T-SEASON BASKETBALL SERIES EGINS TONIGHT WITH BOTH TEAMS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

sather man tells us that spring is with us once more, and he may be right nat. In any event, the well-known "can" is about to be attached to indoor Before this is done, however, followers of basketball are curious to learn team in the Eastern League is "champion," the Greys or Jasper. The big ies which starts tonight in the armory at Camden is to basketball what Id's series is to baseball. Where is the fan or fanette who can predict with ree of certainty the outcome of this classic, for classic it is? Nowhere in have ten such wonderful cage performers been seen working in the act, and there is little wonder that the games are discussed everywhere that I men meet. Tell us where you live and we will tell you the team you for. Kensington fans can see nothing but Jasper and they travel miles to the Jewels sparkle, for it must be admitted that the uptowners have the following in the Eastern League. Were there a hall situated at Kensington and Cumberland street with the capacity of 5000, Jasper would turn 'em on big nights. Downtown the Greystock rooters have grown up with the rs of the team they pull for. Ally McWilliams, "Ray" Cross and "Jocko" nce all learned the floor game at Cooper Battalion Hall. As a gambling tion it looks like a fifty-fifty bet, and the man who can find odds would no trouble locating a pauper on Wall street. The manager of each team has ed sublime faith in the ability of his players to come through with colors , but there appears to be a greater feeling of confidence manifest in the camp the Greys than in that of their opponents. Fans are analyzing the relative des of the various players and attempting to prove everything by figures. In world's baseball series an "unknown" generally emerges a hero, and who tell but that some youngster-Dave Kerr or "Jocko" Lawrence-will prove the "man of the hour" in the cage, crisis?

MANY a battle this pair waged in the American League when Kerr played for Girard and Lawrence represented the "Lizzies." Both men had a tough time proving their ability to perform in the Eastern League, and here's hoping that both prove that "they belong."

Teams Shift Style of Play to Suit Occasion

ONE point is clearly evident in the work of the rivals. It is that they are the only clubs to shift their style of play to suit the occasion. Both Greystock ind Jasper are proficient in a close-guarding and airtight exhibition, as has been strated whenever the pair have met. They are equally at home when meetsuch a club as Camden, which plays a wide open game, or even playing each r. According to statistics, when the two have met the Greys have had an vantage of two field goals, making a total of thirty-five to their opponents' Firty-three. Both have displayed their abilities when engaging Camden, Jasper ering seventy-nine field goals against the Skeeters and the Greys about a indred during the season. On the other hand, the lads across the river have I more goals when opposing the Churchmen than against the Jewels.

The series may be decided by the foul shooting or the individual struggle ben Marty Friedman and Lou Sugarman. At tossing the leatherfrom the fifteenmark Fogarty seems to have the edge on Hough, but the Friedman-Sugarman ud is likely to be a battle royal. Many of the Greys' choice plays are built around arman, and one of the features of Jasper's play during the last season has been te fact that Lou has been stopped by Friedman. If Greystock can find some way protect its star from his opponent, its chances will be enhanced about fifty per L. Sugarman can go in there and get the ball oftener than any other man in se game. The fact that the series is to be played on a neutral floor must be dered. Both teams have shown the ability to run up big scores on the amden floor, but what they will do when they meet is another thing again.

How would you like to be Billy Kelly, who has been selected for referee? Incidentally, we would rather be on the outside looking in than on the inside looking out.

Follow-Through Applied to Prize-Fighting

WAY back there in the wilds of winter of the present happy era many pretty little layouts appeared in print on the subject of Chick Evans going to the at-flavored clime of Pasadena, Cal., for the sole purpose of showing the struggling ago Cubs the gentle art of swinging a baseball bat with something more than mere intent to beat the ball out of the lot. Chick was to show them how to stually accomplish the feat through the simple extremity of using the follow-rough of the golf stroke, by which Chick gets so much deadly line and carry ith his brassle on the links. For Chick, to those ignorant of golf, is both ateur and open champion of the links game. He knows the golf stroke in its ir, and Charles Weeghman, owner of the Cubs, had the very good idea that if ck could only teach his men how to swing their bats with a follow-through for listance, as does Chick in golf, the Cubs would bat the pill over the wall and out of nds so much that it would be costing him regular money for new balls. Chick not able to go with the Cubs, whether on account of the amateur agitation on Harry Hough will start at forward for Jasper in tonight's Eastern League play-off game with Greystock scheduled for the Camden Armory. For some days there has been rumors that the Trenton star would be displaced, but the Jasper management insists the regular team will play.

The Greys are in excellent shape, having held their final workout on Monday evening, when Captain Joe Fogarty drilled the Churchmen in a few new plays he intends to spring on the Kensingtonians. Managers Balley and Kennedy wish to correct the reports circulated that the sec-ond game will be played on Friday evening.

It takes place, as originally scheduled, on Saturday The Camden Armory is a spacious one and close to 4000 can secure accommoda-tions, 2000 of these being placed on sale tonight. The battle is scheduled to begin by 9 o'clock sharp, possibly a few min-utes sooner. This can easily be done, as there is no preliminary. The game should really begin at 8:45 p. m., and it is pos-sible that this schedule will be carried out.

