The Young Lady Across the Way

The young lady across the way says of course we can't do anything about it as long as the submarines are careful to operate within the three-mile limit.

There's a Reason

"Hello, Wop. Walking again, eh?"
"Yep!"
"Where's the Ford?"
"Sold."
"Thought you attached fond memories to it."
"I did, but somebody else attached a mortgage."—Chaparral.

ENGLAND'S FALL "FLAPPER"

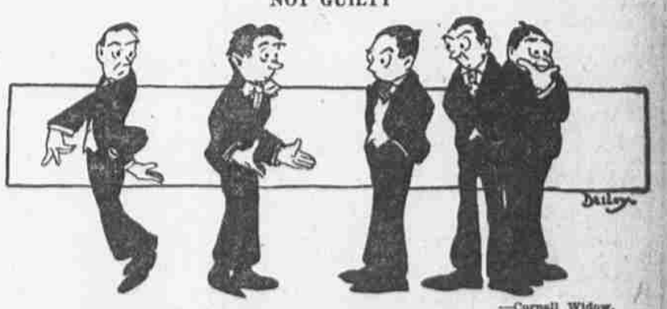
Preposterous!

—The Sketch.

Lady Visitor—Was that your sister I met you with yesterday, Master Dick?

Dick—Now do I look like the sort of fellow that would waste his time on sisters?

NOT GUILTY



—Cornell Widow.

"—— Yeah, and I was captain of our football team, and editor of our school paper and ——"

"You were quite versatile, weren't you?"

"Well, no, I never wrote any poetry."

The Moral

A beau with a razor
Is worth two with a "bush."

THE END OF A PERFECT DAY

Discipline vs. Patriotism

—Humeroutties.

Colonel—Missing the train is no excuse for overstaying leave.

Defaulter—Couldn't help it, sir. I was just going to get in the train when a blanky band struck up "God Save the King," and I had to stand to attention.

The Modern Child

"Father?"
"Yes, my child?"
"Does a lamb gambol?"
"At times, my son."
"Then if you grabbed a lamb by the leg you would be pinching a gambolling jolat, wouldn't you?"

FARMER SMITH'S RAINBOW CLUB

AN APPEAL

For the last two weeks we have asked our boys and girls to look over their outgrown clothing and to ask permission of their parents that they send this clothing to us for distribution among little children who stand sorely in need of it. Many little members responded very promptly and we know it is the intention of all of our boys and girls to help all they possibly can. However, it is the habit of most of us to postpone, and when we postpone we are apt to forget altogether.

Our need is very urgent, little members!

Please do not think, "Oh, some one else will send things and mine will not be missed."

What if every one thought this same way? We would have nothing for the little people who are waiting anxiously for clothing to keep their poor little bodies warm!

In order that you may understand the real need that exists for what we are asking, we print below letters of appeal that have come to the club within the last few days.

Dear Farmer Smith—I am a little girl and haven't any father, and would you be so kind and send me something to wear of toys. I would be so glad. I am twelve years old. Lovingly,

A LITTLE GIRL

Dear Farmer Smith—I write you this postal to see if you could spare my little ones some clothes for Christmas. The city nurse told me to write to you. My husband lost three weeks' work being sick and it has set me back so I am not able to even get what they need for winter. I have six boys, aged eleven, nine, eight, six, four years and three months. Anything will be appreciated. Sincerely, MRS. T——.

Dear Farmer Smith—I thought I would write to you. I am a widow with five children. My husband has been dead since last January. He died with tuberculosis, and I have a very hard time getting along. My husband's nurse told me I should write, and she was sure you would help me at Christmas. My boy makes $7 a week, but I have a hard time to make ends meet. I have been sick and am not able to do much myself. It is very hard to see little children want for things, but there is no other way. They have hardly enough clothing this weather, and I do not know what they will do when it gets colder. I hope you will not forget us. My children are: two boys, one sixteen, the other nine, and three girls, fourteen, six and three. Anything at all that you send us will be very welcome.

MRS. M——.

Our Postoffice Box

Here is a very interesting letter from Gertrude Reinhard, of Haddonfield, N. J.:

"Well, there is the woods on one side. Down in the woods there is a spring and in the summertime we go there to get water to drink, because our water is very warm. Sometimes we go down in the woods to play and take our lunch. There is a tree down there that is called the Monkey Tree. We do tricks on this tree and have lots of fun. But now that it is winter and schooltime, we don't have much chance. I live about nine or ten squares away from the schoolhouse. In the wintertime, when there is snow, I expect to have lots of fun going to school on my sled. My doll has a very bad cold and I would like to know what to do for her. I am anxious to know, for I don't want her to get awfully sick."

We hope some of the faithful little doll mothers will pay attention to Gertrude's request and tell her how to cure the doll daughter's cold.

