PENSION MUTUAL

Judges Runkel and McCarrell, sitting in the Dauhpin County Common Pleas Court at Harrisburg, today will listen to argu-ments on the application filed several weeks ago by State Insurance Commissioner J. Denny O'Neil, to have a receiver appointed for the Pension Mutual Life Insurance Company of Pittsburgh, with a branch office in this city. in this city

The Chamber of Commerce based its complaint on the investigation of water conditions in the central section of the city conducted by the Chestnut Street Husiness Men's Association. It is explained that the condition of the water supply, already in-sufficient, becomes worse with the erection of each new office building. In this city. Officials of the Pension Mutual, which Commissioner O'Neil states has a deficiency of more than $1,000,000, and among whose policyholders are many poverty-stricken families living in different parts of Penn-families, will attend the hearing. Lyndon D, Wood, president of the company, may be one of the chief witnesses. Attorneys tepresenting the commany corrying words of representing the company carrying yards of egal documents today left for the Capitol. Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown, who will represent the Insurance Depart-ment, will be assisted by Deputy Attorney General William M. Hargest and Horace W. in the central part of the city." The Chestnut Street Business Men's As-sociation investigated water conditions in 105 stores and buildings between Ninth and Seventsenth streets on Chestnut, according to the communication. has been concluded. The period of time that has elapsed be-tween the receivership application by the Insurance Department and the time set for the hearing today has given opportunity for men from many points outside Pennsyl-vaula to write both to Mr. O'Neil and the Eventua Lapagen, and say that Wood ought to be put out of business. The most notable examples were insur-ance presidents of Washington and Ohio.

The most notable examples were insur-ance presidents of Washington and Ohio. Mr. Wood's activities seem to have been exceptionally carnest in those places, and the complaints made against him have been bitter. The Mayor of Cincinnati joins in one of the most bitter complaints made to Mr. O'Neil. that any interruption in the pumping source would prove a great inconvenience to mer-chants, manufacturers and householders. Mr. O'Neil.

Mr. O'Neil. The Insurance Department does not ex-pect as hard a battle today as if does iomorrow. The case against the Pension Mutual Life, officials say, is so complete that there is no doubt that the application for a receiver will be granted. They add that there is little reason why it should be opposed, because there is very little of the company left, they agy. In the Union Casualty, however, there are some particularly fine assets which the men in charge do not want to surrender to the State's disposition, say Insurance De-usual demands made upon the city's water supply. With two forty-sight-inch mains out of commission and a twelve-inch pipe in the same condition, the water system was heavily taxed. The average Monday demand for water is about twenty-five per cent greater than any other day of the week. This is charged against the city's "weekity wash." For the first time in six months the Corlathian avenue reservoir has seen placed in active service. This is filled with filtered water to meet emergen-cies. There is no danger in its use, as the water is tested twice a week. Mr. O'Neil thinks he can win, though. He understands that the Union Casualty defenders will try to get a postponement in the case by alleging that State examiners have so muddled the books and papers that the attorneys have not been able to make head or tail out of the continuous. head or tail out of the confusion. The In-surance Commissioner says he can prove the untruth of this, however, and is con-fident he can force the hearing.
