GHICAGO, Dec. 22.—'Let the two-bit seats remain," was Ban Johnson's parting what as he and Owner Charley Comiskey, of the White Sox, departed yesterday for a few days' outing at Excession Springs, Mo. The 'Cars' of the American League wants the twenty-five cent seats to stay in his official and will oppose any step that will be taken to do away with them.

Johnson and Comiskey plan to do a little golfing outfit. Neither has been a follower of the links, but both agreed that it was time to take it up. They will remain at the Springs until after Christmas.

Johnson also was not in favor of cutting the achedule to 140 games.

"Neither proposal will be discussed at the schedule meeting February," said Johnson. "The National League can do as it sees best, but the American League will make no change. We propose to continue to reter to the fame with the invited of the language of the tenter of the fame.

MRS. BRITTON REFUSES $250,000 FOR CARDS

Gardner, Owner of Memphis Club, Acting for Syndicate, Seeks St. Louis Franchise

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Dec. 22.—An offer of $250,000 for the St. Louis club of the National League made by Russell E. Gardner, multimillionaire, owner of the Memphis Club of the Southern League and brother of the Governor-elect of Missouri, was rejected by Mrs. Helen Hathway Britton, present owner, it was learned today. The offer was made through a third party.

White Gardner's offer was bona fide, Mrs. Britton seemed to think it was made in the interest of one of the numerous syndicates maid to have been formed for the purpose of buying the Cardinais.

"Any person who has a proposition to make for purchasing the Cardinals should come direct to me," said Mrs. Britton today. GOLFER, 7, BOOKED TO TOUR ENGLAND

Will Play for $1500 Stakes Against Cousin, Aged 11, Over Famous Courses

By SANDY MeNIBLICK

Today is his seventh birthday. But Mas-ter Aifred Hayhurst inflates his childish chest and sees no reason whatever why his should not be the leading character in what promises to be the most remarkable what promises to be the most remarkable juvenils golf match ever staged in the history of the game. He is broked to go to England this spring and grapple, for a side bet of over $1550, with another child golfer almost four years cider, in two matches for the money; one match to be played at Northenden, just outside of Manchester, and the other over the world-famous Sandwich course, where many a championship has been played by the foremost players of the world.

Hayburst is just about the size of a bagful of clube, and he weighs fully sixty pounds in his rompers. He is to play his cousts, Frank Hayburst, aged eleven, who is boy champion of a section of England. After the two children have decided which is the better golfer they will tour tirest Britain, linksing it on all the seat courses of the lale, the matches being probably for the benefit of Had Cross work in the war-

The two golfers of tender years thus will emulate the example some time ago of Harry Variton and Ed Ray, two of the world's greatest golfers, who played on all the great American courses, though the proceeds were for their own personal pin Master Hayhurst is a product of the pub-lie links of New York. He plays in fin-leshed form, the result of much drilling at the hands of Gil Nicholls, a famous pro in this country.

"I don't care if he is my cousin," cried the boy marvel, in referring to his cousin Frank. "He's an Englishman, and no Englishman can beat an American. No, siree?'

The little fellow glibly can repeat the cablegrams that sewed up the deal. He is wildly excited over the prospect of the can voyage and the matches. This is the all came about:

Alfred's father, who is a hotel man, got a letter from his brother in Eng-land, who is a reserve officer in the army, that his son Frank, Alfred's cousin, was playing marvelous golf and he didn't think there was a kid his age in the world who could beat him at golf.

Alfred's father snorted. Paternal pride in his own offspring throbbed violently in his bosom. He promptly cabled a defi to his brother in England and named as the stakes the expenses of bringing over his family. This will mean more than $1500. but Hayhurst, Sr., got a prompt reply from the other side accepting the bet.
"Sooner the better," was the terse mes-sage of acceptance.

