

P. R. T. CONDUCTORS AND MOTOR-MEN PARADE TO RICHMOND AND ALLEGHENY AVENUE BARN, WHERE STARS AND STRIPES ARE RAISED

HERE FROM THE "FARTHEST NORTH"
Lowel Jackson Thomas, of Princeton University faculty, writer, explorer and lecturer, who lectured last night in Witherspoon Hall of his Alaskan explorations. His malamute dog accompanies Professor Thomas.

Y. W. C. A. MEMBERS IN PATRIOTIC PLAY
Sara D. Ferris and Elizabeth Perkinpine, as they appeared in historic entertainment given at Hancock street and Allegheny avenue.

WALLACE CROSSON AND HELEN TULLY FLINGING OLD GLORY TO THE BREEZE AT THE P. R. T. FLAG-RAISING

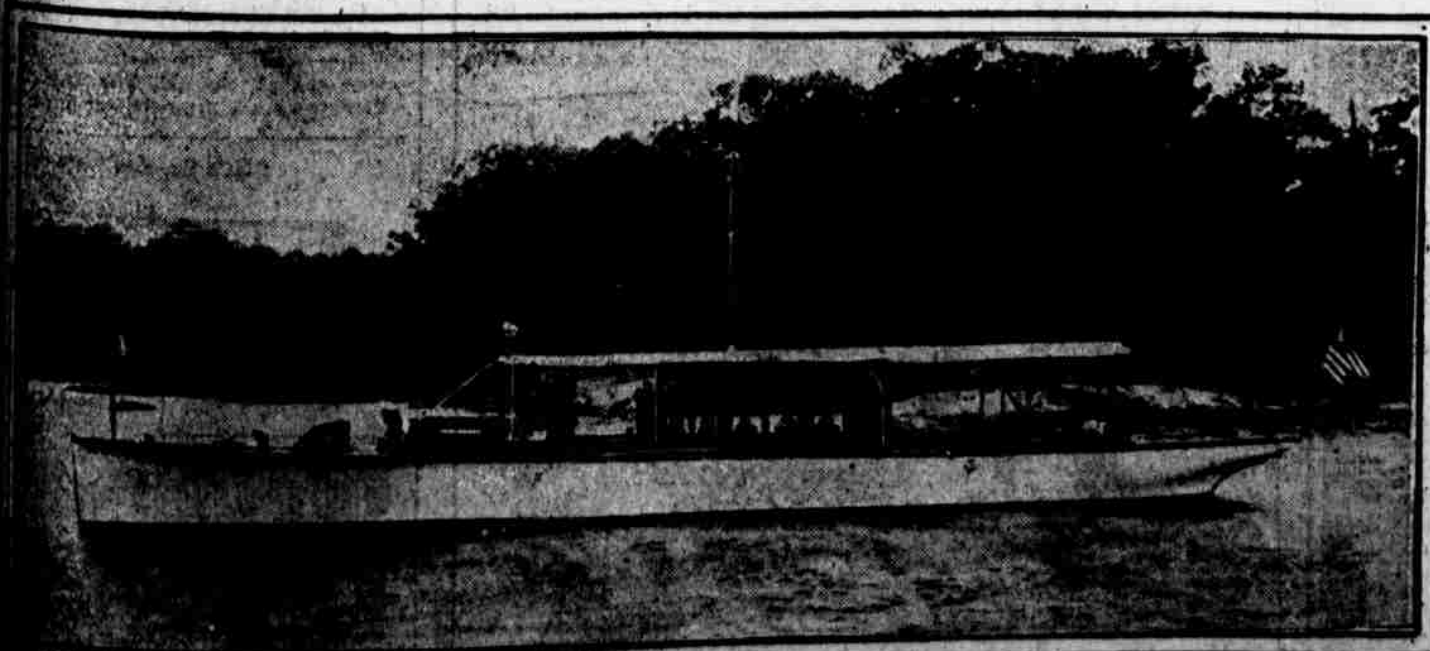

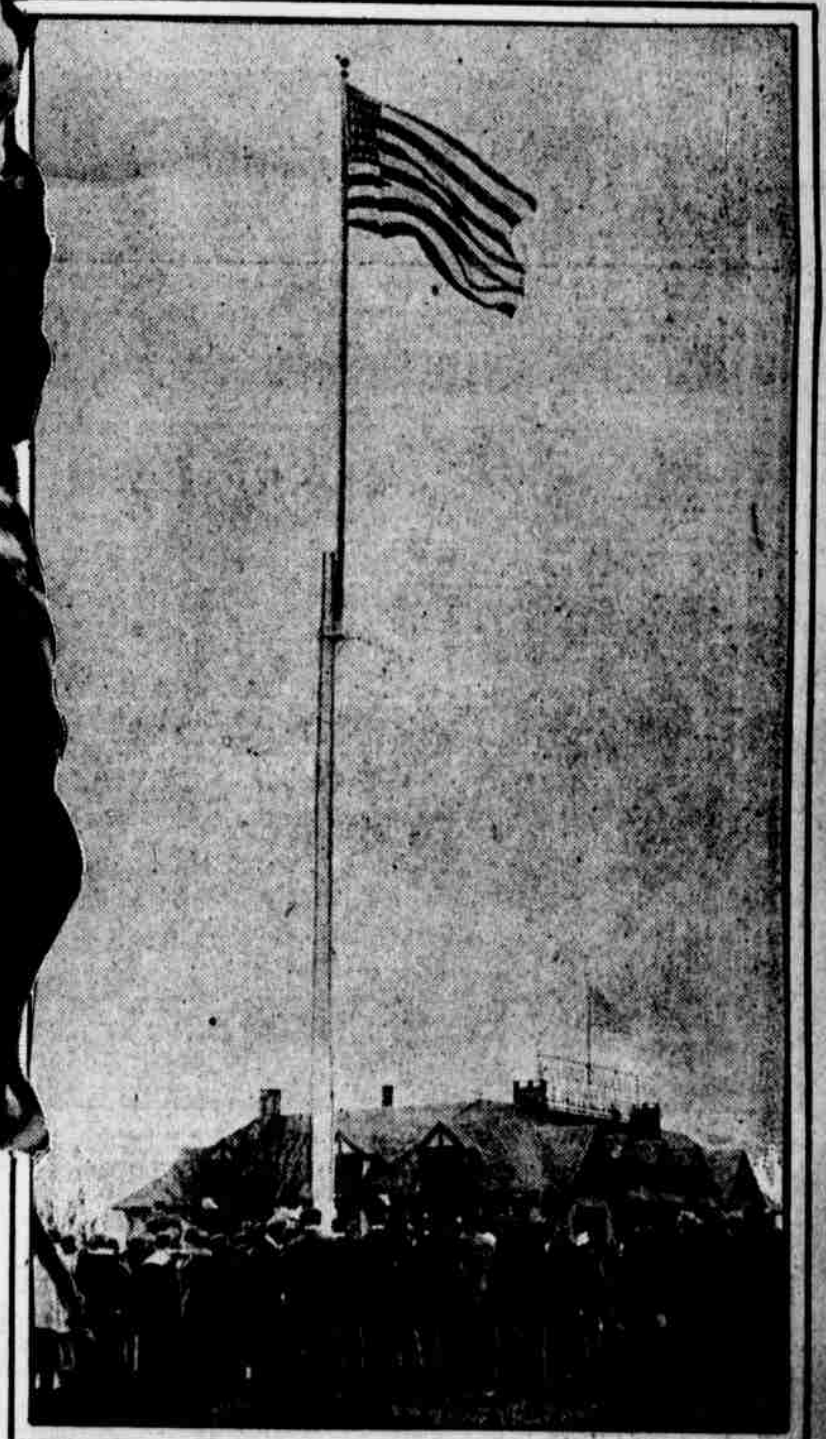

SHIRTMAKERS CHEER AS THEY RAISE FLAG

Girl employes of the Steppacher factory, 146 North Thirteenth street, add picturesqueness to the patriotic ceremony by wearing bandeaux of red, white and blue during the exercises. Several hundred deft young needlewomen participated in the program, which took place in the workroom of the establishment and was marked by stirring addresses and singing of national airs.

MOTHER-LOVE KNOWS NO FLAG OR RACE

A native son of American soil who has traveled further than many white brothers of his age.

HIGH-SPEED YACHT WILL CHASE SUBMARINES

Developed from R. F. Allen, vice president and half owner of the R. F. Holt circuit of Philadelphia, the yacht will be used for training purposes.

FLAG WAVES IN BREEZE AT GLENOLDEN

Impressive exercises attended the raising of a flag at the National Y. W. C. A. building at Glenolden, Pa. (left to right) Rev. A. A. Koenig, pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. A. Koenig.