CAMDEN FIVE HAS CLEAN SLATE FOR FIRST WEEK'S COMPETITION IN SECOND SERIES' OF CAGE RACE

Skeeters Get Good Start. Penn Basketball Team, Still Unbeaten, Plays Princeton Next

By CHANDLER D. RICHTER

By CHANDLER D. RICHTER CANDEN Is again off to an excellent start. Granden Baser of Longue series, and apparently have returned to the form dis-pared early in the first series. For several works during the first series. and was left far in the rear. Perhaps Camden will be able to keep sing in the second series. More can be taid about this in another week, as the Beeters have two strong opponents to meet. If Camden wins from Greystock and Read-ta this week, it will be a mighty hard the boverhaud, as it plays much better when things are breaking right, whereas the Skeeters always have had a habit of caking when the going is rough. The gradient surprise to date has been cacking when the going is rough. The greatest surprise to date has been restances two defents, one of which was setained on the home floor against the tail-ed De Nerl aggregation. Trenton has an scellent chance to recuperate this week when it plays Reading in Trenton and De Nerl at Musical Fund Hall. The Jerseymen are hard to best in Trenton, and this gives Gai's team a great advantage in to-gate build. while De Nerl is still an generatinty. ertaints.

meetianty. The Neri survey will be much stronger than during the first series; but Myers's team is still lacking in team play and badly in need of reserve strength. The team play cannot be perfected in a week, which means that Trenton has a splendid chance to seen up the new series with the down-tere free. town five.

Penn Plays Tigers Friday

A more interesting program is scheduled for the interesting program is scheduled for the intercollegiate Lengue, with the all-important Penn-Princeton game as the headliner. Followers of the college fives are of the opinion that this game will vir-fully decide the championship, unless Yals in steamer than is expected. onger than is expected.

is stronger than is expected. It has been proved to the satisfaction of all followers of the game that Dartmouth. Coumbla and Cornell have been eliminated from the list of contenders, leaving Penn. Princeton and Yale to fight it out. The im-pression is general that Yale's splendid showing to date has been due more to the weakness of the three second division teams than to the brilliancy of the Elis, and an-other hattle right down to the closing week other battle right down to the closing week of the season between Penn and Princeton is expected. Penn and Princeton are scheduled to rean and Finction are not not to meet on the Tigers' home floor, which is an immense handicap for the Red and Hus to overcome. Last season Penn was beaten by the Tigers in Princeton, but managed to win in this city, the season ending in a tie, the play-off being won to fundity toos eading in a UE, the play-on being work by Jourdet's team. A victory for Fern will improve its pen-mant chance 100 per cent, and Jourdet beges to have the Red and Blue five on edge for this game. There has been a gradual improvement in Fern's play since the opening of the season, but there is still peer for a great deal of improvement. As Frinceton is said to be stronger than last measur, and there is no question but what Fern is worker, the odds are greatly in favor of a victory for the Tigers in this first clash. Later on in the season Penn should be stronger: but on form Prince-ton has a great advantage just now.

on has a great advantage just now. Yals is scheduled to play Columbia in New York on Friday, and another oppor-unity to get a line on the Ells will present tunity to get a line on the Ells will present itself, though comparative scores often are misleading. By comparative scores Yale is a triffe stronger than Penn, with Prince-ton leading both by a large margin, but the dope may not run true to form. If Tale is to be a serious contender it should have little trouble winning from the weak-est Columbia team in years. ALHAMBRA ARCADIA APOLLO
