with the unprecedented rise in the price | portance of thoroughly fining the soil canof potatoes, one of the great staples of the American table, and the probability that not be overemphasized, for it increases the water-holding capacity of the soil, renders more plant food available and reduces the American table, and the probability that the increase will not only be permanent but sugmented, it behooves all those who have any ground available to turn the soil to production of tubers. Potatoes can be number of weeds. VARIETIES AND LOCALITIES production of tubers. Potatoes can be rown successfully under cettain conditions in city lots or suburban plots. People who in the past have raised potatoes for profit-able utilizing of idle land or as a crop which repays in whole or in part for the cost and trouble of keeping down weeds and giving a more orderly appearance to their premises point out that good seed notatoes are few and expensive, and ask whether there is not some method of reof seeding, garden specialists of the States Department of Agriculture point out, can be reduced if, instead of using a whole potato for planting, the gar-

These class range from one-fifth to one-seventh of an ounce in weight, whereas under the usual methods the sets range from three-fourths to two tes in weight.

A gardener, under ordinary conditions, A gardener, under ordinary conditions, will get best results by using ten to fitteen bushels, or 600 to 900 pounds of pointoes to the acre. This method of pre-paring sets makes available for table use over 675 pounds of potato flesh which, under ordinary conditions, would be planted per acre. To plant a plot fifty by one hun-dred feet, or approximately one-ninth of an acre, at the same rate of seeding would call for one and two-thirds to two bushels of seed, planted in the ordinary way. These are yet liberal estimates for the areas. are very liberal estimates for the areas. Using cones and eyes and cooking re-mainder of flesh becomes a worth-while economy even for small areas. Another advan-tage is that it is not necessary to prepare the seed all at one time. From day to day the seed an at one time. I not day to day cones can be cut from the potatoes as they are being prepared for the table. Cuttings should be spread out on paper in a moderately cool room (about 50 de-grees Fahrenheit), and allowed to remain ntil they have "cured" (until the cut surfor this, and potatoes then should suffice for this, and potatoes then should be put in a shallow box or tray and placed where it is still cooler. Any storage condition that will insure them against frost on the one hand and shriveling on the other should prove satisfactory. The seed cones can be started indoors, if it is possible to obtain suitable soil and boxes. In such cases it may be desirable to plant the eye cuttings at once, and allow them to start into growth indoors, trans-planting into the open ground when danger of frost is past and the ground can be culti-

HANDLING THE SOIL

The smaller the size of the seed place the more thorough must be soil prepara-tion. The more thisly the soil is pulver-ized and the more uniform the moisture conditions which can be preserved in the soil the better is the chance for the small med piece to establish itself. A small set in rough, lumpy or dried-out soil has little chance to live. The smaller the size of the sets the closer they should be planted for maxi-

The potet potato thrives best on soils designated as sandy or gravely loam. It may be grown with a fair degree of success on any type of soil except loose sand or heavy. sticky clay, provided the land is well drained and contains the necessary plant food.

cessful production is dependent to a large extent on the thoroughness with which the land is prepared. In the case of an eighth of an acre or more the land should be plowed from eight to ten inches deep, provided the surface soil is of a sufficient depth. It is never advisable to turn up more than one inch of raw subsoil any one plowing, so if previous plowings have not been more than six inches the maximum depth at which it should be plowed is seven inches. " Where hand spading is employed the ame rule should govern as to depth. In spading, especially on grass or waste land, turn the earth bottom side up.

THOROUGH PULVERIZATION

Whether the land is plowed or spaded, it mould be thoroughly pulverized immediate-brafterward. It is a bad practice to allow the freshly turned soil to bake in the sun and wind and thereby become cloddy and at the same time lose a large per cent of its

Where horse labor can be used the land after plowing should be thoroughly disked first then spring-toothed and finally fin-ies with a smoothing harrow. Where had must be prepared by hand it is good metice to pulverize the soil as much as practices to pulverize the soil as much as possible when spading it up, after which di can be put in a fine condition of mellowwith a steel garden rake.
