"DRYS" FORESEE GREATEST VICTORY

At Threshold of National Prohibition Through Exigency of War

SHORTAGE IN GRAIN CROP

Cereals Required for Food Supply-Liquor Men Argue Treasury's Need of Revenue

WASHINGTON, April 12.

Anti-liquor forces are standing today on the threshold of their greatest victory. The final drive of the prohibition forces is nearing completion. For under the lash of war and economic necessity, the Administration is seriously considering the suppression of the manufacture of alcoholic liquors—for the duration of the war at Prohibition and temperance advocates exerting every pressure known to the of conviction to bring this about. Once the manufacture of liquor is stopped, once the vast machinery of the distilleries is halted, they believe that it will never be

The moral side of the question is not being considered by the Government officials. That they believe is a moot question—much to be said "for and ag'in it." But facing a 40 per cent reduction in the ion's winter wheat supply, stringent redial measures are absolutely essential. "DRYS" URGE PROHIBITION

To this end there has been placed before wing that by stopping the manufacture of liquor there will be an annual saving of 600,000,000 bushels of wheat alone. Corn. barley and rye also figure equally as importantly in the production of alcoholic atimulants. It is known that the matter has been discussed by the Cabinet. Repre-sentative Asbury F. Lever, of South Carolina, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee, conferred with President Wilson at the White House yesterday. A short time before he had been in confer-ence with Secretary of Commerce Redfield Secretary of Agriculture Houston.

The Department of Commerce has pre-The Department of Commerce has pre-pared figures showing just how much grain would be saved by adopting the anti-liquor forces plan. It reaches an astounding total. Some sort of drastic action against the quor traffic is assured. Of that there can o doubt. Only the form the action will take is being debated.

The liquor forces in Washington have marshaled their forces. They have pointed out to the Government that if the manufacture of their product is stopped it will the loss of millions and millions of dollars annually to the national treasury.
They have urged that, with the Government floating the most gigantic loan in the history of world finance—$7,000,000,000—every dollar in revenue is going to be needed. They have put the pertinent question to officials of how the Government is going to ke up the deficit of these stupendous ounts taken away from the Treasury. And no one, they have pointed out, can ac-curately forecast how long the world war will last. The Government may be sadly in need of "whisky dollars" and every other kind before peace again comes to the world,

"SALE" AND MANUFACTURE A form of sop has been thrown to the liquor people by the argument that the Government would not suppress the "sale" of liquor, but only the "manufacture" in order to conserve the nation's grain. Ofscials have pointed out to the liquor men that drinks can be imported, but the dis-tillers' representatives have countered with the question of "where are we to get it?" The grain shortage is not national; it is wide in its scope, and every nation

Two propositions are before the administration—stop the manufacture of liquor or raise the taxes on its production to such a prohibitive degree that it will offset, or nearly so, the loss of the grain that goes into it. Prohibitive degree degree that it will offset or nearly so, the loss of the grain that goes into it. former; but they feel that in either event they have won a victory in the cause to which Neal Dow and John B. Gough devoted their lives.

GERMAN WOMAN PAYS WITH LIFE FOR LETTER

Criticizes Kaiser-Censor's Postscript Announces Her Execution

WILMINGTON, Del., April 12.

A story of the cruelty of the Kaiser's minions toward women that is almost unbelievable came through the mails to a resident of Wilmington this week. That the story was permitted to pass the German censor, it is believed, is due to the fact that the individual handling this particular piece of mail desired to impress upon the world at large the punishment Emperor William imposes upon those who eror William imposes upon those who question the Kaiser's authority.

The letter came from a German woman rhose sister is one of this city's most re-pectable residents and who has been living here for a number of years. For obvious sons she declines to permit her name to

In contrast to these home conditions, the people in their hunger were told of how well fed the sol-diers were.

Further on in the letter the woman wrote Further on in the letter the woman wrote that she had suffered so much and her family had been so reduced for want of food that she felt as though she could kill the Kaiser if she was given the opportunity. All of these details the German censor semitted to pass uncensored. Then at the bottom of the letter was a line in the handwriting of the censor. It read:

"Tour sister was executed this morning."

