Even the mattress of the bed above him was the mattress of the bed above him was glowing with embers. The firemen pulled the bed back from the wall and found him lying there, his cold nose close to the mysterious crack. But when they touched him, Fifi jumped up, sniffed his nose a bit and wagged his tail. He appeared as if he had been awakened from a pleasant dream of cams of salmon and strips of liver. The damage to the building amounted to about $2500. But Fifi is alive!

SLEEPWALKER'S SKULL FRACTURED BY FALL

Reminders

There was a time when the vacant lot in the rear of 4118 North Broad street was part of the domain of boydom, unmolessed by the tread of a policeman. But, as Tennyson predicted, the old order changeth, yielding place to the new; much to the indignation of a section of boydom and the parents of the particular boys.

When Mayor Smith's mother and his two brothers, Joseph and Frederick Smith, moved to 4118 North Broad street several months ago, the triangular lot, formed by Sixteenth street cutting diagonally into Broad street, was transformed from a waste place into a triangular laws and place into a trim-kept lawn, and a police man was stationed there to keep the shout ing boys away.

Before this boyhood calamity, which oc curred simultaneous with the opening of school, the triangle was an easis for juvenile football players and marble experts, although artistically it was a desert, barren and unbeautiful. The botanical improvements, removal of debris and planting of grass enhanced the spot. Boys congregated there as never before. But today, although green and, in fact, a very pretty back yard for the Smith home, the triangle is as use-less and barren as a desert as far as the boys are concerned. boys are concerned.

A burly blue-coated policeman is the reason. He appeared one day and ordered the boys away. The next day he repeated it. He appeared every morning at 9 o'clock and remained until 5 o'clock in the after-

Members of the Smith family denied that they had used influence to have a police-man detailed there. It was also pointed out that the triangle was frequented by

"crap shooters" on Sundays.

But this neighborhood is skeptical. Before the influential family moved there a policeman "came around as often as Christmas," It was said

Mrs. Albert Albright, who lives at 1422 Jerome street, which forms one of the legs of the triangle, voiced the indignation that many of the parents feel.

"We're indignant because the same re-sults could have been obtained simply by telling us that our children were annoying other people by playing on the lot," she said. "We don't need a 'cop' to watch "We don't need a 'cop' to watch "Before the Smiths moved here we had

"Before the Smiths moved here we had several robberies and many annoyances, but we never saw an officer in the neighborhood. A gang of men used to gather in the lot every Sunday afternoon and shoot crap' unmolested. But now we have a 'cop' on duty all day to keep our own children off the lot."

A majority of Mra Albright's neighbors on the west side of Broad street between Lycoming and Jerome and on the south side of Jerome arrest between Broad and Sixteenth expressed the same opinion. In the meantime King Boy is directing his scouts in a search for another site for his kingdom.

Only Pipestems Wear Short Skirts, the Rev. J. J. Coroner Tells His Congregation

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 27 .- The Rev. J Coroner, pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, Pittston, told his congregation Sunday morning that the women of today are devoting more time to their form and dress than to their character. "The women with fine forms do not display them; it's the ones with the poor little shanks and the pipestems that like to wear the short skirt," the priest said. He urged the women to dress as plainly as their mothers.

Aside from activity by British artillery in the sector o fl.a Bassee, there is nothing o report from the western front, the Was SEEK TO MAKE WALTER COMPROMISE SPEAKER

Statewide Boom for Franklin County Man Launched by Friends

A State-wide boom has been launched for Charles Walter, of Chambersburg, Franklin County, as the compromise choice of both the Penrose and Vare-Brumbaugh factions for Speaker of the House. The Waiter boomers were active here last week, and had several talks with Republican leaders who attended the dinner of the Pennsylvania State Society last Thursday

Pennsylvania State Society last Thursday night.

With the Vare-Brumbaugh faction opposing the candidacy of Richard J. Baldwin, of Delaware County, the Penrone candidate for Speaker, the friends of Walter are making a strenuous fight to obtain the election of the Franklin County man.

It has been tentatively agreed by both factions that a compromise Speaker will be elected, in spite of the active campaign which Baldwin is waging.

Representative Walter has served three terms in the Legislature and is regarded as a "50-50" Republican, so far as the two factions of the Organisation are concerned. He has the political support of A. Nevin Pomercy, Superintendent of State Printing, Pomercy's newspaper came out openly for Walter last Saturday and called upon the leaders of both factions to bury the hatchet and unite upon his candidacy. While the Walter boom is being launched the friends of Baldwin are making a thorough canvass of the Republican members of the House and preparing for a hard fight when the caucus is held at Harrisburg the first week in January.

The Baldwin boom received formal inlorsement yesterday when his colleagues in
or him, in answer to a letter he sent out asking for support. The resolution of indorsement was signed by Samuel A. Whita-ker, Maris M. Hollingsworth and Harry C.

The three Chester County members are followers of Senator-elect T. Larry Eyre, who was the local option "whip" during the last session. Eyre ran as the Brumbaugh candidate during the recent elec-tion, and he and his Chester collesgues are local optionists.

In the meantime, small booms for Representatives Thomas F. McNichoj and Edwin R. Cox, of Philadelphia, have been started quietly. McNichol and Cox are both Vare followers, and their names are being mentioned in connection with the speakership only in the remote possibility of a Philadelphian being elected.