Hazel Ranck, Danville, Pa., tells about the happy times and busy times in Danville, Pa.—"Mother says I may help with the Rainbow Exhibit. I am going to help her make some nice warm petticoats for it, and she says she thinks it is very kind of Farmer Smith to think of the poor children that Santa Claus forgets. Bertha explained about it at the meeting, at Lenna Krumm's. We Rainbows are going to take our gifts down to Bertha Child's house, and she is going to pack them in a box and send them to you. This is Saturday evening. Daddy says he has got a treat for us. He just popped corn and we are going to have apples and chocolate candy. I wish you could be here to have some, for I love you, Farmer Smith. I have a box where I keep your letters and the news of the postoffice box, and I call it Farmer Smith's box."

How we wish we could have been at Daddy's Saturday night treat, and oh, how nice it is to be loved by a little Rainbow girl and to have a box called after your very own self!

$25 in Christmas Prizes

For the best Evening Ledger scrapbooks the following prizes will be awarded December 20: First prize, $5; second, $3; third, $2 and fifteen prizes of $1 each.

As the scrapbooks are to be exhibited from December 11 to December 20 at the Christmas Rainbow Exhibition, to be held at 605 Chestnut street, they must be sent or brought to the club before December 10.

HOW TO MAKE THE SCRAPBOOKS

Get a composition book or make one out of pieces of wrapping paper cut the size of a composition book and tied at the edges with ribbon or string. There are three different ways for you to make your scrapbook.

First. Cut stories or talks from Farmer Smith's Rainbow Club News and illustrate them with pictures cut from any part of the Evening Ledger.

Second. Cut pictures from the back page of the Evening Ledger or from the inside pages and write stories, poems or compositions about these pictures.

Third. Cut stories or talks from the Rainbow Club News and illustrate them with your drawings; for instance, in a story about Billy Rampsey, draw the picture of a goat.

IMPORTANT—Scrapbooks must be at least ten pages long and each page must be from a different date of the Evening Ledger. The date from which you take your picture and club news must appear at the top of each page.

It is not necessary to buy the Evening Ledger in order to compete. Address FARMER SMITH, Evening Ledger, Philadelphia.

Christmas Calendar

By VERNA SCOTT.

A calendar like this is easy to make for a Christmas present. Get some red and green paper, cut one the size you want and the other an inch smaller, paste together, then get a calendar pad, a bit of ribbon and a small picture, paste the pad and picture on and tie ribbon at the top of the calendar.

Santa Claus

By SAMUEL AXELROD

Dear old Santa Claus,
Please bring me some toys.
I will give applause
And not make noise!

SANTA CLAUS'S TOY FACTORY

By Farmer Smith

Peaches and Cream seated herself on the moss and began:

"You see, we are very busy just now in the toy factory; Santa Claus says this is to be the happiest Christmas he has ever known and he has known a lot of them, you may be sure."

"There, I knew there was a Santa Claus. I always believed there was, but now I KNOW it," said the little girl.

Peaches and Cream's eyes almost popped out of her head. "Do you mean to tell me that there are some who do not believe that there is any Santa Claus? They should see Cloudland and Toytown and our great factory where thousands of us make the toys and, last of all, they should see the jolly old fellow himself. THEN they would believe, would they not?"

The little girl nodded.

"You see, Santa Claus gets millions of letters every day, some from this speck where you live and——"

"Speck?" asked the little girl, in great surprise.

"Why, of course, this place you call 'Earth' is only one of the specks we see from Toyland, but then Santa Claus likes the letters he gets from you little people down here much better than the letters he gets from Mars or Jupiter. The letters from the little what-you-may-call-thems on the Moon are awfully funny. All upside down like."

"You are talking about CHILDREN."

"Yes, yes, that's it—children. I knew what it was, but I did not know how to pronounce that word.

"In our factory we make everything you can think of for children, but this year we have had a lot of trouble making things because of the—the—I do not know what you call it, but everybody is shooting everybody else."

"You mean on account of the WAR?"

"Yes, that's the word, but we never have such things in Cloudland, we are too busy. No one who is busy has time to fight; besides, we all live in harmony. One of the reasons I am here is to ask you about our talking doll. Santa Claus is not quite clear whether the doll he is going to make should be made to say 'mother' or 'mama' and so he asked me to come down to the earth and ask you, or some little girl, which it should be, and can you tell me?"

"I think it would be easier for the doll to say 'mamma'; even babies can say that," answered the little girl.

"Thank you, I shall tell Santa Claus about you; he may send you one of the dolls, if you write him a letter. Never fear, he reads them all."

The little girl stooped down to pick up her roses and when she looked for Peaches and Cream that little lady had gone—vanished. She had found out what she wanted to know and gone back to tell Santa Claus, for the jolly old fellow was in a hurry, and even at that very minute he was peeking out of his window to see if Peaches and Cream was anywhere to be seen.

Christmas Rainbow Box

FOUR dresses, one middy blouse and two silk ties, sent in by Miss Caroline Ringgold, North Broad street.

Three dresses and one middy blouse, sent in by Lorraine Boggs, Diamond street.

Do not forget to send your outgrown clothing to Farmer Smith, in care of the Evening Ledger. There are hundreds of little people waiting for the things in the Rainbow Box.
