JASPER AND GREYSTOCK ARRANGE PLAY-OFF SERIES, BUT BREAK ON OFFICIALS TO REFEREE CONTEST

Bill Kennedy Insists That None but Eastern League Men Officiate—Manager Bailey Wanted Ward Brennan—Series Appears Doomed

IT APPEARS a pretty good bet at present that there will be no series to determine the championship of the Eastern League and that Jasper will stand winner of the first half and Greystock a winner of the second.

Table with 4 columns: Team, W, L, Pct, P.P.C. Rows include Yale, Princeton, Cornell, etc.

Under League Jurisdiction The meeting last night should have really been a league affair, but it was thought to facilitate matters by arranging a few of the details and submitting them at a board of directors' meeting called for Cooper Hall Friday evening.

Uniforms—Jasper, blue jerseys and blue stockings, with white stripes; Greystock, white jerseys and stockings.

The conferees did not agree on Camden without giving due consideration to the subject. Every phase of the situation was discussed and it was soon that no Greystock people would secure admittance as Jasper and rooters of the Kensingtonians would hardly get in at Cooper Hall.

Two local boys of considerable prominence, Powell and Armstrong, of the champion Hancock team, made their debut in fast society and showed up well.

Agreed to play Wednesday, March 21, and Saturday, March 24, in the Camden Armory, home of the Camden Eastern League club.

Both Hummer and Hoffman are on edge for the shoot. The Philadelphia live bird crack tied with Harry Clair for high gun honors in the Point Breeze Club's weekly test, each killing twenty-eight of thirty birds. Hummer also is shooting in excellent form.

Hummer is a former local man, having been a member of the old South Philadelphia Silver Snakes, La Salle College dependency, in a 100-target contest in 1914, where he shot 93 days of his 100 against 86 for Wood.

Robert C. Polwell and "Nile" Berry, of University of Pennsylvania, tried the trapshooting game recently, Bob scored 3650 and Harry 3500. Both seem to be doing a little better from handling the pigskin.

South Philly has a crack shot in Fred Walls, of the Southwark Club. On Saturday he scored 100 in a 100-target contest, his second perfect accomplishment in a few weeks.

ing and developing facilities of the establishment, not the studio. If the correspondent who wrote an amusing letter to this department concerning "One of Many" will furnish his name and address, he will receive an explanation why the film was not reviewed in the EVENING LEDGER at the time of its release.

The burning question of Mary Garden's first photoplay for Goldwyn has been decided. It will be "Thais," the firm having bought the world rights to the work from the author, Anatole France. Many Philadelphians remember the prima donna's appearance as the Alexandrian courtesan during the Hammerstein days at what is now the Metropolitan. It was one of her most popular roles, and should screen extremely well. Incidentally, Magnetic Mary promises to evolve "a sensational new dance" for the movie. Censors' line will form on the right.

One of the publicity stunts in connection with McClure's "Seven Deadly Sins" is a series of recipes linked with the names of several stars. Among them are Potatoes Nance O'Neill; Shirley Mason, Sundaes, and Crab Flakes La Guere; Mabel Dylon, Furdy, of the Ladies World, is the originator.

SELIG'S "THE CRISIS"

