

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.
WHO WOULDN'T RECRUIT AT SUCH A PRICE?
 Miss Frances Jordan's patriotic kisses are the most powerful factor in gaining accessions at the Naval Recruiting Bureau in New York.

Copyright, American Press Association.
THE BUILDING OF THE SHIP
 Glimpse of a private shipyard where American workmen are setting out to supply 2500 submarine chasers in time to ward off the threatened peril.

The Angel of His Presence saved them.

The Door of Blessing
 The Mignonette Violet Whelen Home
 To the Glory of GOD and In Loving Memory of Mignonette Violet Whelen
 first President of
 The Door of Blessing.
 A.D. 1916

MEMORY OF HER DEEDS LIVES AFTER HER Window just erected at Door of Blessing, 3611 Baring street, as tribute to Mrs. Mignonette Violet Whelen, its first president.

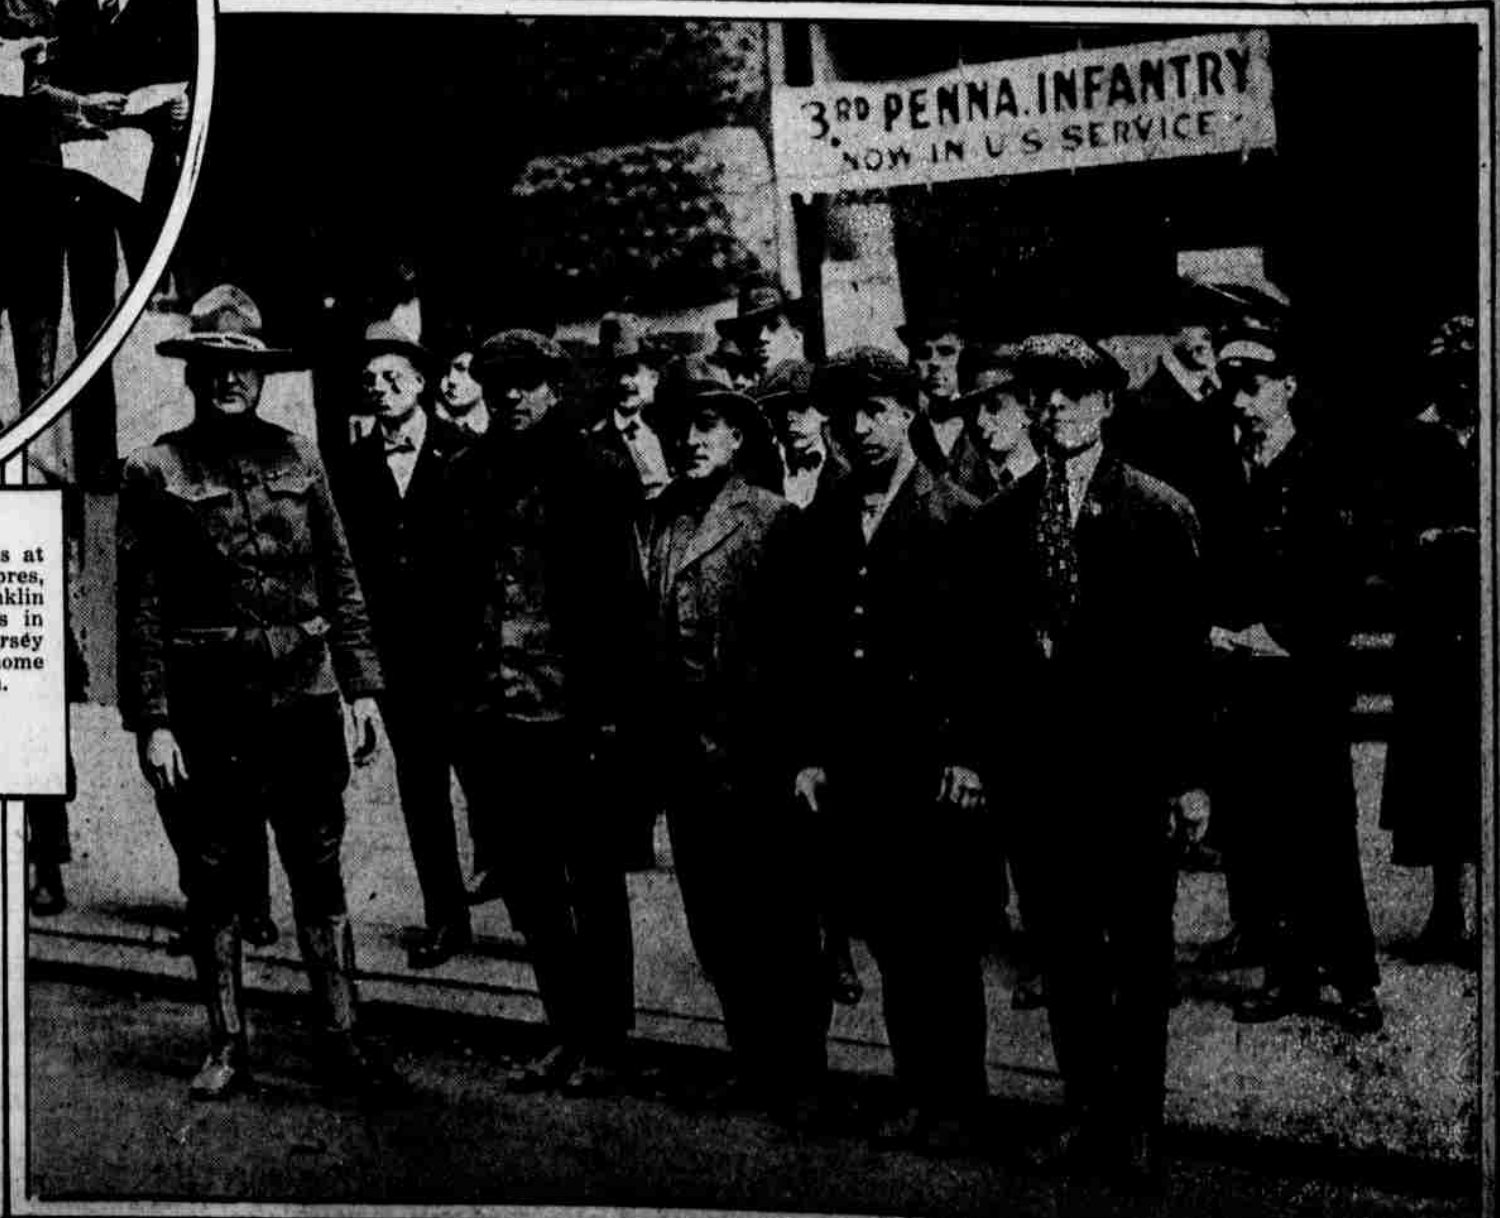

HOW WE DID IT IN THE DAYS OF '31
 Matthew Hurst, a veteran at the Naval Home, explains to quartet of present-day sailors the mechanism of the type of "big gun" he used to serve.

Sergeant W. H. Browning is in command of the various National Guard recruiting stations throughout the city of Camden.

After 13 months at Verdun and Ypres, William Franklin Culver re-enlists in Third New Jersey Infantry, in home city, Camden.

HIGH PRIVATES IN THE AVERAGE SQUAD