Gimbel Sale of Furniture Opens Monday

Monday Brings the GIMBEL SILK SALE

Year after year on this corresponding day the Gimbel Store starts a sale of silks that runs well into February.

There is no such another sale held either in America or Europe. And so wide has the interest grown that hundreds have already written in to know the opening date.

Very rich silks are included—as rich as found in any store's stock.

A very wonderful variety is offered. During the opening week all silks in the regular stocks are sold at lowered price.

One steamship brought $100,000.00 worth of silks for Gimbels, while worthy silks from America's chief producers are here, too—and, you know, America outstrips Europe in the yardage of silks woven for American use.

For every possible silk use the best possible silk will be ready Monday—and at an average half price.

Go to any large Philadelphia function—with one who knows to point out the gowns—and Gimbels will be found to have furnished the fabrics for a great proportion of them.

Let consideration of any proposition be based on reason—good sense. A man not a watch-maker would injure your watch in an attempt at repair. He might be a most estimable man and be sorry—but the watch would have suffered.

In any considerable matter of life one goes to a man reasonably classed as an "expert" for help. Now, buying furniture is a considerable matter in the home.

What store reasonably stands forth as best able to help?

- 1st. The store of vast buying power.
- 2d. Coupled with low percent of overhead expense.
- 3d. The store of experience—whose people know furniture and furniture styles and periods—and values.
- 4th. The store that can refer you to great numbers of extensive, particular jobs of furnishing.
- 5th. The store known to be actuated by a determination to win a greater and greater volume of business, rather than mere quick, big profits.

Think of any modern, wonderful hotel—whose furniture requirements are as units corresponding to the wants of many homes plus great durability. Gimbels will be found to have furnished most of such hotels wholly or in part.

The increased changing from separate houses to apartments has developed a need for beautiful furniture—correct by the edicts of furniture fashion—very compact in form. The demand is for furnishing without crowding.

Will you measure the Gimbel Sale and its helpfulness by the standards we have suggested, or by any harder standards occurring to you—judge all furniture sellers by the rule?—

Gimbels so generally win in such tests.

Needn't wait until Monday. These are Courtesy Days. Examine the incoming stocks; select, if you please, with greatest care and convenience.

But the selling begins Monday.