Something About William N. and His Early Successes in Films—Garden's First

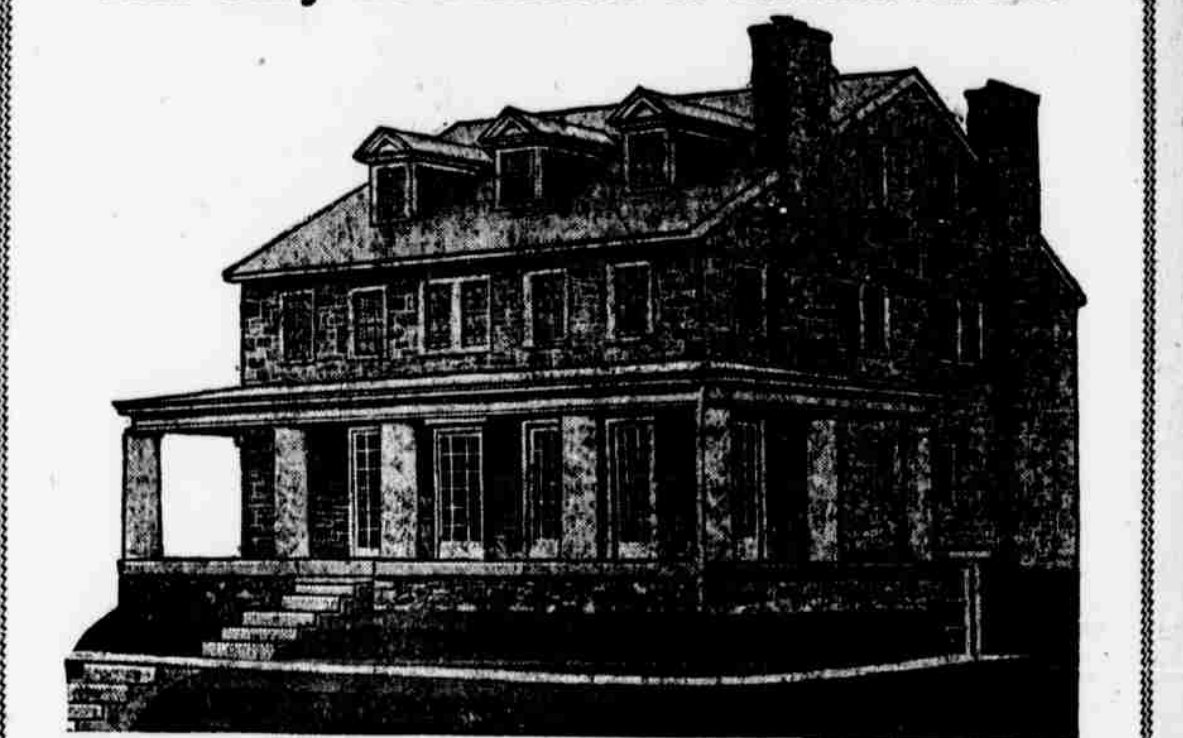

By the Photoplay Editor In spite of the steady advance of the photoplay season, Philadelphia has a lot of good things—or what are heralded as such—in store for it. Announcement already has been made of the booking of "Joan the Woman" with Geraldine Farrar, at the Chestnut Street Opera House early in April.

William N. Selig has to his credit a good many spectacular motion pictures. It was his firm that long ago put out a "Christopher Columbus" film, with Charles Clay as the egg-balancer. It was considered a marvel of pretentiousness at that time.

"The Crisis" is an adaptation of Winston Churchill's novel of anti-Chinese days. History figures in it, as in "The Birth of a Nation." On the stage it was portrayed by James K. Hackett and Charlotte Walker.

The editor regrets that he was not able to answer the query of several readers as to the occupation of the Lubin plant by Lewis J. Selznick until now. Even at present it is impossible to reply definitely, since the only announcement of a resumption of activities at Twentieth and Lehigh was made at a banquet during the winter. It is understood, on purely official authority, that Mr. Selznick will use the print-

U.S. Will Lead Neutral Opinion and Influence

Authoritative Article by Lincoln Colcord in Tomorrow's Public Ledger

TOMORROW'S Public Ledger will contain an important dispatch from Washington by Lincoln Colcord. His article is of such significance that arrangements have been made for its simultaneous publication in the London Times, Manchester Guardian and Petit Parisien.

Mr. Colcord makes the point that no matter how the outstanding issues of the nations concerned may be disposed of, the United States will control the balance of moral power at the peace conference after the war; that it has devolved upon America, whether she enters the war or not, to keep alight the lamp of liberalism throughout the world; and that despite the general tone of press comment in the belligerent countries, this view is tacitly accepted by the various European governments.
