Demonstration and Street Parade Will Show Work of Sea Soldiers

PROCESSES BY OFFICERS

Addresses Expected to Help Well Enlistments—Pro-German Gets Rough Handling

Route of Marines' Parade and Plan of Demonstration

START from Broad and South streets at 11 o'clock. March on Broad to Chestnut, east on Chestnut to Sixth.

Assemble in front of Ledger Marine Corps recruiting office, continue march on Sixth street to Market, then to Broad, north to Race, countermarch to park at Broad and Arch streets.

Demonstration of drills in the park opposite the United States Marine Corps recruiting station, 1409 Arch street, will take place at noon.

Two detachments of the United States Marine Corps, stationed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, will attempt a grand march tomorrow, which is expected to bring a renewed rush of recruits to this branch of the service. Clad in full picturesque regalia characteristic of the marines, the members of the sea will parade through the highest section of Philadelphia at 11 o'clock.

Drummers and buglers will lead the parade, followed by the United States Marine Corps band, along the entire length of march, while the steady tramp, tramp of the blue-jackets will join in the chorus with one voice—that of obtaining recruits.

About noon the parade will halt at Broad and Arch streets, opposite the United States Marine Corps recruiting station. Here practical demonstrations, showing the life of the men enlisted in the first line of defense, will be given. These will include cooking in the field, how men are fed under fire, field kitchens in use, skirmish drills, company drills, street riot drills and section drills.

OFFICERS TO SPEAK

Speeches by Sergeant Samuel Katcher, who has been doing considerable work in the recruiting office, and by other officers will be made. Sergeant Katcher will sound a call for volunteers.

The men who will drill are virtually all veterans. They have seen service in Vera Cruz, Nicaragua and other countries. Every man has been under fire.

Philadelphia's who visited the Mayor's office in City Hall today to join the Naval Cadet Reserve were instructed to report to the recruiting office in the Cross Building. The recruiting officers and surgeons in City Hall were kept busy enrolling and examining a party of 100 recruits who arrived from Lancaster and Lancaster County.

A special corps of surgeons has been organized into service for the emergency work, which is expected to last well into the evening. The Lancasterians are fast as they are keen in will go to quarters at the navy yard.

Reports from the various recruiting stations throughout Philadelphia were that the enlistments today are coming in greater numbers and probably will eclipse any day since the President made his call for volunteers.

"BRIBE" REPPRESSED

At the recruiting station of the battleship Ohio, in the City Hall courtyard, a pro-German this afternoon caused a stir by the utterance of unpatriotic remarks which were overheard. He was quickly rebuffed by a sailor and thrust into Market street amid the jeers and jibes of a crowd.

A man who refused to give his name offered $50 to be divided among the first ten men to enlist. Grover Cleveland lawyer, in charge of the station, refused the offer, on the ground that it was poor policy to bribe men to enlist in the service of their country.

"The sort of men that have to be bribed to fight for their country," he said, "would not make brave fighters."

Recruiting posters may be written by Philadelphia women if President Wilson accepts the service of the Philadelphia League of Advertising Women, tendered last night. The meeting was held in the Adelphi.

Following a report that the first division of the mosquito fleet goes into commission on Saturday, a large number of motorists on Saturdays have been offered to the Government.

NEUTON ASKS CITIZENSHIP TO QUALIFY FOR ARMY

Former Soldier of the Kaiser Applies for First Papers at Naturalization Bureau

One example of the patriotism of some subjects of the Kaiser was manifested today when Rudolph Korde, thirty-six years old, a machinist, of 107 North Sixth street, applied to Clerk W. S. Holland, of the Federal Naturalization Bureau, for his first citizenship papers, in order that he might be eligible for enlistment in the regular United States army.

Korde first approached Corporal John Stewart, in charge of the sub-recruiting station outside the Postoffice Building, on the subject of enlisting in the army. After several queries Corporal Stewart ascertained that Korde had not applied for citizenship, and, on being informed that this was necessary, Korde said he was willing to instantly take the necessary steps.

With the corporal, Korde went to the Naturalization office on the third floor of the Federal Building and made his application. Korde before he came to this country ten years ago saw active service in the German army.

NATIONAL SONG AND MAY LOSE PAROLE

I. W. W. Leader's Liberty Threatened by His Disrespect to "Star Spangled Banner"

TRENTON, April 11.

The Court of Pardons had a lengthy session yesterday afternoon behind closed doors, and it is understood that thorough consideration was given to the question of revoking the parole of Frederick S. Boyd, the Paterson I. W. W. leader, who served time in State Prison for sabotage. Boyd was the cause of a disturbance in a New York restaurant Friday night, when he refused to rise while the "Star Spangled Banner" was played, asserting that he did not have to rise, as he was a British subject. He was ejected by indignant diners.

The question of revoking Boyd's parole is still under consideration. It was Boyd who made the charges against the State Prison management which resulted in the appointment by Governor Edge of a commission to investigate the institution.

