

A CHRISTMAS SHOPPER WHO HAS NOT OVERLOOKED THE KID BROTHER

THE MONDAY MORNING "STICK-UP," THE DREAD OF THE HOLIDAY PICK POCKET
The unlucky prisoner who is not scared out of his wits by having to face such an assemblage must have his nerve with him. The masked men are detectives. The prisoner is placed before them and subjected to the scrutiny of fifty pair of eyes, so they will be able to recognize him again, but he cannot recognize them.

ONE CAN ALWAYS HAVE FUN WITH A BOBSLED AND PLENTY OF SNOW
For the first time in several years Philadelphia has had a heavy snow before Christmas and every available hill in town and suburb has had its joyful patrons.

HUNTERS GET BIG BAG IN NEW JERSEY
Christopher Powell and his sons, Thomas and Harold, of Merchantville, and Benjamin, of Delair, brought back this load of game from Cape May County. Included were twelve ring-necked pheasants.

RETAIL DEALERS GATHER AS CHRISTMAS TREE CARS ARRIVE
Perhaps 200 cars loaded with fir and spruce have arrived in the Indiana avenue yards of the Reading Railway. Clusters of buyers meet every shipment.

YOU MAY NOT CARE FOR SNOW-CLOGGED STREETS, BUT THERE ARE OTHER INHABITANTS THAT DO
