George E. Mackenzie Gets $125 a Month Position—Other City Employees Named

In order to expedite the work of the Zoning Commission, George E. Mackenzie, president of the board appointed to district the city and pass upon the character of buildings, today named George E. Mackenzie, 122 North Twenty-first street, as draftsman at a salary of $125 a month. The members of the commission have had a bill introduced in Councils appropriating $10,000, so that the work may continue without interruption. The only appropriation made to date is $1000, and this sum was for small to permit the permanent appointment of a drafting force. Other city appointments made today include Edward J. Burke, 2218 South Hembury street, draftsman, Bureau of Survey, $90; Peter J. Cavannagh, 1218 South Twenty-fifth street, assistant superintendent repair shop, Bureau of Fire, $120; Samuel W. GRAYSON APPOINTMENT TO CAUSE SENATE ROW

Nomination of President's Personal Friend for Rear Admiral Will Be Attacked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—One of the loudest little "vandalism rows" kicked up for some time in the Senate is expected on the President's nomination of his personal friend and physician, Lieutenant-Commander Cary T. Grayson, to be a rear admiral.

Records show that Grayson jumped approximately 250 men of his own branch—the medical service. Investigation today indicated that the jump is the largest on record, with the possible exception of military promotions based on war distinction. Grayson, still a young man, has been in the service only a comparatively few years.

FIREMEN AND POLICE SAVE NINE FROM FIRE

Two Families Carried Down Ladders After Being Trapped by Flames

Firemen today rescued nine persons, including five children, who were trapped when fire of mysterious origin started in the dwelling of Michael Mia, 2241 Callowhill street. The firemen carried the inmates of the house down ladders while flames and smoke poured from the windows. Stephen Ganz, who occupied the third floor with his wife and two children, Della, four years old, and Frank, two years old, awakened, choking and gasping from smoke which filled the apartment. He tried to lead his family down the stairs, but their escape was cut off by flames and smoke. The second floor was occupied by Mia and his wife and three children, Louise, six years old; Stephen, three years old, and Benjamin, one year old. The Mia family also tried to get down the stairs, but was driven back. In the meantime Police-man McDonald, of the Twentieth and Biscuitwood streets station, had turned in an alarm. Captain Hutt and Hoseman Park, of Engine Company 18, scrambled up ladders and rescued the Mia family. Lieutenant Tush and Hoseman Blackman, Griner and Washburn went to the third floor and brought down the Ganz family. All of the rescued were in their night clothing and sought refuge in the homes of neighbors.

Three persons narrowly escaped suffocation early today when fire destroyed part of the grocery and dwelling of A. Gyzanski, 1441 Ruffner street. Gyzanski was aroused by smoke pouring into his bedroom. He carried his wife and child to a rear secondary window. They jumped to the roof of a porch and escaped through an adjoining house. The fire, which was started by an overheated stove, caused a loss of $1700.

"Lost" Children Safe With Neighbors
Rescued by kind neighbors when a bedroom fire filled the home with a smoke, six young children of Charles Gorman, 2570 Cedar street, were lost to their mother for two hours this morning. The fire was trifling and of unknown origin. Four children and a three-year-old child, Francis, was burned to death in the Gorman home.

BOOST IN STORAGE RATE AT PORTS INVALIDATED

Charges on Grain Illegal as Means to Ease Car Congestion, Board Rules

The proposed increased charges for storage of grain in elevators and cars awaiting export in Philadelphia and other eastern ports have been prohibited by the Interstate Commerce Commission in a decision rendered in Washington today. The new charges, proposed in a new tariff schedule last summer by the trunk-line railroads to relieve congestion, were bitterly opposed by the Philadelphia Commercial Exchange and similar organizations in other cities.

A hearing on the case was held in Baltimore last July. The proposed increases in this city would have doubled storage charges after sixty days, and quadrupled them after 120 days.

L. G. Graf, president of the Philadelphia Commercial Exchange, welcomed the news of the Interstate Commerce Commission's decision. He said the best exchange was the first to protest against the increase. He received official notification from Washington today that the trunk-line railroads had been advised by the Interstate Commerce Commission that other methods of relieving congestion must be devised and that the plan to increase storage charges had been rejected.

The congestion, Mr. Graf said, had been especially noticeable in this port and in Baltimore.

PHILIP BOILEAU DIES; NOTED FOR PAINTINGS

Nursed Constantly by His Wife, Formerly of This City, Who Posed for Him

Philip Boileau, noted portrait painter and magazine illustrator, is dead at his home in New York, a victim of pneumonia. He was fifty-three years old. Mr. Boileau had been ill only a few days. He was nursed constantly by his wife, who was Miss Emily Gilbert, formerly of Philadelphia, and who posed for virtually all of his pictures. She was the original "Poster Girl."

The marriage of Mr. Boileau and Miss Gilbert is well remembered here. In 1907 the artist announced that after searching for feminine beauty in Miss Gilbert. She then was a student in the Sargent Dramatic School. They were married in October of that year.

Mr. Boileau then made her beauty famous all over the country. The "Boileau Girl" was depicted as sweet, dainty and tender and always feminine. She never was so cold and haughty as the "Gibson Girl."

Mr. Boileau was born in Quebec, Can., and was a son of the late Charles and Mrs. Susan T. Denton Boileau.

Although Boileau's father was a baron and French consul general at Quebec, in manhood the artist dropped the family spelling of his name and paid no claim to his title. He always preferred to be a plain American citizen. Mr. Boileau was first married in Milan, his wife being a Russian singer, who later died.

It has been Mr. Boileau's habit for several years to take tarantol walks in the early morning on the lawn of his Long Island estate. This is believed to have resulted in a severe cold which preceded the attack of pneumonia.