Millville scored first blood in the series for the championship of South Jersey against Bridgeton, the score being 44-38. Curlette's foul shooting proved a big fac-tor, as he caged 24 out of 30. M. Tullis, for Bridgeton, landed 18 out of 28. The field goals were: G. Tullis, 2; Ehrler, 5; M. Tullis, 1; Loveland, 2; Johnson, 1; Demaris, 4; Bacon, I; Curlette, 1; Franchle, 4,

FULTON LOSES DECISION IN BATTLE FOR MANAGER

Heavyweight Boxer Must Be Handled

by Mike Collins, Wisconsin Court's Verdict

HUDSON, Wis., March 21 .- The State Circuit Court has handed down a decision that the five-year contract entered into be-tween Fred Fulton and Mike Collins, by which Collins was to be his manager for five years, is in full effect, and that Frank Force, now his manager, is not such by law. The decision reinstates Collins as Fulton's manager.

BALLYMACAD, 100 TO 9. WINS GRAND NATIONAL

Joe Yates, star of last year's freshman team, is now eligible for varsity diamond work at Dear Old Penn and will have plenty of chance to shine in the first-base corner left vacant by the graduation of Eddie McNichol.

subject or what not matters little. The point we now wish to bring forward is that Chick or any one else could very well give many boxers some advice on this ame subject as "follow-through."

Enter Those in the Plot

TWO boxers entered the ring at the Olympia on Monday night. One was the world's champion featherweight, Johnny Kilbane. He was full of the old hopcound. He was in and out. He was a ring general. He took advantage of his nent's mistakes. He had "all the shots." He was a master of his craft. at was as plain as the fact that his opponent was down on the floor on his ands and knees once, shaking his head vigorously trying to clear away the grog-ness of a mighty bang on the chin which had sent him to the floor to the music the referee's count. It was a real wallop that Kilbane had given him. Kilbane mpion not only because he is clever, but most of all because he can hit so rd. The reason he can hit so hard is because he has what golfers call "followagh." He not only hits the mark with his weight in the shot, but would hit other mark just as hard beyond.

By contrast there was Bobby Reynolds. He is a great boxer. The fans raised roof when the popular Bobby left the ring after a bout with a slugger. Bobby s clever. He had all the shots. He showered jabs and miscellaneous passes on man, but he didn't make any impression, it appeared. Why? Bobby didn't have "follow-through." His jab is a lightning pass that darts to his opponent's and is withdrawn like a flash before it scarcely connects. That's the way it a to fans, anyway. He measures, seemingly, the distance to the mark only, aps it and is away. There isn't any weight behind the shot.

Klibane sent an uppercut to his man's chin from inside a clinch at one time, there was so much follow-through that he landed solidly and was still pushing his man's jaw when the blow had connected, for Eddie Shannon's head kept ing back and back from the pushing.

MANY times Bobby's man in the other match was caught with his jaw sticking out as a target. It would have spelled "death" with Kilbane. But Bobby passed and was away, content with a light blow. He uncorked a good solid punch one night at the Broadway and had his man* on the floor. If he followed through all his blows like that, with his skill as a boxer there might be no limit to his heights, only a championship. Doggonit, golf principles can be hooked to nearly any sport.

The Chances of the Chicago White Sox

ITH the axes beginning to swing in training camps throughout the country, fans are today able to get a tiny glimpse at what may be expected when National and American Leagues plunge into their annual flag chases. There ittle change from the pre-season dope that emanated from the Stove League. National League has its strong teams; and so has the American. A matter reful conditioning, freedom from injuries when the season starts and the natuhings that go to make up a baseball season will settle the issue, as always. In marine League Boston Chicago Datroit and New York of a slways. merican League, Boston, Chicago, Detroit and New York stand out as the need teams. Many experts are favoring Chicago to win the pennant this They bank on the come-back of the Comiskey hurlers, at one time as good est. Jim Scott is said to be showing better than he has for several years, Russell, it is persistently declared, is achieving success in his efforts to aks out of his left flipper. It has been positively stated there will be ing with Chicago's South Side team this year. Veterans, tried and ound filling all the holes wherever possible. There apparently are d-sized enes, too. One is at first base and the other at shortstop.

As the Seventh Son of a Seventh Son Sees It

IT will/start the season in the same fix as formerly-a lack of an adeburling staff. New ones must be developed or the old ones must improve of the league continues at the old gait. Boston's chance is embodied and his ability to keep the old machine from rusting. He will get rt as was given Bill Carrigan a year ago. The team is a wonderful winning any pennant if it is in the right shape. New York, a team whining any permit it is in the last horse of the race. Bill Donovan a fine outlay of men for the Yankees and is bound to cut a big denting. Connie Mack is sending out optimistic signals from his is camp, and it may be that the former demon world's saries winner any start for more fame and glary. He has some excellent material
