COMMISSIONERS MEET

North and South Church Representatives Discuss Reunion Favored by Bishops

DIVISION CAME IN 1844

Bishop's Marriage and Loyalty to Slave-Holding Wife Resulted in Break

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29 .- Effective work en the plan of corporate union of the two Methodist Episcopal Churches began this meraing at the First Methodist Episcopal church when the two commissions on union met for organization into a joint commis-

Bishops Earl Cranston, of the Northern Church, and Edwin D. Mouzen, of the Southern Church, have been foremost among advocates of union and consider the continued disunion almost an iniquity, according to the tenor of the speeches made in Baltimore and alsewhere.

After the joint commission finishes its work the two general conferences, the hun-dreds of annual conferences and possibly the thousands of individual congregations have each to vote on the proposition before it becomes officially the will of the two minations.

The split which resulted in the separation of the Methodist Episcopal Church came in 1844-45, at which time Bishop James O. Andrews, who had married a slave-holding gife, refused to oppose stavery. The south-ern Methodists then sprang into being.

Time wore on and the two bodies drifted farther apart, until, as years passed, the denominations saw it was where to get together and become one again, after the teaching of the evangelist, Wesley.

DISCOUNTS RADIUM AS CURE FOR CANCER

Cornell Expert Tells Scientists Early Diagnosis Is Only Remedy

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Radium cannot be relied upon as permanent cure for cancer and its general recommendation for use as a cancer cure is inadvisable. Dr. James Ewing, of Cornell University, said today, speaking before the division of physiology of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Doctor Ewing urged early diagnosis as the only effective aid to cure or control can-cer. He spoke of the possibilities of radium as being limited, though in the future radium cures may prove more sweepingly Mortality from cancer can be reduced if people will take proper care of themselves, Dr. Joseph C. Bloodgood, of Johns Hop-kins University, said:

"Cancer is not a blood disease." Doctor Bloodgood said. "It is not a disease of which any one has any reason to be shamed. So far as physicians can tell it is not brought on by ill health or poor food. It comes to the healthy man or the walthy woman, but if the easily noticed warnings be heeled our task becomes comparatively enay." paratively easy."

Belgians Charge War Workers Victim of Nervous Breakdown Are Being Deported From Homes

LONDON, Dec. 28. — Germany is now going so far in her Belgian deportations as to arrest and transfer from theighan soil Belgians engaged in relief work and hitherto protected by the card of the American Relief Commission.

Reliaf Commission.

This charge was made today by the Belgian Ministry of Justice.

"Not only are the Germans deporting men who are still employed," the Ministry asserted; 'not only are they carrying off children from fifteen to seventeen years of age and factory managers, farmers and physicians, but they are now brutally arresting for deportation Belgians engaged in the ratief of their own countrymen.

"This new outrage has been committed in at least three cities. At Gemblous two chiefs of the local agency of the relief committee and two other members of the organization were deported.

Varied and valuable were the lessons learned today by the visiting soil tillers, their wives and children from the experts of the State College faculty. First they were told that the dairy cow is the foundation of agriculture and the wealth of the farmer, and then were impressed with the fact that co-operation in production and marketing their products will bring about a wonderful agricultural development, such ick L. Small, the Roston broker, to murder his wife in their lonely mountain cottage last September.

A $20,000 joint life insurance policy, the State charged, was the temptation which led the broker to commit the crime. As a basis for contention, the prosecution opened today's session by putting on the stand Charles. F. Merritt, an insurance agent, who testified that last March Small took out the policy and maid him $1.107.60 as who testified that last March Small took out the policy and paid him $1,107,60 as the first year's premium. It was specified, the agent asserted, that the money would be payable to either Small or his wife in the event of the other's death. Crowds which famined the little Court-room and overflowed into the yard outside

The mystery of the "Morgue" is explained —not of the gloomy place on Word street, but of the butcher shop traveling under the same name. You know the place, Harry Beckman's shop up at 2112 Germantown avenue, the shop decorated like a circus with fed, green and blue posters no larger than the side of a house announcing that prime lamb chops worth thirty cents and upward could be bought for eight cents. Not that it ever did Harry any good upward could be bought for eight cents.

Not that it ever del Harry any good to decorate so extensively. Nary a one of the folks within a wide radius of Germantawn and Ausquehanna avenues would patronize his store. One can't be too careful in these days of substitution, they would say, as they carefully shunned the "Morgue," while wondering how Harry could sell as good stuff as its said he had for the price of a small stew.

Harry's grand entrance in the Central

Harry's grand entrance in the Central Police Station today solved all the questions that the good folk of the vicinity had been asking themselves. He hadn't been asking themselves, He hadn't been asking themselves, as was charged, digging up stray carcases of suclent animals and parading the creaking Joint as fresh beed. Not Harry.