Young Haynurst is well known to the throngs of golfers daily playing over the metropolitan public course. Many a veteran twice the statute of the midget Aifred and with an official New York handleap has been licked by the towhended, white-knickered golfer. Alfred has a younger brother, Tommy, whose tender age of five years he regards with the appropriate goorn of the older brother. Nevertheless, Tommy also is quite a mashie wielder and plays almost daily with his "big" brother, who is rehearsing for his foreign invasion

GALLINGER BLOCKS INDORSEMENT OF NOTE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Representative Balley, of Pennsylvania, today introduced a resolution calling on Congress to indorse and "approve" the President's action in and approve the Freedent's action in sending notes to beligerent nations of Europe, seking a statement of peace terms. Senator Hitchcock falled today in his second attempt to have the Senate indorse the action of Freedent Wilson in sending his peace note to the warring nations of Europe. On Senator Gallinger's motion ac-tion on the resolution was held up until after the holidays.

ARGENTINE OFFICIALS SILENT ON SITUATION

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. and Installed Secretary of State Lansing caused officialdom here to close up, clam-like.
His subsequent modification failed to restore talkativeness. Officials evidently considered the situation too delicate to discusse.

Neither the Wilson note nor the Lansing statements has yet materially affected Bouth American markets. A majority of traders do not expect any speedy results from either.

Press comment is typical of this view.
Editorials agree that the Wilson note is "valiant and sensible" and expresses the sentiments of belligarent peoples as well as noutrals. The newspapers agree what in the diagnosis President Wilson seeks is obviously necessary to core the present disease.

HOW NEUTRAL RIGHTS HAVE BEEN VIOLATED BY THE BELLIGERENTS

in any way than by making the Ger-mans realise that frightfulness does not pay, that militarism is not going to rule the world?

What are we fighting fur? Not territory, not greater strength as a nation. We are fighting for two things—for peace now and for security for peace in time to come.

The severest critics of the note newspapers like the Chronicle, which has consistently been animated by a desire to cultivate befor relations between Eng-land and America. The Chronicle editorial declares "no American State paper in a generation has been calculated to cause so much pain, not merely to English-men, but to liberal opinion throughout western and southern Europe." The note was characterized "in effect, however, dif-ferent in intention, merely an appendix to the Berlin peace offer."

Popular comment was much stronger than the press. Some expressions heard on the streets and in the subways were unprintable. The public was generally in-dignant at the notes implied query. What are you fighting about, anyhow? Britons think they had made that sufficiently clear long ago.

Also, there was unqualified popular re-sentment at the placing of England on the same level with Germany regarding its attitude toward small nations.

Frequent references were made, both by the press and public, to the interview which David Lloyd George granted in September, all taking the view that the sentiments expressed by the man now Premier in that statement ought to have been sufficient to forestall American intervention.

Despite Wileon's statement disclaiming any idea of "intervention." but merely offering a suggration of peace, the British people cannot interpret the note otherwise than an attempt at intervention. "We're going to finish this business selves," is the national sentiment in Eng

Much speculation was aroused here and specialism was aroused here over the meaning of that paragraph in the Wil-son note asserting that maybe peace is nearer than the belligerents know. From the British standpoint the most charitable explanation of the note is that Wilson has been secretly advised that Ger many is ready to accede to the Allies' de mands for restoration, reparation and

The Daily News, after saying that no one can fail to appreciate the spirit in which President Wilson's proposal was made. says:

The history of the great struggle in his own country is too recent and too memorable for President Wilson to be unaware of the peris of too hasty in-tervention. From our side it was the specter of European intervention that haunted Lincoln, especially in those days when the cause of the North was passing through its darkest phase. The Liverpool Post says:

President Wilson must not be sur-prised if, so far as the Allies are con-cerned, his intervention produces a state of mind contrary to that at which he aims. The Allies will readily give the President credit for the best of in-tentions, but they will be justified in wondering whether, from their point of view, the note is not particularly illwith the consciousness of criminality of which Germany bas been found guilty in the judgment of the civilized world and the extent to which this will induce her to yield to the Allies' inexorable demands for guarantees against future barbarism.

The Daily Mail says:

The greatest astonishment is caused In this country by the news that the President of the United States has signalised his re-election by dispatching to the Allies and the enemy Powers a note in which he expresses the opinion that the time has come for both sides to state their terms of peace. All the world knows Mr. Wilsem's deaire for peace. But we may doubt whether the note would ever have sent if the British Government bad taken the trouble to put its case before the American people by such skillful and persistent propaganda as the pro-Germans in the United States have car-

The Pail Mail Gazette says:

President Wilson's zeal for humanity has evoked a step which will create the bitterest resentment of all those who are fighting, working and dying for the very priciples he has at heart.

