

KALEIDOSCOPIC EVENTS OF WARTIME BOTH AT HOME AND ABROAD RETOLD IN PICTURE FORM

A WAR CAMP "SOMEWHERE IN PHILADELPHIA" Comfortable quarters of guardsmen who are doing valuable service in safeguarding vital lines of communication right here at home.

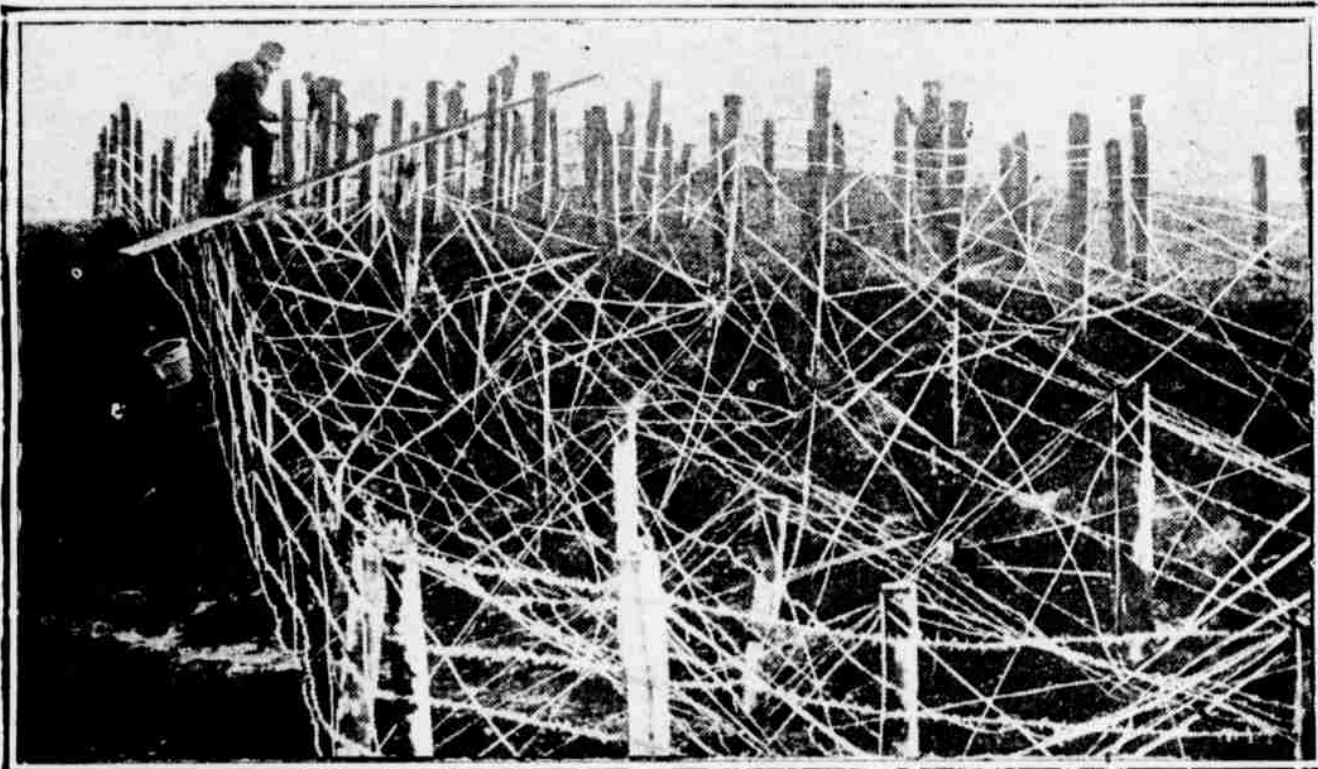

ENSIGN J. FREE HALL IS RECEIVING NAVAL RECRUITS AT THE GERMANTOWN STATION, GERMANTOWN AVENUE AND PRICE STREET

GROUP OF WASHINGTON WOMEN WHO, AS VOLUNTEER RED CROSS WORKERS, ARE DISTRIBUTING TOBACCO, CANDY AND NEWSPAPERS AMONG THE GUARDSMEN AT FORT MYER

CYCLE DIVISION STANDING OFF AN ATTACK Men of the First Armored Motor Battery of New York practicing the war game. They use their machines as shields very much as the cavalry scouts did of old with their mounts.

WHAT THE ALLIES' ARTILLERY FIRE HAS TO GET RID OF Photograph of a German barb wire entanglement in France brought back to this country by Arthur C. Roth, a Philadelphian, former vice consul at Plauen, Saxon, Germany.

UNCLE SAM TRAINS FOUR-LEGGED SOLDIERS FOR SCOUT DUTY Alaska Bill Brady is shown with some of the dogs he has turned over to the Government. They are being trained at the mobilization camp at Arcadia, Cal.

From London Opinion. THE FOOD HOARDER: "THEY'VE EVIDENTLY SEEN ME."

From the Bystander. RARE AND REFRESHING FRUIT—1917 CROP

A MODERN VERSION OF "CAPTAIN JINKS AND THE HORSE MARINES" Illustrating the strenuous training exacted by Uncle Sam from his sons in the Marine Corps. In the foreground are the mounted men, known as the "horse marines."

From London Opinion. THEIR MEATLESS DAYS

From the People. GOD SPEED THE FLOW John Bull (to U-boat pirate): "Swear away, you scoundrel! So long as you continue putting things down I'll go on bringing things up, and we'll see who wins in the end."

From the London Star. NOTHING TO GRUMBLE ABOUT The profiteer can see no need for a Food Controller over the British Isles

From John Bull. FOOD HOG AND THE PROFITEER The food hog and the profiteer were busy in the land: They went like anything to read the orders just to hand. "If they were only swept away," they said, "it would be grand."

From the Star. "NOBODY LOVES ME" The powers of the Food Controller will be exercised to check any exploitation.—Lord Devonport.

From Reynolds's Newspaper. HIS SPORT CURTAILED The food profiteer: "Here's a nice meal! There's an ill wind blowing, and Devonport won't let it blow me any good."

THE CARTOONISTS' PORTRAYAL OF THE CRITICAL FOOD SITUATION "ACROSS SEAS" BEARS ESPECIAL INTEREST TO AMERICA, WHICH ALSO IS FACING SERIOUS DEPRIVATION