WHARTON FACULTY ASKS DR. PATTEN'S RETENTION

Members of the faculty of the Wharton School, it is rumored, will ask the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania to reinstate Dr. Simon N. LAST CALL FOR GARDEN PLANNING; PLANTING WILL SOON BE IN ORDER

This Will Be a "Late Season," but When Activity Starts It Will Be With a Rush to Make Up for Lost Time-How to Plan Gardens

By JOHN BARTRAM

Effort should be made in a garden to have special vegetables such as okra, of which the family is fond and which are difficult to obtain in local markets or are commonly high-priced. The housewife probably will want a little bed of parsley, sage, chives, mint or other herbs, not because they are expensive to buy, but because of the convenience of being able to pick a sprig just when it is needed.

Consult with the family to determine the orts of vegetables the different members like. These they personally will be inter-ested in raising. Confine selections to the standard well-tried sorts. Finally, and this is most important, is the conference between the garden force and the housewife as to what vegetables really are worth raising in the back yard or small patch. It will hardly pay to raise in a very small space squashes, pumpkins, watermerons or canta-loupes, which occupy a large area in proportion to yield and which can be bought in

In general, it is wise to allow two-foo intervals between rows, three if cucumbers and squashes are planted; one foot is suf ficient between upright growing vegetables such as beets and carrots. It is better to lose a few rows, however, than to have the plants too crowded for proper nutri-tion and too close for easy cultivation.

Where there are small children in the family a separate small children in the family a separate small plot should be set aside for their play gardens. If they have their own vegetables which they are free to pull up, examine or treat as they like, they are less likely to conduct their juvently by the best of the conduct of the ile botanical experiments in the garder which is being grown for serious purposes.

But spring is well nigh here, and very soon, in a rush and a wink, the vernal mystery will be consummated. Making gardens will be in order. It will be time to plant, not plan!

There is yet time to do the planning, but get at it right away these cool nights. The governments of city, State and nation are calling on every one who can't recruit in the military and naval forces to enlist in the great army of food producers and conservators, who will help to win this war.

Having decided what is to be planted the indoor gardener draws lines or symbols on his outlined plan to indicate the different crops, inserting the date when each is to Where a second or third crop is to follow in the same row or occupy the same ground, this may be written in red or other colored ink, which indicates that it is to be planted when an earlier crop is over. In laying out the plan the garden planner should consider the amount of each vegetable necessary for a serving for his family, giving preference to those which are avorites on the table.

OUANTITIES NEEDED

For a family of four ten early tomato plants and twenty late would be enough and allow plenty for canning.

About the same of cabbage (late are early) and of cauliflower should suffice. Three plantings of corn, thirty-foot rows, the same of peas, two of string beans, two thirty-foot rows of bush limas and one of late beets, three eggplants and three pepper plants should feed a family of four ough the summer.

if some are to be canned or stored, double the rows of beans, peas, beets and corn. All the tools that are necessary for indoor gardening, which can be made an interesting recreation for the whole household, are a large sheet of wrapping paper a ruler and a pencil. After looking ove the garden and selecting the plot of so best suited for your purpose, measure this and outline it on paper on a scale of fourth or one-eighth-inch to the foot. The planner should bear in mind the habits of ine plants so as to allow space enoug between the rows for their proper growth for the interplanting of later crops and for easy cultivation. The cultivation, that is tilling or working the soil, of course, easiest when the rows are one and one-half to two feet apart, as this permits the use of wheel cultivators.

HABITS OF PLANTS

Plants which make a high growth and cause heavy shade, such as corn, okra and note limas, naturally should not be located where they will interfere with sun-loving small plants. Perennials, such as rhubart and asparagus, which are not cultivated so frequently, should not be grown among vegetables which call for tilling at short intervals.

planning may be extended also to the planting of small fruits, such as currants, raspberries and grapes, and even to the location of apple or other fruit trees. AIMS OF HOME GARDENING

The aim of the back-yard gardener should be to raise those vegetables which are expensive or in which the flavor or quality depends importantly on absolute freshness. Peas and string or lima beans