Only the intelligence and self-restraint of the Allied press and of the Allied nations can prevent the note causing a serious breach of sympathy between themselves and the American people. Wilson evidently does not real-

ALLIES WILL NOT FLATLY REJECT WILSON'S NOTE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.

For the same reason that Great Britain and her Allies did not flatly reject the peace proposals of the Teutonic Powers, Great Britain and her Allies will not flatly turn down the suggestion made by President Wilson in his "peace messages" to the belligerents, is the opinion of some Entents Allied diplomats here today. This opinion was voiced today to your correspondent in intimate and confidential talks at two of the most important Enterts embessions. f the most important Entente in Washington.

At these embassies these two reasons were given for the above opinion:

To show officially and formally any "regret" over the President's peace suggestions by flatly refusing his request timed and ill-judged. There is the possibility that Mr. Wilson's efforts are directed toward eliciting from Germany concrete terms of peace, which she withheld in her extraordinary appreach to the Entents. In that case a neefal purpose may be served, for we then would be in a position to judge whether war weariness is associated with the consciousness of criminality for specific terms would be playing di-rectly into German plants, since Ger-many then would lave opportunity to referrite out-repeated protestations that the Entente Allies are responsible for "Clothing-That's All"

prolonging the war.
Such a flat turndown would tend to weaken what sympathy there now is in the United States for the Ententa cause.

These Allied diplomats, however, did not hesitate to admit 'chagrin' over the Fresident's suggestion that specification of which all allied objectives is nocessary. They said Allied speakers have been specifying their objec-tives for two years and a half, and that they ought to be apparent to all students of the war.

Secretary of State Lansing's two statements of yesterday in interpretation of President Wilson's peace note, were forwarded today to American diplomats

The evident purpose in thus transmitting the statements was that there might be no misunderstanding or misinterpretation of the text abroad. The diplomats will be free to inform their foreign offices of these official texts, and it is felt that the second statement will serve to correct any misconstructions which might be placed upon the first.

Moreover, dispatch of the two notes will probably obviate the necessity for a supplemental note which Lansing said he would send if his first "verge-of-war" remarks were misinterpreted. were misinterpreted.

The fact that the texts are forwarded to the diplomats will enable them to present to the European courts as the official attitude of this Government the idea that the United States regards transgressions or its rights as increasingly grave but as thus far causing no consideration of a change in the neutrality policy. in the neutrality policy.

Fresident Wilson may occupy a temporary role as mediator in the European war.

There was a well defined report in diplomatic circles here today that Germany shortly will furnish him with a statement of the terms on which she is ready to make peace. But she will instat, this report says, that he obtain from the Entente a similar statement—which must be specific—before he can communicate the German position to her enemies or make them This was considered almost certain to he the first result of the Wilson peace not to Europe. Count von Bernstorff, the Ger man Ambannador, declined to discuss th man Ambassador, declined to discuss the report for publication. It was admitted in German circles, however, that it was a strong possibility. It also was pointed out that, if Germany takes any such action, the Entente Powers will be placed at a very decided strategic disadvantage if they fail to do the same. And with two widely differing sets of peace terms before him, President Wilson can be expected to make a serious effort to try to find if there cannot be discovered a common ground of understanding between them.

It already is certain that Germany is preparing to take the widest advantage of the It stready is certain that Germany is preparing to take the widest advantage of the offer of Precident Wilson. Confidential advices reaching this city this afternoon say that the German Chancellor is to confer with Ambassador Gerard, now due back at his post, at once. He will furnish him with all available information regarding. Germany's intentions, it is said. These advices flatly state that the object of the conference is to be "in discuss mediation and prospects of peace." Officials who learned of this proposed conference today said it simply emphasized the earnestness with which Germany is laboring for the end of the war.

Recovering slowly from the disray whirl

Recovering slowly from the digny whire of yesterday's intery-making developments, Government officials and foreign diplomats here today turned to the Foreign Offices of the belligerent nations for the next peace

As outlined in early reports, strong exception was at first taken to President Wilson's overtures in both the English and Canadian press. This outspeken exception seemingly today has been toned down, the move now being called merely "inoppor-