The South Jersey convicts at the State Prison paroled by the Court of Pardons are: Atlantic County—Charles Brown, assault and battery; Walter Chapman, burglary; Michael Ruberton, rape; Richard Miller, highway robbery.

Burlington County—Frank Miller, larceny; Sarathio Olivieri, receiving stolen goods; Thomas Blair, breaking and entering and larceny.

Camden County—James C. Baxter, breaking and entering and larceny; Harry Brady, breaking and entering and larceny; Frank Conover, obtaining money under false pretenses; George Crossley, statutory offense; Louis Meister, breaking and entering with intent to steal; Edward Sands, breaking and entering and larceny.

Gloucester County—Frank Labort, alias Frank Pasquale, second-degree murder; Harry Moore, illegal sale of liquor.

Gloucester County—Isaac Parker, assault; Frazier Thomas, breaking and entering; Lawrence Tyler, breaking and entering.

Salem County—Robert E. Armstrong, carrying concealed weapons; Riley Boze, atrocious assault and battery; William Brown, assault and battery.

The following were ordered released on the expiration of their minimum sentence: Atlantic County—Nick Boni, grand larceny; Robert Buckley, petit larceny; Frank Butler, grand larceny; Richard Jackson, breaking and entering.

GLORY IN ROOSEVELT LEAD

Henry Watterson Ardent Over Prospect of Ex-President in Flanders

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 11.—Under the caption, "Red Blood vs. Red Tape," Mr. Watterson says in the Courier-Journal today.

The proposal of Theodore Roosevelt to enlist in the world's army of freedom and go to one of the fronts in Europe leading a body of American soldiers may not be whistled lightly down the wind as the melodramatic performance of a man who has a positive genius for the spectacular. It should be considered very seriously.

As the Courier-Journal has already said, the appearance of an ex-President of the United States carrying the Star Spangled Banner over a body of American soldiers to the battle front in Flanders will glorify us as will nothing else.

MAMIE AND "BABY" GO ON LAST, LONG VOYAGE

Death Invades McCarthy Crum Lynne Home After Absence of Three Months

By a Staff Correspondent

CHESTER, Pa., April 11.—They buried Dennis McCarthy "Nestor of Crum Lynne, just three months ago yesterday. His widow, Margaret, and his daughters, Elizabeth and Mamie, cried in the way women often do—without tears—as they watched the funeral procession start on its journey up from the traffic-burdened Chester pike to the quietness of the inland fields.

The girls went to work in the Eddystone munitions plant and for their skill were advanced to the "C" plant, where they primed shells full with powder and fixed them all in readiness for the steel noses that rip and tear.

But their mother was not satisfied. She wanted them to stay at home. Yesterday she said: "Come on, Mamie, and you, too, Elizabeth, and stay at home for a change. You've made enough money. Stay at home today and we'll all do the housework together."

But the girls laughed and went off to work. Came 1 o'clock and the roar that started the housewives of the little community, busy with their Tuesday ironing. Mrs. McCarthy started to cry. "I'm sure something terrible has happened," she said; and when girls of other families started coming home, frightened, and her Mamie and "Baby" (for Elizabeth was still the baby, though she was quite a lady for all her nineteen years) didn't arrive, she sat down and sobbed.

"Oh, Dennis! Oh, Dennis!" was all that neighbors could hear from the figure kneeling comfort from the hard surface of the kitchen table, where the girls had had their usual coffee and eggs and oatmeal before starting for their work.

The news came that the girls had been identified among the dead. And Mrs. McCarthy, no longer crying, sat at the table crooning and rocking to and fro.

TWO EDDYSTONE VICTIMS

Miss Elsie Moore, of Collingdale, was among those killed in the munitions plant explosion. Louis Greenspan, 1720 South Fourth street, another employe of the plant, has not been heard from since the disaster.

U. S. SHIPS SEIZE VILLISTA ARMS

Two Destroyers Capture Schooner Carrying 4,500,000 Rounds

25,000 RIFLES ALSO ABOARD

SAN DIEGO, April 11.

Another plot by Villista sympathizers to smuggle arms and munitions into Mexico from the United States has been frustrated by the seizure of a schooner loaded with munitions by two United States destroyers, according to information received here today.

The schooner was fired on several times and her captain ran her on the beach in an attempt to escape. The swift ships of war rapidly overhauled her and took off a considerable quantity of ammunition and several thousand rifles.

Navy and Department of Justice officials declined to discuss the matter today, but it is understood a report had been sent to Washington.

According to the story, the Villistas paid $1,500,000 for 25,000 rifles and 4,500,000 rounds of rifle ammunition, to be loaded by schooners at some point on the Pacific coast and delivered at sea to a tramp schooner. Having had knowledge of the plot, the American destroyers had been on the lookout for suspicious vessels.

The seizure of the schooner occurred two days ago, it is said. The destroyers saw the vessel running close to the shore and southbound. They fired a shot across her bow as a signal to stop, but she went on. The destroyers then took up the pursuit, firing several shots at her before the schooner's captain beached his vessel. The fate of the captain and crew of the vessel is not known, but it is supposed they were taken on board the destroyers as prisoners.
