let perhaps more unaging. Sea power has ehabled them, through the blockade, to bring about the rationing of Holland and all Scandinavia, the prohibition of imports into this country, except under guarantee, the seizure and censorable of mails, and the imposition of the blacklist, virtually to destroy all foraign trade hostile to them and divert all American commerce to their own uses.

Constant belilgerent encroachments on neutral rights have led President Wilson to say that neutrality is "intelerable." War has become so worldwide, so unlimited as to national brindaries, that it is no longer the hostile army but the boatle state, men women and children, with its outposts all ever the world. that is involved.

First and oldest of the Entente Allied restrictions is the blockade watch this Government has declared Glegal because it is both ineffective and discriminatory in favor of Norway and Sweden, in that it does not blockade the Baltic, and because t sitempts to blockade neutral ports configuous to Germany, to which British goods are allowed to go. The case dates back to March 11, 1915, and the last note was the British refusal of April 24 last.

The rationing of Holland, Norway, Sweden and Demark has been bitterly con-

The rationing of Holland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark has been bitterly condemned in the blockade notes, where it has been held to, be an absolutely unwarrantable interference with neutral trade directly between the neutral countries.

Tuesday; moderate west and northwest winds.

Fair weather has continued throughout the country during the last twenty-four hours except for snow flurries at a few places along the northern border. Light snow covered most of North Dakota and eastern Montana. The temperatures have risen at most places in the eastern half of the country and are seasonable this morning except for a moderate deficiency in portions of the eastern Gulf States. A moderately cool area has overspread the eastern Canadian provinces at the rear of a disturbance that is passing off the coast at Nova Scotia.

ASSIST THE NEEDY, SAYS GOVERNOR IN THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

Not alone because it is a time-honored custom, but particularly for the reason that a State, like an individual, should never forget the supreme source of authority and the steady guidance of Almighty God, it is fitting that we should set aside one entire day for thoughtful survey of our progress and our destiny.

Pennsylvania has abundant causes for gratitude to God. Save for a visitation of suffering and of death to our children, which has now happily passed, the people of this great State have been blessed with good health and with abundant crops. We have not wrought upon our soil in vain. We have blended our resources and our toil into many forms of utility and of enrichment of our people. Flood, fire and storm have been kept from our borders. Accidents in our industries, still too frequent, have been reduced, and suffering for the industries, still too frequent, have been reduced, and suffering for the first time humanely compensated. Our people have passed into a day of rich humanitarian treatment. Our Government has been steadily devoted to the holy task of serving our people with gifts of health, happiness and prosperity.

In the bounty vouchsafed us let us not forget our needy citizens, not even the stranger within our gates. Let them and those beyond our borders, whose hearts turn our way, receive from us a goodly share of the good given us by our Heavenly Father. A people that is not generous cannot worthily live in Pennsylvania. We must give is not generous cannot worthily live in Pennsylvania. We must give gladly and generously if we are to prosper permanently and patriotically. Let no unremembered child of Pennsylvania sit in sorrow on our Thanksgiving anniversary. Let us follow the guidance of our hearts as well as our heads on this day of gratitude and of generosity.

Above all else, take thought for Pennsylvania, our beloved Commonwealth, and resolve to hold its welfare high in our purposes and to do our part in making it, under God and His name, the cleanest, sefest, sweetest place in which to labor, to live, to serve. Reverently and gladly let us on this day gather in our several places of worzhip and publicly express our gratitude that a protecting providence has kept us in peace, blessed us with material and spiritual gifts, granted us unnumbered favors and blessings and given us abundant reasons for thankfulness and for offering sineere supplications that we may continue to be a heaven-helped people.

for thankfulness and for offering sineere supplications that we may continue to be a heaven-helped people.

That this may be done, and done with a propriety worthy of our best traditions and our great destiny, I. Martin Grove Brumbaugh, Governor of this Commonwealth, do set apart and designate Thursday, November 30, 1916, as Thanksgiving Day.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the Stete, at the city of Harrisburg the eighteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixteen and of the Commonwealth of one hundred and forty-first.
